ORE. GOVERNOR REPORTED KILLED

Attlee Upheld As Churchill's Motion Loses

British War Leader's Speech Is Criticized

LONDON, Oct. 29—(AP)—Winston Churchill lost tonight his fourth attempt to expell Great Britain's Labor government from office by parliamentary vote.

By 348 to 201, the overwhelming Laborite majority in the House of Commons rejected, after a two-day debate, Churchill's motion that the government lacked the "national leadership, the administrative competence, or the measures necessary to meet" Great Britain's current economic crisis.

Acceptance of the motion offered as the official opposition amendment to the speech last week by King George VI, which outlined the government's program for the new session of Parliament, would have constituted a "no confidence" vote against Prime Minister Attlee's government.

The vote came after Attlee, in quiet, schoolmasterly tones, assured the house his government would carry out its program of industrial nationalization, and attacked Churchill's speech of yesterday which demanded a British return to free enterprise along American lines.

Facts Ignored, Attlee Says

Attlee declared:

"I never knew a speech that ignored more entirely the facts on the economic situation."

Winding up the debate, Attlee said he imagined that Churchill, after attacking the government's policies, would offer an alternative "for which we have waited a long time."

Churchill, the Prime Minister said, "talked a good deal about this free, thriving business. As I understand it, he considered that if we can set everything free from controls, we should get over all our difficulties. He believes in the free play of competition now."

Then, turning and looking at Churchill, Attlee asked sharply:

"Would he do away with food rationing now? We want to know."

Churchill rose quickly amid cheers of the Conservative Party members and said:

"In my speech I was striking a note. That note was to set the people free. When you have loaded them with chains all the shackles cannot be struck off in a day."

"This is the note he has given to the nation," Attlee retorted. "He is saying you should be free, but not just now. It is an I.O.U."

U. S. Economic Disaster Seen

During the debate, Sidney Silverman, a Laborite who was criticized yesterday by Churchill for terming the United States a nation of "shabby money lenders," told the house "I have been to America and I think I ought to withdraw part of that statement."

"At least they are not shabby. They are the only people in the world today who can afford to buy good English broadcloth."

Silverman attacked Churchill for praising the lifting of price controls in the United States, adding:

"Unless these controls are reimposed in time, America is riding for the biggest and most sensational economic disaster in all history. I hope to God when it comes they will not start throwing their atomic bombs about the world."

The remark was greeted by cries of "shame" and "withdraw" from Conservative members.

Girl's Battered Body Found; Two Men Held

CLEARWATER, Fla., Oct. 29 (AP)—The battered and nearly nude body of 19-year-old Nancy Haynes, St. Petersburg waitress, was found on a lonely road at daylight today.

Sheriff Todd Tucker said it had not been determined whether she died from a beating or had been struck by a car. Held without charge were two men and Deputy Sheriff Harvey Meeks said they admitted being with the girl late last night.

Meeks said the two told him they quarreled with Miss Haynes and let her out of their automobile about two miles from where a bakery truck driver later found her body. She was clad in a torn dress and slip, both rolled up around her neck.

Negligent Chief Engineer Blamed For Boat Blast

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 29 (AP)—The explosion and destruction by fire of the excursion steamer Island Queen at Pittsburgh on September 9, when 19 persons died, was attributed to negligence on the part of the chief engineer, the St. Louis Coast Guard office disclosed today in releasing the report of Capt. Ross Willoh, St. Louis, marine inspector and head of the investigating board.

The Coast Guard said Capt. Willoh's investigation, held in Pittsburgh the day after the disaster, disclosed that Chief Engineer Fred Dickow, Cincinnati, who was one of the victims, was welding a loose deck stanchion, a metal brace running from deck to ceiling, in the vicinity of fuel oil bunkers containing approximately 27,000 gallons of fuel oil.

U. S. Calls On U.N. To Decide Korean Representatives

Evatt, Manuilsky Exchange Blasts

LAKE SUCCESS, Oct. 29—(AP)—The United States called on the United Nations today to create a temporary commission which would insure that "truly elected" representatives of the Korean people will be chosen to discuss Korea's independence with the United Nations Assembly.

Russia and the five other members of the Soviet bloc in the 57-member United Nation Political Committee immediately attacked the United States proposal. Russia's Andrei A. Gromyko tagged it as a move to "put the cart before the horse."

Evatt, Manuilsky Clash

Belgium charged the Russians with trying to delay action on Korean independence; the Soviet Ukraine came back with an allegation that the United States is trying to postpone a decision "indefinitely."

The political committee's session was enlivened further by a verbal exchange between Dr. Herbert V. Evatt, Australian Foreign Minister, and Dmitri Z. Manuilsky, Soviet Ukrainian Foreign Minister.

Manuilsky called Evatt a "Jupiter." He chided Evatt for making a speech favoring the United States proposal and then ducking from the committee room before Manuilsky could answer.

Evatt snapped back that Manuilsky is the "Jupiter of Jupiters" and had no right to censure him. He said he had been urgently summoned to another committee. The two Foreign Ministers shook hands after the meeting and said the incident was ended.

India, Poland, Russia To Speak

The committee adjourned until 11 a. m. (E.S.T.) tomorrow without a decision whether to hear Korean representatives here. India, Poland and Russia are listed to speak next.

The United States originally proposed that the United Nations observe Korean elections for a National Assembly before next March 31. The United States said Soviet and Russian troops should be withdrawn from Korea after an elected government is functioning.

Russia yesterday demanded that the United Nations order Soviet and United States troops out by next January 1. Russia also declared "truly elected" representatives of the Korean people must be invited to the United Nations to take part in the discussions over Korean independence.

Standard To Up Price Of Gasoline In State

BALTIMORE, Oct. 29. (AP)—The Standard Oil Company of New Jersey will raise the price of gasoline three-tenths of a cent per gallon in Maryland tomorrow, a company statement said today.

Prices of fuel oil, kerosene, diesel and other distillate fuels will be boosted eight-tenths of a cent.

The firm ascribed the increase to the recent 20-cent jump in the price per barrel of crude oil, and to higher freight rates.

ACCUSES FATHER—Wesley Vandervoort (left), 21, told police at Colorado Springs, Colo., that his missing mother was slain six years ago by his 61-year-old father, Junia Vandervoort, who buried her at their ranch home. At right is the hole from which police dug bones believed to be those of Mrs. Vandervoort. In the unmarked grave is Clark Vandervoort, 16, one of the missing woman's children. Another son, Calvin, 12, stands on the edge of the hole.

Presidential Committee Urges Immediate Action To End Race Segregation

Declares Real Reds Should Be Exposed

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29 (AP)—President Truman's Committee on Civil Rights today recommended that Congress and the state legislatures outlaw segregation and discrimination based on race, color, creed or national origin—and do it "now."

The committee also spoke out against "public excitement" on the Communist question, but declared that real Communists and Fascists should be exposed.

"It is natural and proper for good citizens to worry about the activities of these groups," its report said.

In a sweeping review of the whole United States civil rights field, the committee made 35 specific recommendations to strengthen "the American way" of life and delved into explosive issues which have embroiled Congress in some of its bitterest struggles.

Nation's Capital Scored

Discrimination against negroes in the South was criticized at length, but other regions in the North and West were singled out for violations of civil rights. The nation's capital itself was scored as "a graphic illustration of a failure of democracy" and as the gateway to "Jim Crow" transportation in the South.

President Truman hailed the report with a statement saying he hopes the committee has given the country "as broad a document" as the Declaration of Independence . . ."An American charter of human freedom in our time."

"The need for such a charter has never been greater than at this moment," Mr. Truman said.

The 15-member committee, headed by President Charles E. Wilson, of the General Electric Company, issued a 178-page report urging:

1. Enactment of federal anti-lynching, anti-poll tax and fair employment laws.

2. Federal and state laws to prevent racial or religious segregation and discrimination in such places as trains, buses, schools, theaters, hotels and restaurants.

State Laws Suggested

3. State laws barring "restrictive covenants" in which property owners bind themselves not to sell or lease to "undesirables."

Sen. Taylor Gives Up His Horseback Trip Across U. S.

PHOENIX, Ariz., Oct. 29 (AP)—Sen. Taylor (D-Ida.), who set out from Seal Beach, Calif., Sunday on a horseback trip across the country in behalf of world peace, rode into town today in his 1946 sedan.

He said he "bit off more than he could chew" when he announced he would make the entire tour of the southern half of the nation on horseback. He was to be in Washington November 17 for the special session of Congress.

Former Romanian Premier On Trial

BUCHAREST, Romania, Oct. 29 (AP)—Dr. Juliu Maniu, veteran leader of the National Peasant Party, went on trial today on charges of "high treason" involving accusations that he discussed with American diplomats plans for the violent overthrow of the Communist-led Romanian government.

Eighteen associates of the 75-year-old Premier also were placed on trial before a military tribunal, with life imprisonment at forced labor the maximum penalty upon conviction.

Maniu's career in Romanian politics covered a span of 40 years. A foe of the Fascist Iron Guard, he threw his sympathies with the Allies in the war and was under close watch by the Nazis when they overran Romania. It was Maniu who announced to his countrymen the armistice terms imposed by the Soviet Union. He refused to yield to the Communists in postwar Romania, and was attacked in the Moscow press as a "Fascist." He is a Roman Catholic.

Maniu, who has been under arrest since last July, appeared pale and nervous in the court room. He entered wearing an overcoat and carrying in his hand a large yellow envelope, which he dropped as he sat down.

The clerk took three hours to read the 30,000-word indictment on charges ranging from high treason and espionage to attempting to illegally leave the country.

A defense plea that the court be adjourned to give the accused more time to study the indictment was refused.

Man Lives Over 48 Hours With Bullet Hole In Head

WATERLOO, Ia., Oct. 29. (AP)—Floyd J. Smith, 56, Waterloo, died in a hospital today more than 48 hours after he had shot a bullet through his head.

Detective Tom Wood said Smith shot himself with a .25 calibre pistol Monday and later walked to an ambulance. The bullet entered his right temple and emerged from the other side of his head.

Sales Tax "Take" Soars

BALTIMORE, Oct. 29. (AP)—Sales tax receipts for October passed the September collection total today, and State Comptroller James J. Lacy predicted the final figure for this month would reach $2,100,000.

With 38,000 returns processed as of business today, $1,942,543 had been received. Total receipts for September were $1,920,231.

Snyder Opposes Tax Cuts Before Aid Cost Is Set

U. S. Should Keep Budget Balanced

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29 (AP)—Congress should refrain from cutting taxes until it figures out European aid costs, Secretary of the Treasury Snyder said today.

He also advised the United States to keep its budget balanced and continue trimming away each year at the $259,000,000,000 national debt while the European recovery program operates.

Costs of the Marshall plan—under which 16 European nations proposed a five-year economic rehabilitation program—are not decided. As handed to the United States, the program calls for about $6,000,000,000 for the opening year. President Truman may have a different figure to recommend to Congress. And the lawmakers have ideas of their own.

GOP Backs Budget Idea

The balanced budget idea has Republican backing. Chairman Taft (R-Ohio), of the Senate Republican Policy Committee, predicted in an interview at Boston this week that Marshall plan appropriations will total up to $5,000,000,000 a year and that the debt can be whittled at the same time.

Also Taft said that while the special session of Congress is doing this it can cut taxes. But Snyder told reporters he opposes changing the present taxes until Congress determines the amount of aid.

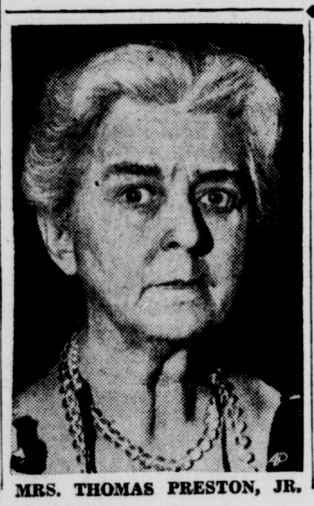

In the State Department, officials labored feverishly on the task of drawing up, for President Truman and Congress, final recommendations on American aid under the Marshall plan.

"Hell Week" Coming Up

Lifting a term from his college days, Undersecretary of State Lovett said the period through next week will be "hell week" in the department—no letting up day and night until a series of decisions realing with aid have been made.

And the man in the White House worked on the message he will deliver November 17, when Congress convenes on his call to deal with the high price crisis at home and immediate help to Europe. Mr. Truman cancelled tomorrow's news conference to conserve his time.

Death Claims Widow Of Grover Cleveland

MRS. THOMAS PRESTON, JR.

BALTIMORE, Oct. 29 (AP)—Mrs. Thomas Jex Preston, Jr., widow of President Grover Cleveland, died unexpectedly here today at the home of her son, Richard F. Cleveland. She was 83.

Cleveland, Baltimore attorney and civic leader, said his mother had come to Baltimore from her home in Princeton, N. J., to help him celebrate his fiftieth birthday.

Last night ,she joined in a quiet family party at the Cleveland home. She died about noon while sleeping, her son said.

Mrs. Preston married President Cleveland at the White House when she was 22 and he was 49 years old.

Five years after Mr. Cleveland's death in 1908, she was married to Thomas Jex Preston, Jr., a retired professor of archaelogy.

Demos To Hold '48 Convention In Quaker City

McGrath Installed As Party Chairman

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29. — (AP) — Both Democratic and Republican national conventions will be held at Philadelphia in 1948.

The Democratic National Committee unanimously selected that city today as San Francisco "reluctantly withdrew" its bid. The date for the convention was not set but it probably will be early in July.

Republicans previously had decided to meet there, beginning June 21.

In a spirited session today, the Democratic Committee installed Sen. J. Howard McGrath, of Rhode Island, as new national chairman and whooped it up for re-election of President Truman in 1948. McGrath succeeds Robert E. Hannegan, who resigned because of ill health.

The committee rejected a resolution bitterly condemning the Republican-controlled 80th Congress for placing "partisan politics above love of country."

McGrath Raps Resolution

McGrath told reporters he had asked that the resolution be withdrawn because it might jeopardize non-partisan action on emergency legislation at the special session of Congress, starting November 17.

"I asked them to tear it up," McGrath said. "That's no way to get cooperation."

The withdrawn resolution charged that the Republicans had "blocked an enlightened program" presented by President Truman, and declared:

"The bitter and intemperate Republican majority has twice passed a soak-the-poor tax bill, a badly drafted labor bill x x x and an appropriation bill which seriously hampered the operation of the government x x x"

John M. Redding, committee publicity chief, told newsmen that McGrath felt the resolution was "a little too bitter at this time."

Committeemen from the solid South, bidding for a bigger say in the national convention, received a measure of solace under a new "bonus plan" for delegates to the 1948 conclave. Under it each state which voted for the party's presidential nominee in 1944 will receive four extra delegates instead of two as at present.

Sought Even Bigger Bonus

Some southerners wanted an even bigger bonus.

Backing the extra bonus suggestion, Gessner T. McCorvey, Mobile, Ala., asserted that "except for the South the Democratic Party would be a thing of the past."

Albert M. Greenfield, chairman of a Philadelphia citizens committee of 100, clinched the 1948 convention site by the same tactics used in winning the Republicans.

Greenfield presented a certified $200,000 check, promised another $50,000 for entertainment of delegates, a free convention hall, television facilities and first choice of 6,000 hotel rooms.

Britain, U. S. Sign New Tariff Pact

LONDON, Oct. 29 (AP) — Britain announced today a new Anglo-American tariff agreement embodying "concessions" on both sides and called for a reinvigorated campaign to sell British goods in the United States.

Board of Trade President Harold Wilson told the House of Commons that tariff pacts also have been concluded with 14 other countries during six months of international trade negotiations just ending in Geneva, Switzerland. Details, he said, would be disclosed about November 18.

Winthrop Brown, of the United States State Department, said in Geneva that 100 agreements involving 23 nations representing about half the world's international trade would be signed tomorrow.

The agreements, he said, should have an immediate effect on dollar shortages abroad and should be viewed as the long-term corollary of the Marshall plan for remedy of Europe's economic problems.

Concessions by the United States delegation, he said, were made under the President's authority to modify tariff rates by 50 per cent and would not to have to be approved by Congress.

In Washington, President Truman hailed the multilateral agreement at Geneva as a "landmark in the history of international economic relations."

Pilot's Son To Join Search For Airliner

KETCHIKAN, Alaska, Oct. 29. (AP) —A pilot son today flew north to join a search for 18 persons missing on a Pan-American World Airways plane piloted by his father.

Wesley Monsen, co-pilot in a rare father-son commercial airline flying team, left Seattle to fly to Annette Island. It was from the Annette vicinity that Pilot Alf N. Monsen, veteran Alaska flier, made his final radio report Sunday that extreme turbulence prevented his scheduled landing there.

Whether Dry Ice Made It Rain Is Cloudy Problem

CONCORD, N. H., Oct. 29 (AP)—The rain that fell on New Hampshire today was wet and ordinary-looking but it blew up a pretty cloudy problem.

The problem is—what made it rain.

Some people in New Hampshire — including weather officials—think the rain came from where it always comes from.

But some people in Schenectady, N. Y.—notably scientists of the Army-Navy-General Electric Company, artificial weather experiments — think the rain came from dry-ice seeding of clouds by two "rainmaker" airplanes.

These New York people also point out that even if the dry-ice pellets didn't start the rain, they may have increased the downpour over two areas—Concord and Petersborough.

Four More Film Figures Facing Contempt Action

Witness Protests "Loaded" Questions

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29 (AP) — With assembly line precision, congressional probers of alleged Communism in Hollywood today ground out contempt citations against four more screenland figures, bringing the grand total to eight.

The quartet:

Writer Samuel Ornitz, Director-Producer-Writer Herbert Biberman, Director Edward Dmytryk and Producer Adrian Scott.

As with four other writers against whom it has started contempt actions, a House Subcommittee on Un-American Activities got nowhere with questions whether Ornitz, Biberman, Dmytryk and Scott are Communists.

Ornitz Protests

Ornitz protested the committee was using "loaded" questions. Biberman accused it of "shameful and cowardly" tactics. Dmytryk said the constitution doesn't require him to answer questions the way the committee wants. Scott had no "yes or no" answer on Communism, either.

But another movie writer, Emmet Lavery, beat the committee to the punch of Communism. He volunteered that he is no Red, never has been and never intends to be. And, speaking as president of the Screen Writers Guild, Lavery said Communist influences in that organization have been overestimated.

"They do not have control of the Guild," he said.

Committee members interupted him to say it was "refreshing" to have a writer testify "without waving your arms and screaming about the bill of rights."

RKO Official Testifies

In mid-afternoon, Dore Schary, production chief of RKO Studios, testified it would be a "terrible shock" to him if Scott and Dmytryk are Communists. Scott produced and Dmytryk directed the movie "Crossfire," an RKO production.

Schary said he is certain neither Scott nor Dmytryk, who are under contract to the studio, ever put anything subversive into a movie—"but I do not know what their minds are pledged to."

Like various other witnesses, Schary conceded "there are Communists in Hollywood." But he said "essentially middle of the road people" have beaten their efforts to dominate movie unions and guilds.

Scientists Denounce Committee

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 29. (AP)—A group of California scientists recommended today that the forthcoming special session of Congress legislate the Un-American Activities Committee out of existence.

The group charged in a signed statement released through the Progressive Citizens Committee that the committee's actions would result in attempts to "intimidate and stifle all cultural and social thought except that approved by the committee itself."

Earl Snell, 52, Believed Dead In Plane Crash

Two Other State Leaders Aboard

KLAMATH FALLS, Ore., Oct. 29. (AP)—The shattered wreckage of a plane carrying Oregon's governor, Secretary of State, State Senate president, and their pilot was sighted today "so damaged that no one could be alive."

Earl Snell

The plane, which left here last night when the state officials started a Southern Oregon hunting outing, crashed at the top of a hill, three miles west of Dog Lake in the rough, timbered lower Barnes Valley.

Aboard the craft were Oregon's key state executives—Gov. Earl Snell, 52; State Senate President Marshall Cornett, 49, next in line of succession to the governorship; Secretary of State Robert S. Farrell Jr., 41, and Cliff Hogue, 42, Klamath Falls pilot.

The crashed private plane was seen from the air, but darkness and rain prevented a definite ground check of the fate of Oregon's leaders.

Radio communications said tonight that searchers had crisscrossed the rugged, heavily-timbered area three times without finding the wreckage, concealed by pounding rain and darkness.

Two reports—one from Hamilton Field, Calif., and one from Oregon's Acting Adjutant General—that the plane had been found with all dead were without confirmation from the Forest Service searching parties.

Wreckage Identified

Private pilots from Lakeview, Ore., sighted the wreckage—wings bent at a 90-degree angle from normal, trees snapped off, a swath cut through the hillside—late this afternoon. Flying at tree-top height, they read the private plane's license number, and reported "no sign of life. The plane is damaged so badly that no one could be alive."

The nearest town to the crash scene was Bly, 22 miles to the north. Employes of the Fremont National Forest, working within a few miles of the wreckage, were dispatched through the roadless, rugged region toward the site.

The terrain, drenched with rain and some snow, was so near-impassible that one forest crew which at 6 p. m. had left a logging road only a mile and a half or two from the reported crash scene still had not returned to its roadside radio three hours later. Another crew was working into the area from the other side.

The state, tensely awaiting news of it chief officials, was flooded with reports. A statement by Oregon's Adjutant General Raymond F. Olsen at 6:52 p. m. that the men had all been found dead proved erroneous—apparently due to a garble in radio transmission.

But little hope was held out by the private pilots who had seen the shattered wreckage. A forestry crew hiked into the region earlier this afternoon, only to find itself off the track, and returned for a new try. An ambulance and truck added extra chains, and started toward the region.

Hall Would Become Governor

Only a brief break in the low ceiling enabled the wreckage to be sighted at all. Two pilots—lumberman Robert Adams and Airport Mechanic Greg Painter—took off when the sun emerged momentarily late this afternoon. They saw the wreckage near Dog Lake. Other pilots confirmed it.

The Governor's party took off from Klamath Falls about 10 o'clock last night for the Oscar Kittridge ranch in Warner Valley—an hour's hop—for a morning of goose and duck hunting. The crash site was along the general route they planned to follow.

The death of Gov. Snell and his normal successor, Senate President Cornett, would give the governorship to the Speaker of the State House of Representatives—John H. Hall, a Portland attorney.

Coed Evicted From Rooming House Because She Dated Negro Student

MADISON, Wis., Oct. 29—A University of Wisconsin coed declared today she had been evicted from her quarters in a private rooming house because she had dated a negro student last Saturday.

Her landlord and landlady immediately issued a statement confirming the fact and adding they had taken similar action against another girl student.

Iris Alexander, a student from New York, said she was given notice to leave after she returned from an inter-racial party at the University Memorial Union with a negro student she declined to name.

Owners of the rooming house, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur H. Rupe, said in a joint statement they had asked Miss Alexander to leave and had done the same to another student, Constance Felton, senior from Brooklyn "for sympathizing with Miss Alexander and indignantly telling Mrs. Rupe off regarding the matter."

"The other girls would not stay here if Miss Alexander and Miss Felton continued their interest in negroes." The joint statement continued.

"This is our home. We don't want to go into a negro's home and we don't expect them to enter ours. There is no religious prejudice concerned—we took Protestants, Jews and Catholics in our home for the first time this fall. But a private home is no place for inter-mixing."

Miss Alexander, who is chairman of the social relations committee of the University student board, told interviewers she now is staying with friends. She said she had placed the matter before the student board. Miss Felton could not be reached for comment.

Mikolajczyk's Wife Makes Appeal For News Of Her Missing Husband

The wife of Stanislaw Mikolajczyk, the opposition leader in Communist-dominated Poland who disappeared last week, appeals in the following article for news of her husband and asks: "What kind of people are ruling Poland today?"

The Warsaw communist government announced Saturday night that Mikolajczyk had disappeared and was believed to have fled abroad. But Polish exiles charged this was a "pure hoax" and that Mikolajczyk was deported to Russia.

By MRS. CECILIA MIKOLAJCZYK

KENTON, Middlesex, Eng., Oct. 29 (INS)—I appeal to anyone in the world who knows and who has a vestige of pity to tell me what has happened to my husband.

Since his reported disappearance in Poland, I haven't been able to sleep nights, wondering what has happened to him.

I don't believe newspaper reports (put out by the Warsaw regime) that he is safe in Sweden or Denmark, because if he had arrived in any free country he would have communicated with me and my son.

It is a lie when it is said that I have heard from him during the past few weeks.

The terrible truth is that I haven't received a line from my husband for more than six months.

His letters ceased abruptly. I know it was not because he stopped writing.

What kind of people are ruling Poland today?

Who is preventing my husband from writing to his wife and son?

What have they done to my husband?

The Germans kept me in concentration camps for three years until I finally was liberated near Prague in May, 1945, by American troops.

The Germans tatooed No. 64,022

ORE. GOVERNOR REPORTED KILLED

Attlee Upheld As Churchill's Motion Loses

British War Leader's Speech Is Criticized

LONDON, Oct. 29—(AP)—Winston Churchill lost tonight his fourth attempt to expell Great Britain's Labor government from office by parliamentary vote.

By 348 to 201, the overwhelming Laborite majority in the House of Commons rejected, after a two-day debate, Churchill's motion that the government lacked the "national leadership, the administrative competence, or the measures necessary to meet" Great Britain's current economic crisis.

Acceptance of the motion offered as the official opposition amendment to the speech last week by King George VI, which outlined the government's program for the new session of Parliament, would have constituted a "no confidence" vote against Prime Minister Attlee's government.

The vote came after Attlee, in quiet, schoolmasterly tones, assured the house his government would carry out its program of industrial nationalization, and attacked Churchill's speech of yesterday which demanded a British return to free enterprise along American lines.

Facts Ignored, Attlee Says

Attlee declared:

"I never knew a speech that ignored more entirely the facts on the economic situation."

Winding up the debate, Attlee said he imagined that Churchill, after attacking the government's policies, would offer an alternative "for which we have waited a long time."

Churchill, the Prime Minister said, "talked a good deal about this free, thriving business. As I understand it, he considered that if we can set everything free from controls, we should get over all our difficulties. He believes in the free play of competition now."

Then, turning and looking at Churchill, Attlee asked sharply:

"Would he do away with food rationing now? We want to know."

Churchill rose quickly amid cheers of the Conservative Party members and said:

"In my speech I was striking a note. That note was to set the people free. When you have loaded them with chains all the shackles cannot be struck off in a day."

"This is the note he has given to the nation," Attlee retorted. "He is saying you should be free, but not just now. It is an I.O.U."

U. S. Economic Disaster Seen

During the debate, Sidney Silverman, a Laborite who was criticized yesterday by Churchill for terming the United States a nation of "shabby money lenders," told the house "I have been to America and I think I ought to withdraw part of that statement."

"At least they are not shabby. They are the only people in the world today who can afford to buy good English broadcloth."

Silverman attacked Churchill for praising the lifting of price controls in the United States, adding:

"Unless these controls are reimposed in time, America is riding for the biggest and most sensational economic disaster in all history. I hope to God when it comes they will not start throwing their atomic bombs about the world."

The remark was greeted by cries of "shame" and "withdraw" from Conservative members.

Girl's Battered Body Found; Two Men Held

CLEARWATER, Fla., Oct. 29 (AP)—The battered and nearly nude body of 19-year-old Nancy Haynes, St. Petersburg waitress, was found on a lonely road at daylight today.

Sheriff Todd Tucker said it had not been determined whether she died from a beating or had been struck by a car. Held without charge were two men and Deputy Sheriff Harvey Meeks said they admitted being with the girl late last night.

Meeks said the two told him they quarreled with Miss Haynes and let her out of their automobile about two miles from where a bakery truck driver later found her body. She was clad in a torn dress and slip, both rolled up around her neck.

Negligent Chief Engineer Blamed For Boat Blast

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 29 (AP)—The explosion and destruction by fire of the excursion steamer Island Queen at Pittsburgh on September 9, when 19 persons died, was attributed to negligence on the part of the chief engineer, the St. Louis Coast Guard office disclosed today in releasing the report of Capt. Ross Willoh, St. Louis, marine inspector and head of the investigating board.

The Coast Guard said Capt. Willoh's investigation, held in Pittsburgh the day after the disaster, disclosed that Chief Engineer Fred Dickow, Cincinnati, who was one of the victims, was welding a loose deck stanchion, a metal brace running from deck to ceiling, in the vicinity of fuel oil bunkers containing approximately 27,000 gallons of fuel oil.

U. S. Calls On U.N. To Decide Korean Representatives

Evatt, Manuilsky Exchange Blasts

LAKE SUCCESS, Oct. 29—(AP)—The United States called on the United Nations today to create a temporary commission which would insure that "truly elected" representatives of the Korean people will be chosen to discuss Korea's independence with the United Nations Assembly.

Russia and the five other members of the Soviet bloc in the 57-member United Nation Political Committee immediately attacked the United States proposal. Russia's Andrei A. Gromyko tagged it as a move to "put the cart before the horse."

Evatt, Manuilsky Clash

Belgium charged the Russians with trying to delay action on Korean independence; the Soviet Ukraine came back with an allegation that the United States is trying to postpone a decision "indefinitely."

The political committee's session was enlivened further by a verbal exchange between Dr. Herbert V. Evatt, Australian Foreign Minister, and Dmitri Z. Manuilsky, Soviet Ukrainian Foreign Minister.

Manuilsky called Evatt a "Jupiter." He chided Evatt for making a speech favoring the United States proposal and then ducking from the committee room before Manuilsky could answer.

Evatt snapped back that Manuilsky is the "Jupiter of Jupiters" and had no right to censure him. He said he had been urgently summoned to another committee. The two Foreign Ministers shook hands after the meeting and said the incident was ended.

India, Poland, Russia To Speak

The committee adjourned until 11 a. m. (E.S.T.) tomorrow without a decision whether to hear Korean representatives here. India, Poland and Russia are listed to speak next.

The United States originally proposed that the United Nations observe Korean elections for a National Assembly before next March 31. The United States said Soviet and Russian troops should be withdrawn from Korea after an elected government is functioning.

Russia yesterday demanded that the United Nations order Soviet and United States troops out by next January 1. Russia also declared "truly elected" representatives of the Korean people must be invited to the United Nations to take part in the discussions over Korean independence.

Standard To Up Price Of Gasoline In State

BALTIMORE, Oct. 29. (AP)—The Standard Oil Company of New Jersey will raise the price of gasoline three-tenths of a cent per gallon in Maryland tomorrow, a company statement said today.

Prices of fuel oil, kerosene, diesel and other distillate fuels will be boosted eight-tenths of a cent.

Declares Real Reds Should Be Exposed

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29 (AP)—President Truman's Committee on Civil Rights today recommended that Congress and the state legislatures outlaw segregation and discrimination based on race, color, creed or national origin—and do it "now."

The committee also spoke out against "public excitement" on the Communist question, but declared that real Communists and Fascists should be exposed.

"It is natural and proper for good citizens to worry about the activities of these groups," its report said.

In a sweeping review of the whole United States civil rights field, the committee made 35 specific recommendations to strengthen "the American way" of life and delved into explosive issues which have embroiled Congress in some of its bitterest struggles.

Nation's Capital Scored

Discrimination against negroes in the South was criticized at length, but other regions in the North and West were singled out for violations of civil rights. The nation's capital itself was scored as "a graphic illustration of a failure of democracy" and as the gateway to "Jim Crow" transportation in the South.

President Truman hailed the report with a statement saying he hopes the committee has given the country "as broad a document" as the Declaration of Independence . . ."An American charter of human freedom in our time."

"The need for such a charter has never been greater than at this moment," Mr. Truman said.

1. Enactment of federal anti-lynching, anti-poll tax and fair employment laws.

2. Federal and state laws to prevent racial or religious segregation and discrimination in such places as trains, buses, schools, theaters, hotels and restaurants.

State Laws Suggested

3. State laws barring "restrictive covenants" in which property owners bind themselves not to sell or lease to "undesirables."

Sen. Taylor Gives Up His Horseback Trip Across U. S.

PHOENIX, Ariz., Oct. 29 (AP)—Sen. Taylor (D-Ida.), who set out from Seal Beach, Calif., Sunday on a horseback trip across the country in behalf of world peace, rode into town today in his 1946 sedan.

He said he "bit off more than he could chew" when he announced he would make the entire tour of the southern half of the nation on horseback. He was to be in Washington November 17 for the special session of Congress.

Former Romanian Premier On Trial

BUCHAREST, Romania, Oct. 29 (AP)—Dr. Juliu Maniu, veteran leader of the National Peasant Party, went on trial today on charges of "high treason" involving accusations that he discussed with American diplomats plans for the violent overthrow of the Communist-led Romanian government.

Eighteen associates of the 75-year-old Premier also were placed on trial before a military tribunal, with life imprisonment at forced labor the maximum penalty upon conviction.

Maniu's career in Romanian politics covered a span of 40 years. A foe of the Fascist Iron Guard, he threw his sympathies with the Allies in the war and was under close watch by the Nazis when they overran Romania. It was Maniu who announced to his countrymen the armistice terms imposed by the Soviet Union. He refused to yield to the Communists in postwar Romania, and was attacked in the Moscow press as a "Fascist." He is a Roman Catholic.

Maniu, who has been under arrest since last July, appeared pale and nervous in the court room. He entered wearing an overcoat and carrying in his hand a large yellow envelope, which he dropped as he sat down.

The clerk took three hours to read the 30,000-word indictment on charges ranging from high treason and espionage to attempting to illegally leave the country.

A defense plea that the court be adjourned to give the accused more time to study the indictment was refused.

Man Lives Over 48 Hours With Bullet Hole In Head

WATERLOO, Ia., Oct. 29. (AP)—Floyd J. Smith, 56, Waterloo, died in a hospital today more than 48 hours after he had shot a bullet through his head.

Detective Tom Wood said Smith shot himself with a .25 calibre pistol Monday and later walked to an ambulance. The bullet entered his right temple and emerged from the other side of his head.

Sales Tax "Take" Soars

BALTIMORE, Oct. 29. (AP)—Sales tax receipts for October passed the September collection total today, and State Comptroller James J. Lacy predicted the final figure for this month would reach $2,100,000.

With 38,000 returns processed as of business today, $1,942,543 had been received. Total receipts for September were $1,920,231.

Snyder Opposes Tax Cuts Before Aid Cost Is Set

U. S. Should Keep Budget Balanced

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29 (AP)—Congress should refrain from cutting taxes until it figures out European aid costs, Secretary of the Treasury Snyder said today.

He also advised the United States to keep its budget balanced and continue trimming away each year at the $259,000,000,000 national debt while the European recovery program operates.

Costs of the Marshall plan—under which 16 European nations proposed a five-year economic rehabilitation program—are not decided. As handed to the United States, the program calls for about $6,000,000,000 for the opening year. President Truman may have a different figure to recommend to Congress. And the lawmakers have ideas of their own.

GOP Backs Budget Idea

The balanced budget idea has Republican backing. Chairman Taft (R-Ohio), of the Senate Republican Policy Committee, predicted in an interview at Boston this week that Marshall plan appropriations will total up to $5,000,000,000 a year and that the debt can be whittled at the same time.

Also Taft said that while the special session of Congress is doing this it can cut taxes. But Snyder told reporters he opposes changing the present taxes until Congress determines the amount of aid.

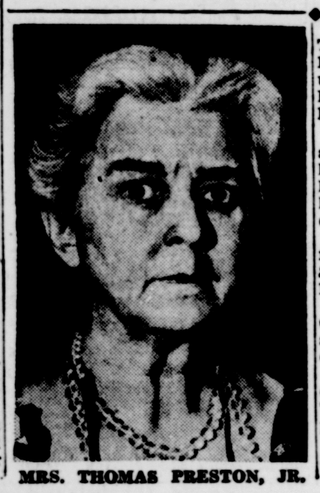

In the State Department, officials labored feverishly on the task of drawing up, for President Truman and Congress, final recommendations on American aid under the Marshall plan.

"Hell Week" Coming Up

Lifting a term from his college days, Undersecretary of State Lovett said the period through next week will be "hell week" in the department—no letting up day and night until a series of decisions reailing with aid have been made.

And the man in the White House worked on the message he will deliver November 17, when Congress convenes on his call to deal with the high price crisis at home and immediate help to Europe. Mr. Truman cancelled tomorrow's news conference to conserve his time.

Death Claims Widow Of Grover Cleveland

MRS. THOMAS PRESTON, JR.

BALTIMORE, Oct. 29 (AP)—Mrs. Thomas Jex Preston, Jr., widow of President Grover Cleveland, died unexpectedly here today at the home of her son, Richard F. Cleveland. She was 83.

Cleveland, Baltimore attorney and civic leader, said his mother had come to Baltimore from her home in Princeton, N. J., to help him celebrate his fiftieth birthday.

Last night she joined in a quiet family party at the Cleveland home. She died about noon while sleeping, her son said.

Mrs. Preston married President Cleveland at the White House when she was 22 and he was 49 years old.

Five years after Mr. Cleveland's death in 1908, she was married to Thomas Jex Preston, Jr., a retired professor of archaelogy.

Demos To Hold '48 Convention In Quaker City

McGrath Installed As Party Chairman

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29. — (AP) — Both Democratic and Republican national conventions will be held at Philadelphia in 1948.

The Democratic National Committee unanimously selected that city today as San Francisco "reluctantly withdrew" its bid. The date for the convention was not set but it probably will be early in July.

Republicans previously had decided to meet there, beginning June 21.

In a spirited session today, the Democratic Committee installed Sen. J. Howard McGrath, of Rhode Island, as new national chairman and whooped it up for re-election of President Truman in 1948. McGrath succeeds Robert E. Hannegan, who resigned because of ill health.

The committee rejected a resolution bitterly condemning the Republican-controlled 80th Congress for placing "partisan politics above love of country."

McGrath Raps Resolution

McGrath told reporters he had asked that the resolution be withdrawn because it might jeopardize non-partisan action on emergency legislation at the special session of Congress, starting November 17.

"I asked them to tear it up," McGrath said. "That's no way to get cooperation."

The withdrawn resolution charged that the Republicans had "blocked an enlightened program" presented by President Truman, and declared:

"The bitter and intemperate Republican majority has twice passed a soak-the-poor tax bill, a badly drafted labor bill x x x and an appropriation bill which seriously hampered the operation of the government x x x"

John M. Redding, committee publicity chief, told newsmen that McGrath felt the resolution was "a little too bitter at this time."

Committeemen from the solid South, bidding for a bigger say in the national convention, received a measure of solace under a new "bonus plan" for delegates to the 1948 conclave. Under it each state which voted for the party's presidential nominee in 1944 will receive four extra delegates instead of two as at present.

Sought Even Bigger Bonus

Some southerners wanted an even bigger bonus.

Backing the extra bonus suggestion, Gessner T. McCorvey, Mobile, Ala., asserted that "except for the South the Democratic Party would be a thing of the past."

Albert M. Greenfield, chairman of a Philadelphia citizens committee of 100, clinched the 1948 convention site by the same tactics used in winning the Republicans.

Greenfield presented a certified $200,000 check, promised another $50,000 for entertainment of delegates, a free convention hall, television facilities and first choice of 6,000 hotel rooms.

Britain, U. S. Sign New Tariff Pact

LONDON, Oct. 29 (AP) — Britain announced today a new Anglo-American tariff agreement embodying "concessions" on both sides and called for a reinvigorated campaign to sell British goods in the United States.

Board of Trade President Harold Wilson told the House of Commons that tariff pacts also have been concluded with 14 other countries during six months of international trade negotiations just ending in Geneva, Switzerland. Details, he said, would be disclosed about November 18.

Winthrop Brown, of the United States State Department, said in Geneva that 100 agreements involving 23 nations representing about half the world's international trade would be signed tomorrow.

The agreements, he said, should have an immediate effect on dollar shortages abroad and should be viewed as the long-term corollary of the Marshall plan for remedy of Europe's economic problems.

Concessions by the United States delegation, he said, were made under the President's authority to modify tariff rates by 50 per cent and would not to have to be approved by Congress.

In Washington, President Truman hailed the multilateral agreement at Geneva as a "landmark in the history of international economic relations."

Pilot's Son To Join Search For Airliner

KETCHIKAN, Alaska, Oct. 29. (AP)—A pilot son today flew north to join a search for 18 persons missing on a Pan-American World Airways plane piloted by his father.

Wesley Monsen, co-pilot in a rare father-son commercial airline flying team, left Seattle to fly to Annette Island. It was from the Annette vicinity that Pilot Alf N. Monsen, veteran Alaska flier, made his final radio report Sunday that extreme turbulence prevented his scheduled landing there.

Whether Dry Ice Made It Rain Is Cloudy Problem

CONCORD, N. H., Oct. 29 (AP)—The rain that fell on New Hampshire today was wet and ordinary-looking but it blew up a pretty cloudy problem.

The problem is—what made it rain.

Some people in New Hampshire — including weather officials—think the rain came from where it always comes from.

But some people in Schenectady, N. Y.—notably scientists of the Army-Navy-General Electric Company, artificial weather experiments — think the rain came from dry-ice seeding of clouds by two "rainmaker" airplanes.

These New York people also point out that even if the dry-ice pellets didn't start the rain, they may have increased the downpour over two areas—Concord and Petersborough.

Four More Film Figures Facing Contempt Action

Witness Protests "Loaded" Questions

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29 (AP) — With assembly line precision, congressional probers of alleged Communism in Hollywood today ground out contempt citations against four more screenland figures, bringing the grand total to eight.

The quartet:

Writer Samuel Ornitz, Director-Producer-Writer Herbert Biberman, Director Edward Dmytryk and Producer Adrian Scott.

As with four other writers against whom it has started contempt actions, a House Subcommittee on Un-American Activities got nowhere with questions whether Ornitz, Biberman, Dmytryk and Scott are Communists.

Ornitz Protests

Ornitz protested the committee was using "loaded" questions. Biberman accused it of "shameful and cowardly" tactics. Dmytryk said the constitution doesn't require him to answer questions the way the committee wants. Scott had no "yes or no" answer on Communism, either.

But another movie writer, Emmet Lavery, beat the committee to the punch of Communism. He volunteered that he is no Red, never has been and never intends to be. And, speaking as president of the Screen Writers Guild, Lavery said Communist influences in that organization have been overestimated.

"They do not have control of the Guild," he said.

Committee members interupted him to say it was "refreshing" to have a writer testify "without waving your arms and screaming about the bill of rights."

RKO Official Testifies

In mid-afternoon, Dore Schary, production chief of RKO Studios, testified it would be a "terrible shock" to him if Scott and Dmytryk are Communists. Scott produced and Dmytryk directed the movie "Crossfire," an RKO production.

Schary said he is certain neither Scott nor Dmytryk, who are under contract to the studio, ever put anything subversive into a movie—"but I do not know what their minds are pledged to."

Like various other witnesses, Schary conceded "there are Communists in Hollywood." But he said "essentially middle of the road people" have beaten their efforts to dominate movie unions and guilds.

Scientists Denounce Committee

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 29. (AP)—A group of California scientists recommended today that the forthcoming special session of Congress legislate the Un-American Activities Committee out of existence.

The group charged in a signed statement released through the Progressive Citizens Committee that the committee's actions would result in attempts to "intimidate and stifle all cultural and social thought except that approved by the committee itself."

Earl Snell, 52, Believed Dead In Plane Crash

Two Other State Leaders Aboard

KLAMATH FALLS, Ore., Oct. 29. (AP)—The shattered wreckage of a plane carrying Oregon's governor, Secretary of State, State Senate president, and their pilot was sighted today "so damaged that no one could be alive."

Earl Snell

The plane, which left here last night when the state officials started a Southern Oregon hunting outing, crashed at the top of a hill, three miles west of Dog Lake in the rough, timbered lower Barnes Valley.

Aboard the craft were Oregon's key state executives—Gov. Earl Snell, 52; State Senate President Marshall Cornett, 49, next in line of succession to the governorship; Secretary of State Robert S. Farrell Jr., 41, and Cliff Hogue, 42, Klamath Falls pilot.

The crashed private plane was seen from the air, but darkness and rain prevented a definite ground check of the fate of Oregon's leaders.

Radio communications said tonight that searchers had crisscrossed the rugged, heavily-timbered area three times without finding the wreckage, concealed by pounding rain and darkness.

Two reports—one from Hamilton Field, Calif., and one from Oregon's Acting Adjutant General—that the plane had been found with all dead were without confirmation from the Forest Service searching parties.

Wreckage Identified

Private pilots from Lakeview, Ore., sighted the wreckage—wings bent at a 90-degree angle from normal, trees snapped off, a swath cut through the hillside—late this afternoon. Flying at tree-top height, they read the private plane's license number, and reported "no sign of life. The plane is damaged so badly that no one could be alive."

The nearest town to the crash scene was Bly, 22 miles to the north. Employes of the Fremont National Forest, working within a few miles of the wreckage, were dispatched through the roadless, rugged region toward the site.

The terrain, drenched with rain and some snow, was so near-impassible that one forest crew which at 6 p. m. had left a logging road only a mile and a half or two from the reported crash scene still had not returned to its roadside radio three hours later. Another crew was working into the area from the other side.

The state, tensely awaiting news of it chief officials, was flooded with reports. A statement by Oregon's Adjutant General Raymond F. Olsen at 6:52 p. m. that the men had all been found dead proved erroneous—apparently due to a garble in radio transmission.

But little hope was held out by the private pilots who had seen the shattered wreckage. A forestry crew hiked into the region earlier this afternoon, only to find itself off the track, and returned for a new try. An ambulance and truck added extra chains, and started toward the region.

Hall Would Become Governor

Only a brief break in the low ceiling enabled the wreckage to be sighted at all. Two pilots—lumberman Robert Adams and Airport Mechanic Greg Painter—took off when the sun emerged momentarily late this afternoon. They saw the wreckage near Dog Lake. Other pilots confirmed it.

The Governor's party took off from Klamath Falls about 10 o'clock last night for the Oscar Kittridge ranch in Warner Valley—an hour's hop—for a morning of goose and duck hunting. The crash site was along the general route they planned to follow.

The death of Gov. Snell and his normal successor, Senate President Cornett, would give the governorship to the Speaker of the State House of Representatives—John H. Hall, a Portland attorney.

Coed Evicted From Rooming House Because She Dated Negro Student

MADISON, Wis., Oct. 29—A University of Wisconsin coed declared today she had been evicted from her quarters in a private rooming house because she had dated a negro student last Saturday.

Her landlord and landlady immediately issued a statement confirming the fact and adding they had taken similar action against another girl student.

Iris Alexander, a student from New York, said she was given notice to leave after she returned from an inter-racial party at the University Memorial Union with a negro student she declined to name.

Owners of the rooming house, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur H. Rupe, said in a joint statement they had asked Miss Alexander to leave and had done the same to another student, Constance Felton, senior from Brooklyn "for sympathizing with Miss Alexander and indignantly telling Mrs. Rupe off regarding the matter."

"The other girls would not stay here if Miss Alexander and Miss Felton continued their interest in negroes." The joint statement continued.

"This is our home. We don't want to go into a negro's home and we don't expect them to enter ours. There is no religious prejudice concerned—we took Protestants, Jews and Catholics in our home for the first time this fall. But a private home is no place for inter-mixing."

Miss Alexander, who is chairman of the social relations committee of the University student board, told interviewers she now is staying with friends. She said she had placed the matter before the student board. Miss Felton could not be reached for comment.

Mikolajczyk's Wife Makes Appeal For News Of Her Missing Husband

The wife of Stanislaw Mikolajczyk, the opposition leader in Communist-dominated Poland who disappeared last week, appeals in the following article for news of her husband and asks: "What kind of people are ruling Poland today?"

The Warsaw communist government announced Saturday night that Mikolajczyk had disappeared and was believed to have fled abroad. But Polish exiles charged this was a "pure hoax" and that Mikolajczyk was deported to Russia.

By MRS. CECILIA MIKOLAJCZYK

KENTON, Middlesex, Eng., Oct. 29 (INS)—I appeal to anyone in the world who knows and who has a vestige of pity to tell me what has happened to my husband.

Since his reported disappearance in Poland, I haven't been able to sleep nights, wondering what has happened to him.

I don't believe newspaper reports (put out by the Warsaw regime) that he is safe in Sweden or Denmark, because if he had arrived in any free country he would have communicated with me and my son.

It is a lie when it is said that I have heard from him during the past few weeks.

The terrible truth is that I haven't received a line from my husband for more than six months.

His letters ceased abruptly. I know it was not because he stopped writing.

What kind of people are ruling Poland today?

Who is preventing my husband from writing to his wife and son?

What have they done to my husband?

The Germans kept me in concentration camps for three years until I finally was liberated near Prague in May, 1945, by American troops.

Polish Premier Warns Catholics

WARSAW, Oct. 29—(AP)—Premier Jozef Cyraniewicz openly warned the Roman Catholic hierarchy in Poland today that further attacks against the Soviet-backed Warsaw regime would be met with swift action by the government.

At the same time, the Premier in addressing the opening session of Parliament dismissed the strange disappearance of Peasant Party Leader Stanislaw Mikolajczyk as being for the good of the nation. Leftwingers in the peasant party took advantage of Mikolajczyk's absence at the opening of Parliament and seized control, remodeling the party along lines favorable to the Communist-dominated government.

Cyraniewicz told Parliament that frontier guards had prevented the illegal flight of 35,000 persons from Poland this year, but failed for some reason to stop Mikolajczyk. He gave no indication that he knew the whereabouts of the 46-year-old Peasant leader and his party of seven friends who disappeared last week.

The Parliament appointed a special committee to formally write finis to Mikolajczyk's career under the Communist-led regime. The committee will draw up a resolution expelling from Parliament Mikolajczyk and two others who disappeared with him—Wincenty Bryja and Stefan Korbonski.

Missing Child, 7, Found Murdered

CHICAGO, Oct. 29. (AP)—Seven-year-old Lonnie Fellick, who disappeared 10 days ago while his mother and six brothers and sisters were facing eviction, was found dead today in a woods in suburban Maywood, his head crushed by a heavy block of cement.

Coroner A. L. Bordie estimated the boy had been dead from five days to a week and said it appeared the slaying was a sex crime. The body was identified by clothing and dental characteristics. It was discovered in a clump of bushes by a mailman walking through the woods. A heavy chunk of concrete was resting on the boy's head.

Lonnie's mother, Mrs. Mary Fellick, 40, became hysterical when she viewed the body. When she reported Lonnie's disappearance, police reported, she said the boy had threatened to run away if the family found it necessary to place him in a children's home temporarily in the event of eviction.

Lonnie's disappearance caused a 13-day postponement in the eviction proceedings in renters court last Friday. The eviction suit was brought by Mrs. Pawel Opiela who said she needed the apartment for her daughter who is to be married next month.

Barn Of a Home

CHICAGO — (AP) — The horse and buggy have clattered down the road to oblivion, and a half a dozen north side families are quite happy about it. Otherwise, they'd be hunting homes. Now they are living comfortably in the shadows of 19th century mansions. The dwellings, before extensive reconversion, were stables and coach houses.

The report, made public by the White House, declared:

"We need to guarantee the same rights to everw person regardless of who he is, where he lives, or what his racial, religious or national origins are."

And it said "the time is now" for remedial measures, for three reasons: Moral, economic and international.

"The United States is not so strong, thef inal triumph of the democratic ideal is not so inevitable that we can ignore what the world thinks of us or our record," the report continued.

Corrective steps are needed, it said, to attain a fuller realization of "the American way" of freedom and equality.

Grandmother And Disabled Veteran Hit Jackpot In Irish Sweepstakes

NEW YORK, Oct. 29 (AP) — A grandmother's first bet — just to please her son—and a ticket bought by a Buffalo, N. Y., disabled veteran who has a sick wife today brought them $100,000 each in the Irish Sweepstakes.

Mrs. Meta Heil, 52, couldn't believe at first that she held a ticket on the winning horse, Fairey Fulmar, and her husband, George, a machinist, gulped:

"And to think this morning I had to borrow a dollar from my wife so I'd have enough money for a haircut and shave."

Mrs. Heil's first plan for spending her winnings was a trust fund that would mean college educations for her two grandchildren.

Next, she said, would come a new car and paying off the $6,000 mortgage on their home. But meanwhile she's going to take the whole family out for a "big, big meal."

When Russell A. Diehl, 48, a post office worker and partially disabled veteran of World War I, heard the news in Buffalo, his wife was preparing to go to the hospital for a major operation.

If that goes all right, she said, they will make a life-long dream come true.

While at Wells College, Aurora, N. Y., Mr. Cleveland, then Governor of New York, began to send her flowers—which gifts became the subject of excited comment among her fellow students.

Their marriage took place on June 2, 1886, in the Blue Room of the White House. It was the first presidential marriage there.

One congressman said of the First Lady:

"She is naturally a womanly woman and a gracious hostess, but her chief charm lies in the fact she is an admirable listener."

The Clevelands had five children. Ruth, who died in childhood; Mrs W. S. B. Bosanquet, Redcar, Yorkshire County, England; Mrs. John H. Amen, New York City; Richard F. Cleveland, Baltimore, and Francis F. Cleveland, Tamworth, N. H.

Richard Cleveland said that, in keeping with his mother's wishes, funeral services and burial will be conducted privately Friday in Princeton.

Polish Premier Warns Catholics

WARSAW, Oct. 29—(AP)—Premier Jozef Cyraniewicz openly warned the Roman Catholic hierarchy in Poland today that further attacks against the Soviet-backed Warsaw regime would be met with swift action by the government.

At the same time, the Premier in addressing the opening session of Parliament dismissed the strange disappearance of Peasant Party Leader Stanislaw Mikolajczyk as being for the good of the nation. Leftwingers in the peasant party took advantage of Mikolajczyk's absence at the opening of Parliament and seized control, remodeling the party along lines favorable to the Communist-dominated government.

Cyraniewicz told Parliament that frontier guards had prevented the illegal flight of 35,000 persons from Poland this year, but failed for some reason to stop Mikolajczyk. He gave no indication that he knew the whereabouts of the 46-year-old Peasant leader and his party of seven friends who disappeared last week.

The Parliament appointed a special committee to formally write finis to Mikolajczyk's career under the Communist-led regime. The committee will draw up a resolution expelling from Parliament Mikolajczyk and two others who disappeared with him—Wincenty Bryja and Stefan Korbonski.

Vice Premier Wladyslaw Gomulka hinted at a new series of trials designed to show alleged links between Mikolajczyk and "Anglo-Saxon Imperialists."

Based on the theme, "Meeting Our Responsibilities in the Improved Program of Education in Maryland," the sessions will run for three days. It is up to local school boards whether to hold classes tomorrow and Friday.

Missing Child, 7, Found Murdered

CHICAGO, Oct. 29. (AP)—Seven-year-old Lonnie Fellick, who disappeared 10 days ago while his mother and six brothers and sisters were facing eviction, was found dead today in a woods in suburban Maywood, his head crushed by a heavy block of cement.

Coroner A. L. Bordie estimated the boy had been dead from five days to a week and said it appeared the slaying was a sex crime. The body was identified by clothing and dental characteristics. It was discovered in a clump of bushes by a mailman walking through the woods. A heavy chunk of concrete was resting on the boy's head.

Lonnie's mother, Mrs. Mary Fellick, 40, became hysterical when she viewed the body. When she reported Lonnie's disappearance, police reported, she said the boy had threatened to run away if the family found it necessary to place him in a children's home temporarily in the event of eviction.

Lonnie's disappearance caused a 13-day postponement in the eviction proceedings in renters court last Friday. The eviction suit was brought by Mrs. Pawel Opiela who said she needed the apartment for her daughter who is to be married next month.

Barn Of a Home

CHICAGO — (AP) — The horse and buggy have clattered down the road to oblivion, and a half a dozen north side families are quite happy about it. Otherwise, they'd be hunting homes. Now they are living comfortably in the shadows of 19th century mansions. The dwellings, before extensive reconversion, were stables and coach houses.

The report, made public by the White House, declared:

"We need to guarantee the same rights to everw person regardless of who he is, where he lives, or what his racial, religious or national origins are."

And it said "the time is now" for remedial measures, for three reasons: Moral, economic and international.

"The United States is not so strong, thef inal triumph of the democratic ideal is not so inevitable that we can ignore what the world thinks of us or our record," the report continued.

Corrective steps are needed, it said, to attain a fuller realization of "the American way" of freedom and equality.

Grandmother And Disabled Veteran Hit Jackpot In Irish Sweepstakes

NEW YORK, Oct. 29 (AP) — A grandmother's first bet — just to please her son—and a ticket bought by a Buffalo, N. Y., disabled veteran who has a sick wife today brought them $100,000 each in the Irish Sweepstakes.

Mrs. Meta Heil, 52, couldn't believe at first that she held a ticket on the winning horse, Fairey Fulmar, and her husband, George, a machinist, gulped:

"And to think this morning I had to borrow a dollar from my wife so I'd have enough money for a haircut and shave."

Mrs. Heil's first plan for spending her winnings was a trust fund that would mean college educations for her two grandchildren.

Next, she said, would come a new car and paying off the $6,000 mortgage on their home. But meanwhile she's going to take the whole family out for a "big, big meal."

When Russell A. Diehl, 48, a post office worker and partially disabled veteran of World War I, heard the news in Buffalo, his wife was preparing to go to the hospital for a major operation.

If that goes all right, she said, they will make a life-long dream come true.

While at Wells College, Aurora, N. Y., Mr. Cleveland, then Governor of New York, began to send her flowers—which gifts became the subject of excited comment among her fellow students.

Their marriage took place on June 2, 1886, in the Blue Room of the White House. It was the first presidential marriage there.

One congressman said of the First Lady:

The Clevelands had five children. Ruth, who died in childhood; Mrs W. S. B. Bosanquet, Redcar, Yorkshire County, England; Mrs. John H. Amen, New York City; Richard F. Cleveland, Baltimore, and Francis F. Cleveland, Tamworth, N. H.

Richard Cleveland said that, in keeping with his mother's wishes, funeral services and burial will be conducted privately Friday in Princeton.

Truman Complicates His Foreign Relief Problem

By putting the issue of high prices at the top of the agenda for the special session of Congress, President Truman has complicated the foreign relief problem. Yet the two problems are linked in the public mind.

Western Europe must have emergency food relief if it is to be spared economic collapse and political chaos during the coming winter. But the rising American price scale—let's be honest and call it inflation—is the chief concern of the American public today. And most people believe, though the President denies, that Government buying for foreign relief is on of the main causes of high food prices at home. How to cut this Gordian knot is the problem.

Mr. Truman has not said what price-control program he intends to lay before Congress. His views, and those of his cabinet, in the past have been vague and conflicting. In one off-the-cuff statement, the President blamed high food prices on "speculators." Yet, when trading margins were sharply raised on the Chicago grain market at his request, the price of wheat continued its upward march. Secretary of Labor Schwellenbach assured the AFL convention that industry's high profits, not labor's high wages, are the root cause of high prices, though weekly wages have doubled since before the war and the total of wages and salaries paid out has nearly trebled.

Evidently Mr. Truman does not agree with his Secretary of Labor. In a recent talk on the food problem and again in his radio address last Friday night, the President remarked that "most of the upward pressure on prices is the result of competition among Americans for scarce goods." At the same time, he minimized the effect of exports on American prices. At another time, however, he pleaded for a saving of 100,000,000 bushels of wheat to reduce inflationary pressures." If the saving of 100,000,000 bushels will reduce inflation, will not the proposed export of several hundred million bushels increase it?

It is quite evident that the President and his cabinet are confused. Worse, they are looking around desperately for some politically safe method of halting inflation.

When Congress returns to Washington, we hope it will realize that there are two basic reasons today for high food prices: (1) increased demand at home, owing to higher consumer incomes, and from abroad, owing to the dislocation of war; and (2) decreased supply, in the United States and Western Europe.

Prices will not come down until supply is increased or demand is reduced. All the political strategems in the world cannot get rid of that fundamental economic fact.

Senator Taft Tosses His Hat Into Presidential Ring

Senator Robert H. Taft's announcement that he will be a candidate for the Republican Presidential nomination is scarcely a surprise to politically-minded people.

Things have been going that way ever since he said last July that he would become a candidate if his trip to the West indicated the sense of such a proceeding. He said at the time that he didn't want to make the run just for the exercise.

Few men in American life have grown as steadily and rapidly in public esteem as Senator Taft has grown during the past few months. He used to get a very bad "press." Now he probably has the best press in America. He has plenty of critics; sometimes his meetings are picketed, but even those who show evidence of disliking him have to admit his candor and sincerity of purpose is unquestioned. Senator Taft has laid out a program of public action, the frankness, courage and intelligence of which the people are coming more and more to understand and appreciate.

Nobody knows what the outcome of Senator Taft's presidential candidacy will be. The Republican National Convention of 1948 is still a very open affair, as the Republican Convention of 1940 was a few hours, even a few minutes, before it made its nomination. But the Ohio Senator is plainly gaining in popular support. He surprised the politicos by leading all other candidates in a Kansas poll recently. It is safe to say at the present time that he has the qualities that should make him an able, courageous and patriotic Persident, and that the atmosphere as he starts his campaign is generally good.

Retreat From Reality

In view of the world situation, it is difficult to understand the report from a government source in London that 700 additional German industrial plants valued at $1,000,000,000 in the American and British zones of Germany are to be dismantled for reparations under the Potsdam agreement.

It must be remembered that at Potsdam 25 per cent of the dismantled plants were allotted to Russia —10 per cent directly and 15 per cent in exchange for reciprocal deliveries of food, coal, potash, zinc, timber, clay and oil products. And Russia was given a specific claim to capital equipment "from the metallurgical, chemical and machine manufacturing industries"—all with a high war potential.

Because of the present Russian attitude toward the United States and Great Britain, renewal of reparations shipments to the East must be regarded, not as sharing with an ally, but as arming a potential foe—somewhat like prewar scrap and oil deliveries to Japan.

The United States has no intention of welshing on its pledges, but it would seem entirely unreasonable to hold Soviet reparations from the American zone in escrow until Russia shows some inclination to discuss settlement of her lend-lease obligations or to abide by the other Potsdam decisions—in particular the pledge that Germany should be treated as an economic unit.

It would be different if these instruments of production were being diverted entirely to the needs of other Allies who are cooperating with the European recovery program. But every machine shipped out of Western Europe will mean that American taxpayers must spend that much more to feed jobless Germans and to rebuild European production.

Senator Capper says the government at Washington costs the people more than they pay for food, but most persons would rather eat than look at Truman's picture.

DEAFNESS DUE TO ALLERGY

ALLERGY can manifest itself in many ways and most of us are familiar with its most common forms: bronchial asthma, hay fever, migraine, hives, and eczema. Furthermore people with these afflictions react to a great variety of substances and in the majority, more than one agent is at fault.

There are rare types of allergies which undoubtedly escape detection. Recently Ruchs and Almour described an unusual case that is one for the books. The patient had been highly sensitive for many years, suffering from repeated bouts of hay fever, bronchial asthma, migraine, and dizziness. One aspirin, for example, was capable of producing a violent attack of asthma. He had been deaf in the right ear since childhood and several years ago he suddenly lost the hearing in his left ear for a period of two hours. This was strange but since recovery took place he gave the matter little attention.

Shortly thereafter he had a recurrence, then another. The episodes became more frequent so that finally he was developing intermittent sieges of deafness every four days. Each was preceded by a sense of fullness in both ears following which the acuity in the left ear became progressively worse. The attack usually lasted from three to five days and was accompanied by itching within the ears. Hearing would return soon after he experienced a sensation as tho fluid were gushing into the back of his throat from the ears.

Numerous tests were performed and during an attack a 49 per cent loss could be elicted in the left ear; between times it amounted to 7 per cent. This was the only abnormality that could be found as the remainder of the examination always proved negative. Ultimately it was decided that perhaps allergy was responsible. Skin tests showed that he was extremely susceptible to wheat, oats, barley, codfish, peanuts, peaches, white potatoes, cucumbers, and tomatoes. There was also a reaction to grasses, weeds, orris root, dust, feathers, and several animal danders.

On avoiding contact with the offending inhalants and eliminating the foods that bother him, marked improvement occurred. Apparently after inhaling or consuming one of these allergens, a certain part of the inner ear became swollen and pressed upon a vital hearing structure.

An allied type of disorder is Meniere's syndrome in which deafness is usually accompanied by dizziness, head noises, and nausea. In many instances the cause is not known and a suitable treatment is lacking. Most authorities feel that a certain number of victims are susceptible to histamine and here, benadryl or other anti-histaminic preparations may be helpful. Sometimes it is possible to desensitize against the offending substance.

HIC

C. D. writes: Is hiccups an inward cold?

REPLY

No, it has nothing to do with inflammation and is not a counterpart of a sneeze. It comes on frequently during or after eating. On the stage and screen the maneuver is used to imply tippling but actually it results from a contraction of the diaphragm.

NUMEROUS ORIGINS

Mrs. B. writes: What causes convulsions in an infant?

REPLY

Many children have convultions in the same circumstances that adults would develop chills. In other words, they may usher in an infection. Other origins include overfeeding, intestinal disorders, or nerve disturbances. The importance of a convulsion, therefore, depends upon the underlying cause.

SORE WRIST

C. J. writes: What causes a painful wrist?

REPLY

A disturbance of almost any of the structures which make up the wrist. In most instances injury is responsible, producing sprain or fracture. Arthritis is another possibility.

BLOOD FOR ARTHRITIS

T. R. writes: Are blood transfusions ever used in rheumatoid arthritis?

REPLY

Yes. One of the latest plans is described in a recent issue of the British medical journal. The author used blood from pregnant women and his results in selected cases, were dramatic.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Says DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — Senator Taft has decided to summon his joint Committee on the Economic Report to Washington three days ahead of the special session to review America's No. 1 domestic problem—high prices.

Taft will hear reports from Congressional teams which probed the cost of living across the country. Most exhaustive study was done in the east by a subcommittee, under Vermont's conscientious Senator Ralph Flanders. His important findings have not been boiled down upon paper yet, but this column can reveal that he will stress the following:

1. More than anything else food prices are keeping the cost of living up. Normally one-third of the family budget goes for food, and this has been boosted from one-half to two-thirds.

2. Profiteering by food dealers is at a minimum despite record income. Wild speculation on the grain, hog and beef markets has done much more to push up prices.

3. Statistics do not give a true picture of wage earnings. The national average is right, but many special groups are low. Those suffering most are—teachers, Negroes, white-collar workers and others within state boundaries who do not get the benefit of Federal laws and prictices affecting interstate commerce.

Senator Flanders, though a Republican, frankly believes that drastic action will be necessary to curb the cost of living.

Will John L. Lewis Walk Out Again

Labor insiders say it is only a matter of time until John L. Lewis takes another walk from the American Federation of Labor. That rough sitdown he got at the San Francisco convention was too much for the big miner's pride.

As scrappy George Lynch of the AFL Pattern Makers Union expressed it:

"John L. never pays money into anything he can't boss. Not for long. He broke with the New Deal when he found he couldn't control FDR with miners' funds.

"And unless I miss my guess," continued Lynch, "Lewis won't continue paying per-capita dues to the AFL after that licking he got in San Francisco."

Lewis is sore at practically everybody in top AFL councils, including his erstwhile crony, Bill Hutcheson, the carpenters' boss, who deserted him in the crucial battle over Lewis's stubborn refusal to sign a Commnist "disclaimer" on behalf of his union.

The miners' boss went to San Francisco intending to demand a roll call on this issue, but changed his mind when he was unable to rally support from Hutcheson and others.

Lewis accuses Dan Tobin, astute president of the Teamsters' Union, of being the chief factor in his downfall. Real fact is, however, that all the leaders, big and little, were fed up with the mine boss's bulldozing, with the exception of Matt Burns of the paper workers and Philip Randolph of the Pullman porters. They supported Lewis down the line.

Tobin's main effort against Lewis was on the question of whether the mine leader should remain on the AFL Executive Council. Tobin hit the ceiling when he heard that AFL President Bill Green had been trying to persuade Lewis not to quit.

"If he's sore and wants to quit, let him quit," Tobin angrily informed Green. "I want harmony myself, but not if we have to crawl on our knees to get it. There will be no more of this catering to Lewis, if you want my support."

That ended that, and probably will mean that Lewis walks again.

Merry-Go-Round

Conversation between two eminent Republicans regarding armed forces to Palestine: Senator Vandenberg of Michigan, "We can only act through the United Nations". . . . Senator Brewster of Maine, "But we didn't do that in Greece." . . . Vandenberg, "Oh, we must not consider Greece a precedent." . . . Senator Wayne Morse of Oregon got a chilly welcome from Republican businessmen in Portland this summer . . . . "I am aware of the opposition against me," replied Maverick Morse. "But it doesn't come from the factories and the streets. It comes from the office buildings. Let me give a little advice to those occupants. Between now and 1950, when I come up for re-election, they had better learn how to count noses." . . . When Acting Secretary of State Bob Lovett told President Truman he wanted to appoint Mark Ethridge, able Louisville Courier-Journal publisher, to be assistant Secretary of State, Truman replied that Ethridge would not be confirmed by the Senate . . . . Truman probably had in mind the fact that Ethridge would be opposed by Georgia's dour Senator George, who has never forgiven the Louisville publisher for opposing him when he was editor of the Macon, Ga., Telegraph. Despite this, most Capital observers believe Truman is wrong.

Under The Dome

With one or two exceptions, the Congressmen who went to Europe to study conditions last summer have come back feeling just about the same toward helping Europe as when they left. Whether originally for it or against it, they were able to convince themselves that they were right . . . . Although September is usually the month when cattle eat best, Rep. Bob Poage of Texas saw Norwegians feeding sows from huge rolls of wood cellulose. "If they're eating that paper now, can you imagine what they'll be eating in the winter?" Poage remarked. He was told that the cows that survive the winter in Norway will do it largely on dried fish. What their milk will taste like is another question . . . . Rep. August Anderesen of Minesota spoke over a Norway-wide network in the Norwegian language when he visited that country last month. American-born himself, Andresen visited the village where his parents had lived in Norway before coming to America.

THESE DAYS By George E. Sokolsky

Johnston and McNutt

THE motion picture industry is repeating the error made when it hired Wendell Willkie to cover up. This time they have hired Eric Johnston and Paul McNutt, but there will be no cover up. It is not because Johnston and McNutt are less competent, but that times have changed. The American people have heard the voice of Vishinsky. They have witnessed the downfall of a large number of countries in Europe because their peoples were not vigilant. They want to make sure that no so-called American is working for the international conspiracy that Vishinsky represents at the United Nations. Talk about a synthetic "scare" is silly after what has been happening to this world since V-J Day.

If the motion picture industry had any competence at public relations, they would favor the Thomas Committee investigation and let the chips fall where they may.

Instead they are employing Eric Johnston and Paul McNutt to sign full page advertisements in newspapers, to issue interviews, to threaten the Thomas Committee and to get themselves and their photographs in the newspapers along with a heterogeneous group of mummers and directors and things who prefer citations for contempt rather than to tell their true names and to answer whether they are or are not Communists, which might land them in a perjury charge.

The impression which the Johnston and McNutt activity gives is that, on behalf of the motion picture industry, they are engaged in a publicity barrage designed to detract attention from men and women who may expose themselves as Communists. The non-Communist or anti-Communist has nothing to fear. After all, decent men are not afraid to answer the question: Are you married or single?

Since the learned Judge Fuld of the New York State Court of Appeals has made it difficult to describe a known Communist as such unless the Communist is willing to produce a party card, which he will not do, the only protection the United States has against a Russian Fifth Column and a vast body of American Quislings is such an investigation as the Thomas Committee is conducting and the work of the FBI. These creatures now have judicial protection to do their work in this state, fearful only of the Thomas Committee and the FBI.

It is all very simple before the Thomas Committee: If a man is not a Communist, an agent of Soviet Russia and has never been one, and has no vile record, all he needs to do is to so state under oath. I would be willing to take such an oath at any time. So would most Americans. The only ones who dare not take such an oath are those who fear the charge of perjury and its consequences.

They can make a lot of noise about freedom of thought, but what we face is the corruption of our children, the use of the most popular medium of amusement, one that appeals particularly to young people, by an enemy. If it can be proved, after investigation, that the movies have not been used corruptly, then that is to the credit of the motion picture industry. If it is established, as some say, that only a handful of writers, actors and directors are involved in this indecency, then it is an advantage, for we know who they are. If it is found that the objectionable characterizations and the objectionable sequences were done as war propafianda under the stimulus of soft-minded public officials, then we ought to know about that and who the officials were or are. The fact that villains on the screen are generally bankers or business men is definitely designed to stimulate opposition to the American economic system.

At any rate, let us have whatever facts can be brought to the surface, so that Americans may be safeguarded against the forces that have wrecked and ruined country after country in Europe.

Do we have to declare war to catch traitors? Do we have to spill the blood of our sons because we wish to safeguard the jobs of miserable creatures who put their own country last? Every Communist is an enemy of the United States of America and has been uninterruptedly since October, 1917.

Congressmen Will Insist On Safeguards To Marshall Plan

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29—While there will be no partisanship as such in the forthcoming session of Congress in considering the Marshall Plan, there will be plenty of politics behind the scenes.

In a sense, the tariff fights of old will be revived. Various states which may see their situations impaired will offer opposition to those proposals which can affect them adversely.

It would not be surprising, either, to find labor-union leaders ranged alongside of business men in opposition to those features of the Marshall Plan which look toward the building up of European competitors to American producers, especially in Latin-American markets.

Thus if, as planned, eight million tons of steel are exported to Britain to supplement her existing production, this is bound to result in a flow of finished products to parts of the world which American sellers had expected to reach.

In general the idea of supplying raw materials to European countries to use in competition with America has back of it the theory that the Europeans must be able to sell in world markets or at least to recover some of their pre-war markets. But American producers, looking toward the time when surpluses may exist for them—particularly when domestic demand is satisfied—have been eyeing these same markets as an outlet for their excess production of the future.

Arguments To Be As Before

The argument will run along the same lines as that which is heard from the protectionists when a tariff reduction is proposed. As a matter of fact, if certain tariff barriers were removed so that Americans might purchase more goods from the rest of the world, there would be no need for any Marshall Plans.

The protectionist doctrine will come in for attack in more than one respect as the Marshall Plan unfolds. It will certainly be interesting to see how Senators and Representatives vote on the issue of granting large quantities of American goods—already short and in demand at home—to Europe, while domestic users wait.

The proposal to increase the exports of farm equipment is a case in point. Secretary Krug urges that 50 per cent more than current export be shipped. The farm-equipment industry has felt severe criticism because it has been exporting 12 per cent. An 18 per cent figure might arouse the farm belt. Yet the European countries do need farm equipment to plow and cultivate their fields so that America will not have to send so many tons of food for relief purposes indefinitely.

Some expert timing will be necessary so that the equipment does not lie idle for months abroad between seasons while American farmers wait. This is only one example of the political repercussions that can flow from the Marshall Plan if it is not properly synchronized with American needs.

Incidentally, too many people have been given extravagant impressions about the sums of money to be voted. Much that is authorized will not be spent in the next year, because Europe cannot digest and manage in twelve months all the aid which it is repeatedly set forth that America is to furnish.

Congress Not To Give Blank Check

When the whole program is fully analyzed by Congress, the sums voted will not exceed four and a half billion dollars and may not be as much as three billion. This is because, unless every part of the plan is safeguarded and there is some proof of the effectiveness that can be confidently expected, Congress will not vote it. The administration's theory that congress will write a blank check to conduct a world-wide "pump priming" will be dispelled when the congressional committees get down to actual consideration of the program.

Politically, the administration will not be able to cry that opponents do not favor the Marshall Plan. They will favor it but they will insist that safeguards be written into the appropriations so as to insure certain methods of disbursing the money and the goods. Otherwise, the Marshall Plan will be stalled indefinitely and stopgap aid will be handed out on a scanty basis in separate pieces of legislation.

Congress Action On High Prices Seen By Writer As Imperative

By MARK SULLIVAN

After President Truman's call last week for a special session of Congress, some political leaders gave out reactions. Many, more or less offhand, were more related to timeliness than to a considered program. Some had to do with political aspects—did Mr. Truman's call have any relations to next year's Presidential campaign, what would be the political effect, how would the parties line up in the special session? That lasted only three days. By the beginning of this week, definite prospects began to emerge.

One has to do with priority, as between the two purposes named by Mr. Truman in his call, aid for Europe and high prices at home. Senator Taft, head of the Republican Policy Committee, implied that foreign aid should come first. He said that Congress could act on the immediate aid to Europe for the winter by December 19th, which would be a month after the special session begins.

Taft Carries Weight With Congress

Senator Taft carries much weight with the Republicans in Congress and with Congress as a whole. One reason for his influence is that he refrains from purporting to speak with any authority. His leadership is the sort that gets assent by the force of his ideas and arrives at formal policy after consultation. He has called a meeting of the Senate Republican Policy Committee for November 14th, three days before the special session begins. Thereafter the formal Republican policy will be known—both as to giving foreign aid priority over domestic high prices, and as to just how much is to be done about foreign aid at this special session, and how much is to wait for the regular session in January and later.

On the part of the Democrats there will be, as respects foreign aid, a disposition to cooperate with the Republicans. Democratic Senator McGrath of Rhode Island, who has leadership through being Chairman of the Democratic National Committee, said this week that "I would like to think of this session as completely outside the field of partisan politics." On the part of leaders of both parties there is a strong disposition to extend to the matter of aid for Europe the bipartisanship which has been practiced for some four years about foreign affairs generally.

As the program for the special session presents itself to the members of Congress and to the people, here are two subjects of legislation, foreign aid and domestic high prices, both emergency in nature. Many in Congress and much of the public will think that high prices is the prior emergency, it is very serious and close to every individual. But foreign aid is an emergency vital to the world conflict between us on one side and Russia and Communism on the other. In this conflict, France and Italy have in recent elections turned strikingly away from Communism. In this course they would be greatly encouraged by aid from us, correspondingly discouraged by lack of it or uncertainty about it. In Washington officials responsible for our foreign policy are almost passionate in their anxiety about aid to Europe.

Marshall Plan By Piecemeal

A program that might emerge in the special session would begin by giving the immediate aid to Europe for the winter very promptly. As to the further and larger aid called for by the Marshall plan, there is practically no possibility of this being done as a whole during the special session. Conceivably a beginning might be made, accompanied by a declaration of policy, which would give assurance to the European nations. But the Marshall plan as a whole covers vastly more than the amounts of funds involved, including questions of policy and methods. The plan is a continuing thing, it must meet changing conditions as they arise, phases of it will be debated and acted on by Congress for years.

That Congress should act on high prices and threat of inflation very soon is imperative. Postponement of it or undue subordination of it would lead to a disturbance of confidence which of itself, if it should develop, would be dangerous. It is hardly supposable that any leaders in either party should think that this subject can be deferred during the political campaign which is only seven months ahead. To suppose this would be toying at once with personal delusion and national danger.

University Of Books

To be highly informed, it is not essential that one should have gone through college. The greatest institution in the world is the University of Books. Its arteries of lifeblood flow in every portion of the world.

No matter what branch of knowledge desired, you will find it all outlined in the University of Books. There is no excuse for ignorance, anywhere, at any time, and there are no limitations made as to the acquirement of knowledge. There are books everywhere. Select them at will, and according to your taste and inclination. Surround yourself with them. Make them your silent friends.

You can go on scientific expeditions, vacation haunts, and you can learn about the nationalities of all the people of this earth through books. I am now absorbed in a book, writen in 1924—"A Passage to India" by E. M. Forster. It is an absorbingly interesting book, in which India is described in the form of a novel. India is talked about, discussed, and its people described. You feel as though you were a participant. Ten years ago I read another book about India, called "The Rains Came," by Louis Bromfield, one of the finest books that this popular writer has ever written.

Abraham Lincoln never entered the halls of higher learning, but he did enter the greater University of Books, and his writings, speeches and proclamations, as President, are models of form and the selection of words, as well as noble and inspiring in thought. Thoreau, on the other hand was a graduate of Harvard, but he has written that he gained far more from his attendance upon classes of learning in the wider field of Nature—a field that he helped to populate with books for this great University of Books, and most of them classics!

You can never be alone if you have an interesting and instructive book near at hand. Books are living voices that are never silenced, even though we do speak of them as silent friends! And we may have them with us, no matter where we go, and never should we ever be without them. They should forever remain as our inseparables.

Truman Complicates His Foreign Relief Problem

By putting the issue of high prices at the top of the agenda for the special session of Congress, President Truman has complicated the foreign relief problem. Yet the two problems are linked in the public mind.

Western Europe must have emergency food relief if it is to be spared economic collapse and political chaos during the coming winter. But the rising American price scale—let's be honest and call it inflation—is the chief concern of the American public today. And most people believe, though the President denies, that Government buying for foreign relief is on of the main causes of high food prices at home. How to cut this Gordian knot is the problem.

Mr. Truman has not said what price-control program he intends to lay before Congress. His views, and those of his cabinet, in the past have been vague and conflicting. In one off-the-cuff statement, the President blamed high food prices on "speculators." Yet, when trading margins were sharply raised on the Chicago grain market at his request, the price of wheat continued its upward march. Secretary of Labor Schwellenbach assured the AFL convention that industry's high profits, not labor's high wages, are the root cause of high prices, though weekly wages have doubled since before the war and the total of wages and salaries paid out has nearly trebled.

Evidently Mr. Truman does not agree with his Secretary of Labor. In a recent talk on the food problem and again in his radio address last Friday night, the President remarked that "most of the upward pressure on prices is the result of competition among Americans for scarce goods." At the same time, he minimized the effect of exports on American prices. At another time, however, he pleaded for a saving of 100,000,000 bushels of wheat to reduce inflationary pressures." If the saving of 100,000,000 bushels will reduce inflation, will not the proposed export of several hundred million bushels increase it?

It is quite evident that the President and his cabinet are confused. Worse, they are looking around desperately for some politically safe method of halting inflation.

When Congress returns to Washington, we hope it will realize that there are two basic reasons today for high food prices: (1) increased demand at home, owing to higher consumer incomes, and from abroad, owing to the dislocation of war; and (2) decreased supply, in the United States and Western Europe.

Prices will not come down until supply is increased or demand is reduced. All the political strategems in the world cannot get rid of that fundamental economic fact.

Senator Taft Tosses His Hat Into Presidential Ring

Senator Robert H. Taft's announcement that he will be a candidate for the Republican Presidential nomination is scarcely a surprise to politically-minded people.

Things have been going that way ever since he said last July that he would become a candidate if his trip to the West indicated the sense of such a proceeding. He said at the time that he didn't want to make the run just for the exercise.

Few men in American life have grown as steadily and rapidly in public esteem as Senator Taft has grown during the past few months. He used to get a very bad "press." Now he probably has the best press in America. He has plenty of critics; sometimes his meetings are picketed, but even those who show evidence of disliking him have to admit his candor and sincerity of purpose is unquestioned. Senator Taft has laid out a program of public action, the frankness, courage and intelligence of which the people are coming more and more to understand and appreciate.

Nobody knows what the outcome of Senator Taft's presidential candidacy will be. The Republican National Convention of 1948 is still a very open affair, as the Republican Convention of 1940 was a few hours, even a few minutes, before it made its nomination. But the Ohio Senator is plainly gaining in popular support. He surprised the politicos by leading all other candidates in a Kansas poll recently. It is safe to say at the present time that he has the qualities that should make him an able, courageous and patriotic Persident, and that the atmosphere as he starts his campaign is generally good.

Retreat From Reality

In view of the world situation, it is difficult to understand the report from a government source in London that 700 additional German industrial plants valued at $1,000,000,000 in the American and British zones of Germany are to be dismantled for reparations under the Potsdam agreement.

It must be remembered that at Potsdam 25 per cent of the dismantled plants were allotted to Russia —10 per cent directly and 15 per cent in exchange for reciprocal deliveries of food, coal, potash, zinc, timber, clay and oil products. And Russia was given a specific claim to capital equipment "from the metallurgical, chemical and machine manufacturing industries"—all with a high war potential.

Because of the present Russian attitude toward the United States and Great Britain, renewal of reparations shipments to the East must be regarded, not as sharing with an ally, but as arming a potential foe—somewhat like prewar scrap and oil deliveries to Japan.

The United States has no intention of welshing on its pledges, but it would seem entirely unreasonable to hold Soviet reparations from the American zone in escrow until Russia shows some inclination to discuss settlement of her lend-lease obligations or to abide by the other Potsdam decisions—in particular the pledge that Germany should be treated as an economic unit.

It would be different if these instruments of production were being diverted entirely to the needs of other Allies who are cooperating with the European recovery program. But every machine shipped out of Western Europe will mean that American taxpayers must spend that much more to feed jobless Germans and to rebuild European production.

Senator Capper says the government at Washington costs the people more than they pay for food, but most persons would rather eat than look at Truman's picture.

DEAFNESS DUE TO ALLERGY

ALLERGY can manifest itself in many ways and most of us are familiar with its most common forms: bronchial asthma, hay fever, migraine, hives, and eczema. Furthermore people with these afflictions react to a great variety of substances and in the majority, more than one agent is at fault.

There are rare types of allergies which undoubtedly escape detection. Recently Ruchs and Almour described an unusual case that is one for the books. The patient had been highly sensitive for many years, suffering from repeated bouts of hay fever, bronchial asthma, migraine, and dizziness. One aspirin, for example, was capable of producing a violent attack of asthma. He had been deaf in the right ear since childhood and several years ago he suddenly lost the hearing in his left ear for a period of two hours. This was strange but since recovery took place he gave the matter little attention.

Shortly thereafter he had a recurrence, then another. The episodes became more frequent so that finally he was developing intermittent sieges of deafness every four days. Each was preceded by a sense of fullness in both ears following which the acuity in the left ear became progressively worse. The attack usually lasted from three to five days and was accompanied by itching within the ears. Hearing would return soon after he experienced a sensation as tho fluid were gushing into the back of his throat from the ears.

Numerous tests were performed and during an attack a 49 per cent loss could be elicted in the left ear; between times it amounted to 7 per cent. This was the only abnormality that could be found as the remainder of the examination always proved negative. Ultimately it was decided that perhaps allergy was responsible. Skin tests showed that he was extremely susceptible to wheat, oats, barley, codfish, peanuts, peaches, white potatoes, cucumbers, and tomatoes. There was also a reaction to grasses, weeds, orris root, dust, feathers, and several animal danders.

On avoiding contact with the offending inhalants and eliminating the foods that bother him, marked improvement occurred. Apparently after inhaling or consuming one of these allergens, a certain part of the inner ear became swollen and pressed upon a vital hearing structure.

An allied type of disorder is Meniere's syndrome in which deafness is usually accompanied by dizziness, head noises, and nausea. In many instances the cause is not known and a suitable treatment is lacking. Most authorities feel that a certain number of victims are susceptible to histamine and here, benadryl or other anti-histaminic preparations may be helpful. Sometimes it is possible to desensitize against the offending substance.

Senator Taft To Hear Reports On Price Probe; John L. Lewis May Take Another Walk; Dan Tobin Tired Of Catering To Miners' Boss

Says DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — Senator Taft has decided to summon his joint Committee on the Economic Report to Washington three days ahead of the special session to review America's No. 1 domestic problem—high prices.

Taft will hear reports from Congressional teams which probed the cost of living across the country. Most exhaustive study was done in the east by a subcommittee, under Vermont's conscientious Senator Ralph Flanders. His important findings have not been boiled down upon paper yet, but this column can reveal that he will stress the following:

1. More than anything else food prices are keeping the cost of living up. Normally one-third of the family budget goes for food, and this has been boosted from one-half to two-thirds.

2. Profiteering by food dealers is at a minimum despite record income. Wild speculation on the grain, hog and beef markets has done much more to push up prices.

3. Statistics do not give a true picture of wage earnings. The national average is right, but many special groups are low. Those suffering most are—teachers, Negroes, white-collar workers and others within state boundaries who do not get the benefit of Federal laws and prictices affecting interstate commerce.

Senator Flanders, though a Republican, frankly believes that drastic action will be necessary to curb the cost of living.

Will John L. Lewis Walk Out Again

Labor insiders say it is only a matter of time until John L. Lewis takes another walk from the American Federation of Labor. That rough sitdown he got at the San Francisco convention was too much for the big miner's pride.

As scrappy George Lynch of the AFL Pattern Makers Union expressed it:

"John L. never pays money into anything he can't boss. Not for long. He broke with the New Deal when he found he couldn't control FDR with miners' funds.

"And unless I miss my guess," continued Lynch, "Lewis won't continue paying per-capita dues to the AFL after that licking he got in San Francisco."

Lewis is sore at practically everybody in top AFL councils, including his erstwhile crony, Bill Hutcheson, the carpenters' boss, who deserted him in the crucial battle over Lewis's stubborn refusal to sign a Commnist "disclaimer" on behalf of his union.

The miners' boss went to San Francisco intending to demand a roll call on this issue, but changed his mind when he was unable to rally support from Hutcheson and others.

Lewis accuses Dan Tobin, astute president of the Teamsters' Union, of being the chief factor in his downfall. Real fact is, however, that all the leaders, big and little, were fed up with the mine boss's bulldozing, with the exception of Matt Burns of the paper workers and Philip Randolph of the Pullman porters. They supported Lewis down the line.

Tobin's main effort against Lewis was on the question of whether the mine leader should remain on the AFL Executive Council. Tobin hit the ceiling when he heard that AFL President Bill Green had been trying to persuade Lewis not to quit.

"If he's sore and wants to quit, let him quit," Tobin angrily informed Green. "I want harmony myself, but not if we have to crawl on our knees to get it. There will be no more of this catering to Lewis, if you want my support."

That ended that, and probably will mean that Lewis walks again.

Johnston and McNutt

THE motion picture industry is repeating the error made when it hired Wendell Willkie to cover up. This time they have hired Eric Johnston and Paul McNutt, but there will be no cover up. It is not because Johnston and McNutt are less competent, but that times have changed. The American people have heard the voice of Vishinsky. They have witnessed the downfall of a large number of countries in Europe because their peoples were not vigilant. They want to make sure that no so-called American is working for the international conspiracy that Vishinsky represents at the United Nations. Talk about a synthetic "scare" is silly after what has been happening to this world since V-J Day.

If the motion picture industry had any competence at public relations, they would favor the Thomas Committee investigation and let the chips fall where they may.

Instead they are employing Eric Johnston and Paul McNutt to sign full page advertisements in newspapers, to issue interviews, to threaten the Thomas Committee and to get themselves and their photographs in the newspapers along with a heterogeneous group of mummers and directors and things who prefer citations for contempt rather than to tell their true names and to answer whether they are or are not Communists, which might land them in a perjury charge.

The impression which the Johnston and McNutt activity gives is that, on behalf of the motion picture industry, they are engaged in a publicity barrage designed to detract attention from men and women who may expose themselves as Communists. The non-Communist or anti-Communist has nothing to fear. After all, decent men are not afraid to answer the question: Are you married or single?

Since the learned Judge Fuld of the New York State Court of Appeals has made it difficult to describe a known Communist as such unless the Communist is willing to produce a party card, which he will not do, the only protection the United States has against a Russian Fifth Column and a vast body of American Quislings is such an investigation as the Thomas Committee is conducting and the work of the FBI. These creatures now have judicial protection to do their work in this state, fearful only of the Thomas Committee and the FBI.

It is all very simple before the Thomas Committee: If a man is not a Communist, an agent of Soviet Russia and has never been one, and has no vile record, all he needs to do is to so state under oath. I would be willing to take such an oath at any time. So would most Americans. The only ones who dare not take such an oath are those who fear the charge of perjury and its consequences.

They can make a lot of noise about freedom of thought, but what we face is the corruption of our children, the use of the most popular medium of amusement, one that appeals particularly to young people, by an enemy. If it can be proved, after investigation, that the movies have not been used corruptly, then that is to the credit of the motion picture industry. If it is established, as some say, that only a handful of writers, actors and directors are involved in this indecency, then it is an advantage, for we know who they are. If it is found that the objectionable characterizations and the objectionable sequences were done as war propafianda under the stimulus of soft-minded public officials, then we ought to know about that and who the officials were or are. The fact that villains on the screen are generally bankers or business men is definitely designed to stimulate opposition to the American economic system.

At any rate, let us have whatever facts can be brought to the surface, so that Americans may be safeguarded against the forces that have wrecked and ruined country after country in Europe.

Do we have to declare war to catch traitors? Do we have to spill the blood of our sons because we wish to safeguard the jobs of miserable creatures who put their own country last? Every Communist is an enemy of the United States of America and has been uninterruptedly since October, 1917.

Congressmen Will Insist On Safeguards To Marshall Plan

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29—While there will be no partisanship as such in the forthcoming session of Congress in considering the Marshall Plan, there will be plenty of politics behind the scenes.

In a sense, the tariff fights of old will be revived. Various states which may see their situations impaired will offer opposition to those proposals which can affect them adversely.

It would not be surprising, either, to find labor-union leaders ranged alongside of business men in opposition to those features of the Marshall Plan which look toward the building up of European competitors to American producers, especially in Latin-American markets.

Thus if, as planned, eight million tons of steel are exported to Britain to supplement her existing production, this is bound to result in a flow of finished products to parts of the world which American sellers had expected to reach.

In general the idea of supplying raw materials to European countries to use in competition with America has back of it the theory that the Europeans must be able to sell in world markets or at least to recover some of their pre-war markets. But American producers, looking toward the time when surpluses may exist for them—particularly when domestic demand is satisfied—have been eyeing these same markets as an outlet for their excess production of the future.

Arguments To Be As Before

The argument will run along the same lines as that which is heard from the protectionists when a tariff reduction is proposed. As a matter of fact, if certain tariff barriers were removed so that Americans might purchase more goods from the rest of the world, there would be no need for any Marshall Plans.

The protectionist doctrine will come in for attack in more than one respect as the Marshall Plan unfolds. It will certainly be interesting to see how Senators and Representatives vote on the issue of granting large quantities of American goods—already short and in demand at home—to Europe, while domestic users wait.

The proposal to increase the exports of farm equipment is a case in point. Secretary Krug urges that 50 per cent more than current export be shipped. The farm-equipment industry has felt severe criticism because it has been exporting 12 per cent. An 18 per cent figure might arouse the farm belt. Yet the European countries do need farm equipment to plow and cultivate their fields so that America will not have to send so many tons of food for relief purposes indefinitely.

Some expert timing will be necessary so that the equipment does not lie idle for months abroad between seasons while American farmers wait. This is only one example of the political repercussions that can flow from the Marshall Plan if it is not properly synchronized with American needs.

Incidentally, too many people have been given extravagant impressions about the sums of money to be voted. Much that is authorized will not be spent in the next year, because Europe cannot digest and manage in twelve months all the aid which it is repeatedly set forth that America is to furnish.

Congress Not To Give Blank Check

When the whole program is fully analyzed by Congress, the sums voted will not exceed four and a half billion dollars and may not be as much as three billion. This is because, unless every part of the plan is safeguarded and there is some proof of the effectiveness that can be confidently expected, Congress will not vote it. The administration's theory that congress will write a blank check to conduct a world-wide "pump priming" will be dispelled when the congressional committees get down to actual consideration of the program.

Politically, the administration will not be able to cry that opponents do not favor the Marshall Plan. They will favor it but they will insist that safeguards be written into the appropriations so as to insure certain methods of disbursing the money and the goods. Otherwise, the Marshall Plan will be stalled indefinitely and stopgap aid will be handed out on a scanty basis in separate pieces of legislation.

Congress Action On High Prices Seen By Writer As Imperative

By MARK SULLIVAN

After President Truman's call last week for a special session of Congress, some political leaders gave out reactions. Many, more or less offhand, were more related to timeliness than to a considered program. Some had to do with political aspects—did Mr. Truman's call have any relations to next year's Presidential campaign, what would be the political effect, how would the parties line up in the special session? That lasted only three days. By the beginning of this week, definite prospects began to emerge.

One has to do with priority, as between the two purposes named by Mr. Truman in his call, aid for Europe and high prices at home. Senator Taft, head of the Republican Policy Committee, implied that foreign aid should come first. He said that Congress could act on the immediate aid to Europe for the winter by December 19th, which would be a month after the special session begins.

Taft Carries Weight With Congress

Senator Taft carries much weight with the Republicans in Congress and with Congress as a whole. One reason for his influence is that he refrains from purporting to speak with any authority. His leadership is the sort that gets assent by the force of his ideas and arrives at formal policy after consultation. He has called a meeting of the Senate Republican Policy Committee for November 14th, three days before the special session begins. Thereafter the formal Republican policy will be known—both as to giving foreign aid priority over domestic high prices, and as to just how much is to be done about foreign aid at this special session, and how much is to wait for the regular session in January and later.

On the part of the Democrats there will be, as respects foreign aid, a disposition to cooperate with the Republicans. Democratic Senator McGrath of Rhode Island, who has leadership through being Chairman of the Democratic National Committee, said this week that "I would like to think of this session as completely outside the field of partisan politics." On the part of leaders of both parties there is a strong disposition to extend to the matter of aid for Europe the bipartisanship which has been practiced for some four years about foreign affairs generally.

As the program for the special session presents itself to the members of Congress and to the people, here are two subjects of legislation, foreign aid and domestic high prices, both emergency in nature. Many in Congress and much of the public will think that high prices is the prior emergency, it is very serious and close to every individual. But foreign aid is an emergency vital to the world conflict between us on one side and Russia and Communism on the other. In this conflict, France and Italy have in recent elections turned strikingly away from Communism. In this course they would be greatly encouraged by aid from us, correspondingly discouraged by lack of it or uncertainty about it. In Washington officials responsible for our foreign policy are almost passionate in their anxiety about aid to Europe.

Marshall Plan By Piecemeal

A program that might emerge in the special session would begin by giving the immediate aid to Europe for the winter very promptly. As to the further and larger aid called for by the Marshall plan, there is practically no possibility of this being done as a whole during the special session. Conceivably a beginning might be made, accompanied by a declaration of policy, which would give assurance to the European nations. But the Marshall plan as a whole covers vastly more than the amounts of funds involved, including questions of policy and methods. The plan is a continuing thing, it must meet changing conditions as they arise, phases of it will be debated and acted on by Congress for years.

That Congress should act on high prices and threat of inflation very soon is imperative. Postponement of it or undue subordination of it would lead to a disturbance of confidence which of itself, if it should develop, would be dangerous. It is hardly supposable that any leaders in either party should think that this subject can be deferred during the political campaign which is only seven months ahead. To suppose this would be toying at once with personal delusion and national danger.

Today's Talk

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

University Of Books

To be highly informed, it is not essential that one should have gone through college. The greatest institution in the world is the University of Books. Its arteries of lifeblood flow in every portion of the world.

No matter what branch of knowledge desired, you will find it all outlined in the University of Books. There is no excuse for ignorance, anywhere, at any time, and there are no limitations made as to the acquirement of knowledge. There are books everywhere. Select them at will, and according to your taste and inclination. Surround yourself with them. Make them your silent friends.

You can go on scientific expeditions, vacation haunts, and you can learn about the nationalities of all the people of this earth through books. I am now absorbed in a book, writen in 1924—"A Passage to India" by E. M. Forster. It is an absorbingly interesting book, in which India is described in the form of a novel. India is talked about, discussed, and its people described. You feel as though you were a participant. Ten years ago I read another book about India, called "The Rains Came," by Louis Bromfield, one of the finest books that this popular writer has ever written.

Abraham Lincoln never entered the halls of higher learning, but he did enter the greater University of Books, and his writings, speeches and proclamations, as President, are models of form and the selection of words, as well as noble and inspiring in thought. Thoreau, on the other hand was a graduate of Harvard, but he has written that he gained far more from his attendance upon classes of learning in the wider field of Nature—a field that he helped to populate with books for this great University of Books, and most of them classics!

You can never be alone if you have an interesting and instructive book near at hand. Books are living voices that are never silenced, even though we do speak of them as silent friends! And we may have them with us, no matter where we go, and never should we ever be without them. They should forever remain as our inseparables.

Red Blood Cells Must Be Kept Up If You Want To Feel Alive

Thousands Now Regaining Old Time Pep, Vigor and Drive By Releasing Vibrant Energy To Every Muscle, Fibre, Cell

Overwork, undue worry, and lack of certain foods often reduces the red-blood strength—and starved, weak, puny blood just hasn't the power to keep up your energy and drive.

Every day—every hour—millions of tiny red-blood-cells must pour forth from the marrow of your bones to replace those that are worn-out. A low blood count may affect you in several ways: no appetite, underweight, no energy, a run-down condition, lack of resistance to infection and disease.

To get real relief you must keep up your blood strength. Medical authorities, by analysis of the blood, have by positive proof shown that SSS Tonic is amazingly effective in building up low blood strength in non-organic nutritional anemia. This is due to the SSS Tonic formula which contains special and potent activating ingredients.

Also, SSS Tonic helps you enjoy the food you eat by increasing the gastric digestive juice when it is non-organically too little or scanty—thus the stomach will have little cause to get balky with gas, bloat and give off that sour food taste.

Don't wait! Energize your body with rich, red-blood. Start on SSS Tonic now. As vigorous blood surges throughout your whole body, greater freshness and strength should make you eat better, sleep better, feel better, work better, play better, have a healthy color glow in your skin—firm flesh fill out hollow places. Millions of bottles sold. Get a bottle from your drug store. SSS Tonic helps Build Sturdy Health.

Red Blood Cells Must Be Kept Up If You Want To Feel Alive

Thousands Now Regaining Old Time Pep, Vigor and Drive By Releasing Vibrant Energy To Every Muscle, Fibre, Cell

Overwork, undue worry, and lack of certain foods often reduces the red-blood strength—and starved, weak, puny blood just hasn't the power to keep up your energy and drive.

Every day—every hour—millions of tiny red-blood-cells must pour forth from the marrow of your bones to replace those that are worn-out. A low blood count may affect you in several ways: no appetite, underweight, no energy, a run-down condition, lack of resistance to infection and disease.

To get real relief you must keep up your blood strength. Medical authorities, by analysis of the blood, have by positive proof shown that SSS Tonic is amazingly effective in building up low blood strength in non-organic nutritional anemia. This is due to the SSS Tonic formula which contains special and potent activating ingredients.

Also, SSS Tonic helps you enjoy the food you eat by increasing the gastric digestive juice when it is non-organically too little or scanty—thus the stomach will have little cause to get balky with gas, bloat and give off that sour food taste.

Don't wait! Energize your body with rich, red-blood. Start on SSS Tonic now. As vigorous blood surges throughout your whole body, greater freshness and strength should make you eat better, sleep better, feel better, work better, play better, have a healthy color glow in your skin—firm flesh fill out hollow places. Millions of bottles sold. Get a bottle from your drug store. SSS Tonic helps Build Sturdy Health.

Collins Loses Appeal In Case On Slot Machines

Court Affirms Fine By Trial Magistrate

Silas O. Collins, Williams Road, lost his criminal appeal case in Circuit Court yesterday, when Chief Judge William A. Huster and Associate Judge George Henderson upheld the lower court's sentence of $250 fine and costs for possession of gaming devices.

Collins was arrested and convicted several months ago when sheriff's deputies confiscated 15 slot machines stored in his home after receiving an anonymous telephone call. The defendant told the Court yesterday he had made the call because he didn't want the machines in his place.

Norman Dee Beglin, who owned the machines and was charged with the ownership was summoned by the Court in the case. Beglin told the Court there are three machines missing, but Collins denied this, saying all were confiscated.

After a lengthy conference between the two judges, Henderson announced the fine would be the same as fixed by the lower court, and Collins was released upon payment of appeal costs.

The slot machines in question are now stored at the county jail and are to be destroyed by order of the Court, it was learned.

A jury returned a verdict of guilty in the appeal case of Robert Forbeck, who had been convicted in Trial Magistrate Court and fined $100 on a drunk driving charge and $150 on a charge of driving on a revoked license. The Court suspended sentence of six months in jail yesterday, on condition that the defendant stay sober and obey motor vehicle laws.

Forebeck was arrested in August on Pennsylvania Avenue after a truck he owned crashed into a parked car. Forebeck was found staggering near the scene, according to testimony of City Officers John Powers and William Valentine. They said he denied driving the truck.

Testimony by witnesses yesterday, including the two city officers, Detective Thomas See, Virginia Forebeck, the accused's sister, and Paul and Bernard Ziler, his cousins, failed to produce any witness who had seen Forebeck operating the vehicle, with the exception of conflicting statements by Forebeck and Bernard Ziler. Both admitted being in the truck, and each said the other was driving.

On an appeal hearing of a decision by Trial Magistrate James P. Kenney, of Frostburg, Wilbur Stevenson, Frostburg taxi operator, was convicted of assault on his wife and sentenced to six months in the House of Correction, entered a plea of guilty to the assault.

Edward J. Ryan, appearing for Stevenson, said that the accused "in my mind is guilty of assault," but cited extenuating circumstances tending to show that Stevenson and his wife both were highly nervous and couldn't live together, a condition neither of them could help.

A further hearing of the case was ordered by the court, which observed that while the plea was "guilty" the statements concerning the situation by Ryan tended to show that he was not guilty.

Paul M. Fletcher conducted the state's prosecution and through Mrs. Stevenson established that she was the victim of an assault and confired Ryan's statement concerning the domestic differences.

Given Suspended Sentence

Associate Judge George Henderson then announced the verdict. He found Stevenson guilty and sentenced him to serve two years in the House of Correction, with sentence suspended on condition that to remain away from his wife, does not molest her, gives her choice of two unincumbered taxicabs owned by him and pays her $10 a week for support for herself and three children.

Robert Emmett McGreevy on an appeal from Westernport Magistrate John Laughlin, who found him guilty of being a habitual drunkard and sentenced him to six months to the House of Correction, received 60 days in the County Jail in a sentence revision.

McGreevy, a carpenter, testified that he had a monthly income of $100, and that he was arrested while sober. He said he had been convicted of drunkenness twice in the past year.

Oscar Gurley

ment, Gurley agreed to stay out of the new automobile business for three years.

Lehmer and Jaskulek will take possession of the Gurley Garage November 1, and will operate the business under the name of J. and L. Garage. They will retain the Chrysler-Plymouth Agency which Gurley has held for a number of years.

Both men are veterans of World War II. Jaskulek was a first lieutenant in the Airborne Infantry and saw duty in the ETO. Lehmer was a captain in the Signal Corps. They came to Cumberland October 1, and opened a used car lot on South Centre Street, which they operated while negotiating the sale with Gurley.

Lehmer was formerly general manager, and Jaskulek general sales manager of Golden Brothers Garage in Reading, Pa., and have about 10 years experience each, in the automobile business. They expect to move their families here and purchase homes when available, they said last night. Lehmer is a native of Dillsburg, York County, Pa., and his partner is a native of Dayton, Ohio.

Gurley operated the business since May 25, 1926, succeeding the Allegany Motor Company, operating as Umstots' Garage, which had the old Willis-Overland agency. Prior to that time, he operated a garage on Frederick Street from January 4, 1919, where he had the Peerless Agency.

He recalled last night that he has been in the automobile business for about 41 years, starting originally in Meyersdale, Pa., January 4, 1907, and operating there until 1915.

the Buick Motor Car Company, unwhere he worked for 18 months with

Then he went to Flint, Mich., der the supervision of Walter P. Chrysler. With the advent of World War I, Gurley went with Dayton-Wright Aircraft Corporation, Dayton, Ohio, as a test pilot, and flew planes later used by armed forces.

He returned to Cumberland late in 1918, and worked for Scott Kelso until he established his own business on Frederick Street.

Gurley is a native of the Rocky Gap section, this county, and said last night he hopes to remain in Cumberland, although he plans to go to Florida for a vacation for a couple of months.

He said he has not worked out any definite plans, but has always had a desire to "be in the airplane business," and may follow something in that line. "I don't want to retire entirely," he said, "because I couldn't stand to be idle."

be sufficient to meet the Cumberland share.

It is possible the chamber group will ask the council at the meeting to seek further authority from the General Assembly at the special session scheduled next week. Many local residents are said to favor seeking the authority without submitting the question to a referendum, but some city officials are on record as backing a referendum.

One of the main stumbling blocks is the fact that a bond issue of $2,000,000 would bring the city dangerously close to its bond limit of 10 per cent of the assessed valuation.

The current debt is $5,522,000, including that for water which is financed from water income. The Sinking Fund holds nearly $2,000,000 to be applied to bond retirement.

In addition to financing flood protection work from the general fund, it has been proposed that a special levy be made against property owners in the flood area.

Airport Commission Will Meet Tonight

The Municipal Airport Commission is scheduled to meet tonight at 7:30 in the office of Mayor Thomas S. Post for further consideration of future plans for operation of the Cumberland Municipal Airport. The lease with Cumberland Airways expires December 31.

Meanwhile, a local delegation headed by Mayor Post returned early yesterday morning from a visit to Roanoke and expressed much interest in the way the Virginia city operates its airport.

The mayor, City Auditor Arthur B. Gibson, Municipal Airport Commission Secretary T. Donald Shires and Thomas Lohr Richards, a commission member, said they were impressed with the management of the Roanoke airport, which is directly controlled by the city.

Roanoke has invested some $100,000 in buildings, and, with the exception of a small space reserved for the management, all buildings are leased to individual operators.

Mayor Post reported that the field has a "fair-sized" administration building and a control tower manned by a Civil Aeronautics Administration operator. There are three macadam-surfaced runways, but the mayor said runways at the local post seem to be in better condition.

Roanoke Airport Manager M. L. Harris estimated that the private operators do approximately $750,000 worth of business annually. In addition the city is served by American and Eastern Airlines. Roanoke, almost twice the size of Cumberland, has had airline service since 1941. Monthly passenger traffic averages 1,000 persons.

Harris strongly recommended direct city control of an airport. He said there are 12 ports large than Roanoke in Virginia, but that Roanoke is doing double the business of its nearest competitor.

Driver Acquitted Of Manslaughter

Charged with manslaughter by automobile following the highway accident death Sunday of Joseph W. Niner, 76, 119 Blaul Avenue, Donald Varner Carpenter, 33, Frostburg, was found not guilty yesterday in Trial Magistrates Court.

Magistrate Oliver H. Bruce, Jr., held that evidence failed to show Carpenter was grossly negligent in the death of Niner, who died en route to the hospital after he was struck while walking across Route 40 in LaVale.

State Trooper William F. Baker conducted the investigation, State's Attorney Morgan C. Harris prosecuted and William A. Gunter was counsel for Carpenter.

James Arthur Day, 41, Green Spring, W. Va., was sentenced to 20 days in jail yesterday when he was found guilty in Trial Magistrates Court of reckless driving. He was acquitted of a drunken driving charge.

Day was arrested Tuesday afternoon by State Trooper Baker following an accident on Oldtown Road in which his car and the truck driven by Leni H. Cartwright, 62, Oldtown, were damaged.

Collins Loses Appeal In Case On Slot Machines

Court Affirms Fine By Trial Magistrate

Silas O. Collins, Williams Road, lost his criminal appeal case in Circuit Court yesterday, when Chief Judge William A. Huster and Associate Judge George Henderson upheld the lower court's sentence of $250 fine and costs for possession of gaming devices.

Collins was arrested and convicted several months ago when sheriff's deputies confiscated 15 slot machines stored in his home after receiving an anonymous telephone call. The defendant told the Court yesterday he had made the call because he didn't want the machines in his place.

Norman Dee Beglin, who owned the machines and was charged with the ownership was summoned by the Court in the case. Beglin told the Court there are three machines missing, but Collins denied this, saying all were confiscated.

After a lengthy conference between the two judges, Henderson announced the fine would be the same as fixed by the lower court, and Collins was released upon payment of appeal costs.

The slot machines in question are now stored at the county jail and are to be destroyed by order of the Court, it was learned.

A jury returned a verdict of guilty in the appeal case of Robert Forbeck, who had been convicted in Trial Magistrate Court and fined $100 on a drunk driving charge and $150 on a charge of driving on a revoked license. The Court suspended sentence of six months in jail yesterday, on condition that the defendant stay sober and obey motor vehicle laws.

Forebeck was arrested in August on Pennsylvania Avenue after a truck he owned crashed into a parked car. Forebeck was found staggering near the scene, according to testimony of City Officers John Powers and William Valentine. They said he denied driving the truck.

Testimony by witnesses yesterday, including the two city officers, Detective Thomas See, Virginia Forebeck, the accused's sister, and Paul and Bernard Ziler, his cousins, failed to produce any witness who had seen Forebeck operating the vehicle, with the exception of conflicting statements by Forebeck and Bernard Ziler. Both admitted being in the truck, and each said the other was driving.

On an appeal hearing of a decision by Trial Magistrate James P. Kenney, of Frostburg, Wilbur Stevenson, Frostburg taxi operator, was convicted of assault on his wife and sentenced to six months in the House of Correction, entered a plea of guilty to the assault.

Edward J. Ryan, appearing for Stevenson, said that the accused "in my mind is guilty of assault," but cited extenuating circumstances tending to show that Stevenson and his wife both were highly nervous and couldn't live together, a condition neither of them could help.

A further hearing of the case was ordered by the court, which observed that while the plea was "guilty" the statements concerning the situation by Ryan tended to show that he was not guilty.

Paul M. Fletcher conducted the state's prosecution and through Mrs. Stevenson established that she was the victim of an assault and confired Ryan's statement concerning the domestic differences.

Given Suspended Sentence

Associate Judge George Henderson then announced the verdict. He found Stevenson guilty and sentenced him to serve two years in the House of Correction, with sentence suspended on condition that to remain away from his wife, does not molest her, gives her choice of two unincumbered taxicabs owned by him and pays her $10 a week for support for herself and three children.

Robert Emmett McGreevy on an appeal from Westernport Magistrate John Laughlin, who found him guilty of being a habitual drunkard and sentenced him to six months to the House of Correction, received 60 days in the County Jail in a sentence revision.

McGreevy, a carpenter, testified that he had a monthly income of $100, and that he was arrested while sober. He said he had been convicted of drunkenness twice in the past year.

Oscar Gurley

ment, Gurley agreed to stay out of the new automobile business for three years.

Lehmer and Jaskulek will take possession of the Gurley Garage November 1, and will operate the business under the name of J. and L. Garage. They will retain the Chrysler-Plymouth Agency which Gurley has held for a number of years.

Both men are veterans of World War II. Jaskulek was a first lieutenant in the Airborne Infantry and saw duty in the ETO. Lehmer was a captain in the Signal Corps. They came to Cumberland October 1, and opened a used car lot on South Centre Street, which they operated while negotiating the sale with Gurley.

Lehmer was formerly general manager, and Jaskulek general sales manager of Golden Brothers Garage in Reading, Pa., and have about 10 years experience each, in the automobile business. They expect to move their families here and purchase homes when available, they said last night. Lehmer is a native of Dillsburg, York County, Pa., and his partner is a native of Dayton, Ohio.

Gurley operated the business since May 25, 1926, succeeding the Allegany Motor Company, operating as Umstots' Garage, which had the old Willis-Overland agency. Prior to that time, he operated a garage on Frederick Street from January 4, 1919, where he had the Peerless Agency.

He recalled last night that he has been in the automobile business for about 41 years, starting originally in Meyersdale, Pa., January 4, 1907, and operating there until 1915.

the Buick Motor Car Company, unwhere he worked for 18 months with

Then he went to Flint, Mich., der the supervision of Walter P. Chrysler. With the advent of World War I, Gurley went with Dayton-Wright Aircraft Corporation, Dayton, Ohio, as a test pilot, and flew planes later used by armed forces.

He returned to Cumberland late in 1918, and worked for Scott Kelso until he established his own business on Frederick Street.

Gurley is a native of the Rocky Gap section, this county, and said last night he hopes to remain in Cumberland, although he plans to go to Florida for a vacation for a couple of months.

He said he has not worked out any definite plans, but has always had a desire to "be in the airplane business," and may follow something in that line. "I don't want to retire entirely," he said, "because I couldn't stand to be idle."

Gurley is well known here and has been active in civic affairs. He is one of the sponsors of the Cumberland Municipal Airport and is an active member of the Municipal Airport Commission.

State Legislative

be sufficient to meet the Cumberland share.

It is possible the chamber group will ask the council at the meeting to seek further authority from the General Assembly at the special session scheduled next week. Many local residents are said to favor seeking the authority without submitting the question to a referendum, but some city officials are on record as backing a referendum.

One of the main stumbling blocks is the fact that a bond issue of $2,000,000 would bring the city dangerously close to its bond limit of 10 per cent of the assessed valuation.

The current debt is $5,522,000, including that for water which is financed from water income. The Sinking Fund holds nearly $2,000,000 to be applied to bond retirement.

In addition to financing flood protection work from the general fund, it has been proposed that a special levy be made against property owners in the flood area.

Airport Commission Will Meet Tonight

The Municipal Airport Commission is scheduled to meet tonight at 7:30 in the office of Mayor Thomas S. Post for further consideration of future plans for operation of the Cumberland Municipal Airport. The lease with Cumberland Airways expires December 31.

Meanwhile, a local delegation headed by Mayor Post returned early yesterday morning from a visit to Roanoke and expressed much interest in the way the Virginia city operates its airport.

The mayor, City Auditor Arthur B. Gibson, Municipal Airport Commission Secretary T. Donald Shires and Thomas Lohr Richards, a commission member, said they were impressed with the management of the Roanoke airport, which is directly controlled by the city.

Roanoke has invested some $100,000 in buildings, and, with the exception of a small space reserved for the management, all buildings are leased to individual operators.

Mayor Post reported that the field has a "fair-sized" administration building and a control tower manned by a Civil Aeronautics Administration operator. There are three macadam-surfaced runways, but the mayor said runways at the local post seem to be in better condition.

Roanoke Airport Manager M. L. Harris estimated that the private operators do approximately $750,000 worth of business annually. In addition the city is served by American and Eastern Airlines. Roanoke, almost twice the size of Cumberland, has had airline service since 1941. Monthly passenger traffic averages 1,000 persons.

Harris strongly recommended direct city control of an airport. He said there are 12 ports large than Roanoke in Virginia, but that Roanoke is doing double the business of its nearest competitor.

Driver Acquitted Of Manslaughter

Charged with manslaughter by automobile following the highway accident death Sunday of Joseph W. Niner, 76, 119 Blaul Avenue, Donald Varner Carpenter, 33, Frostburg, was found not guilty yesterday in Trial Magistrates Court.

Magistrate Oliver H. Bruce, Jr., held that evidence failed to show Carpenter was grossly negligent in the death of Niner, who died en route to the hospital after he was struck while walking across Route 40 in LaVale.

State Trooper William F. Baker conducted the investigation, State's Attorney Morgan C. Harris prosecuted and William A. Gunter was counsel for Carpenter.

James Arthur Day, 41, Green Spring, W. Va., was sentenced to 20 days in jail yesterday when he was found guilty in Trial Magistrates Court of reckless driving. He was acquitted of a drunken driving charge.

Day was arrested Tuesday afternoon by State Trooper Baker following an accident on Oldtown Road in which his car and the truck driven by Leni H. Cartwright, 62, Oldtown, were damaged.

Moorefield Water System Funds Will Be Available Soon

By MRS. R. E. FISHER

MOOREFIELD—Moorefield Town Council accepted the joint bid of Pohl and Company and Edward G. Taylor Company for $65,000 three per cent bonds to cover the cost of the proposed new water system. The interest on the bonds will be payable semi-annually to the State Sinking Fund Commission and will start maturing in 1960. It will be two months before the funds are actually available.

The report of J. Paul Blundon, consulting engineer, Keyser, on the plans for the proposed water system are being temporarily held up pending a report on soil at the eastern edge of town. The town has had difficulty for years with water pipes disintegrating within five or six years instead of lasting 40 years. An acid condition of the soil or electrolysis in the pipe may be the cause of rusting out and a specialist from Washington will make his recommendation before Blundon submits the plans.

The town of Moorefield received a check for $1,332.64 from the State Liquor Commission, representing the new two per cent saltes tax on liquor sales at the state store for the quarter ending September 30.

The council also took action, effective December 7, that water patrons will be charged the minimum monthly fee whether they are served from the same meter or not. Each family in an apartment will have to pay the minimum, even if they are served from one meter.

Parade Planned Friday

Moorefield's adults and youngsters will compete for $100 in prizes in the second annual Lions Club Halloween parade Friday night. A total of 16 prizes will be awarded by the judges to participants in the parade.

Irvin Bowman, general chairman, has appointed W. D. Wenzel as grand marshal of the parade with R. W. Dispanet, E. L. Puffenberger, W. C. H. Poole, Ira Bassler, Bob McNeill, Stanley Hawse. Elva Shanholtz, Miss Marjorie Crites, Miss June Bright and Miss Edna Bauserman as assistants for the parade committee. Renick McNeill and George T. Leatherman III, will be marshals in the parade.

Moorefield's High School Band and the Wardensville-Mathias High School Band will march in the parade and also the Drill Team of the Moorefield Volunteer Fire Company.

The parade will start at 7:30 o'clock and lights will be installed on Main Street between the Moose Home and the Hotel McNeill. The parade will form on Main Street at 6:30 o'clock, and Main Street will be roped off to all traffic at 6 p. m. A street dance will be held after the parade in the Post Office block on Main Street.

Heads School Patrol

Bobby Wilson has been named captain of the School Boy Safety Patrol at Moorefield Graded School in an election by the student body. Ten boys were elected from grades five and six to form the patrol. Other boys elected to form the patrol were Joe Calhoun, lieutenant, and Lester Smith, Dayton Delawder, John Saville, James Kuykendall, Calvin Hose, Bobby Flynn, John St. Clair, Tommy Kernan and reserve members Bunky Bean and Wendell Wolfe as members.

The patrol, instructed by Cpl. E. L. Roush and Trooper Jim Davis of the West Virginia Department of Public Safety, was installed in an impressive ceremony Thursday and presented with Sam Browne belts and shiny badges. All members of the troop took the safety pledge as did the entire student body.

Following the installation ceremony, County School Superintendent R. S. Dispanet spoke to the boys on the value of the new project, their responsibilities and the fact that they had the opportunity to serve others. The boys were told that it was the only school boy Safety Patrol in the county.

Stanley Hawse, principal of the graded school, outlined the organization and functions of the patrol. The program was held in the school assembly under the auspices of the sixth grade citizenship class. The equipment was provided by the American Automobile Association.

Advice To The Lovelorn

Confused Teen-Ager Has Confusing Alphabetical Problem

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Famous Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage

Dear Miss Fairfax:

Last May M. and I started going with E. and J. I knew them and we double-dated several times. Then M. wouldn't go with E. anymore. She had no reason to stop going with E. I still date J. and now M. wants me to try to get E. back with her.

I would like to know if I should try to get M. back with E. through J. Some people think I am too young to go with J. I do not go steady. I am 16 and J. is 19. My parents approve of me going with J.

Do you think I should stop going with J.? Do you think I should try to get M. and E. back together again? M. is 16 and E. 18. I will appreciate your help. "M.M."

Dear "M.M.":

I don't wonder you are confused. I am, too. And I am not at all sure that I can unscramble your alphabetical problem sufficiently to help you very much.

In any event, it doesn't seem to me like such a critical situation, and if I were you I wouldn't waste any time worrying about "M." and "E." What they do is their own affair, and it is usually best to keep out of other people's business. If you like "J." and want to be friends with him, what any of your other friends do should have nothing to do with the matter.

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I am 13 and a freshman in high school. There are two boys who like me very much and I like both of them. My problem is that these boys want me to say which one I like best and then to go steady with that one.

I have tried to explain that I am too young to go steady and I don't want to. They think this is silly. The whole thing is making me miserable. Please tell me how I can make them understand that I like them both and would like to go with both of them, but don't want to be tied down to going steady with anyone.

"RIGHT IN THE MIDDLE".

Dear "Right In The Middle":

You are very sensible indeed to feel as you do about this matter, and I am glad that, at 13, you have such a wise head on your shoulders. Don't let any foolish boys turn it. Keep right on telling them what you know to be the truth—that you are too young for going steady.

If they can see your point, and both of them have good times with you, then I would not worry about them, but just let them go their way.

Advice To The Lovelorn

Confused Teen-Ager Has Confusing Alphabetical Problem

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Famous Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage

Dear Miss Fairfax:

Last May M. and I started going with E. and J. I knew them and we double-dated several times. Then M. wouldn't go with E. anymore. She had no reason to stop going with E. I still date J. and now M. wants me to try to get E. back with her.

I would like to know if I should try to get M. back with E. through J. Some people think I am too young to go with J. I do not go steady. I am 16 and J. is 19. My parents approve of me going with J.

Do you think I should stop going with J.? Do you think I should try to get M. and E. back together again? M. is 16 and E. 18. I will appreciate your help. "M.M."

Dear "M.M.":

I don't wonder you are confused. I am, too. And I am not at all sure that I can unscramble your alphabetical problem sufficiently to help you very much.

In any event, it doesn't seem to me like such a critical situation, and if I were you I wouldn't waste any time worrying about "M." and "E." What they do is their own affair, and it is usually best to keep out of other people's business. If you like "J." and want to be friends with him, what any of your other friends do should have nothing to do with the matter.

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I am 13 and a freshman in high school. There are two boys who like me very much and I like both of them. My problem is that these boys want me to say which one I like best and then to go steady with that one.

I have tried to explain that I am too young to go steady and I don't want to. They think this is silly. The whole thing is making me miserable. Please tell me how I can make them understand that I like them both and would like to go with both of them, but don't want to be tied down to going steady with anyone.

"RIGHT IN THE MIDDLE".

Dear "Right In The Middle":

You are very sensible indeed to feel as you do about this matter, and I am glad that, at 13, you have such a wise head on your shoulders. Don't let any foolish boys turn it. Keep right on telling them what you know to be the truth—that you are too young for going steady.

If they can see your point, and both of them have good times with you, then I would not worry about them, but just let them go their way.

Bankers To Hold Session Here On Farm Problems

Cumberland will be host today for the meeting of Group No. 1, Maryland Bankers' Association, which includes Allegany and Garret Counties, held at 3 p. m. at the Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club.

Sponsored jointly by the association and the Federal Reserve Bank of Richmond, the meeting is one of a series called to study the current agricultural situation in Maryland and means of aiding and improving it.

John H. Mosner, cashier of Second National Bank and chairman of the session, announced the speakers and program as follows:

Horace G. Porter, agricultural economist of the Federal Reserve Bank of Richmond, will be the first speaker when a discussion is held on "Economic Trends as They Affect Agriculture."

"The Future of The Dairy Industry," will be discussed by Dr. G. M. Cairns, head of the Dairy Department of the University of Maryland.

R. F. McHenry, Allegany county farm agent, and J. H. Carter, Garrett county farm agent, are scheduled to discuss "An Agriculture Program for the Area."

Hubert P. Burdette, chairman of the committee of agriculture for the Maryland Bankers' Association and president of the First National Bank of Mt. Airy, Md., will discuss "A Program For Bankers In the Field of Agriculture."

"Bank Credit In Agriculture" will be the subject of Edward A. Wayne, vice-president of the Federal Reserve Bank of Richmond.

The Group 1 business session will be under the chairmanship of Mosner following a dinner at 6 p. m. with the Federal Reserve Bank of Richmond, Baltimore branch, as host.

The session here will be the last of the series. Frederick was host to the bankers yesterday. Previously, meetings were held at Centreville, Berlin and Annapolis.

QUARTERLY PAYROLL TAX IS DUE OCT. 31

On or before midnight, October 31, employers who are subject to the insurance provisions of the Social Security Act must send to the Government their quarterly payroll tax returns covering July, August, and September, officials at the local Social Security office announced yesterday.

This law applies to every business or industrial establishment, even though it has only one employe, either full or part time. Employers can save themselves time and trouble by making certain that the name, account number, and wage earnings of each worker employed during July, August, and September are shown on their tax report, the Social Security office said.

Employes can save themselves and their families the possible loss of future benefits if they cooperate with their employers by seeing that they have the name and number exactly as it appears on the account number card. Employes who have not given this information to their employers should do so at once, while those who have no Social Security account number card should apply for one immediately.

Applications can be obtained from the local Post Office and the completed applications should be sent to the Social Security Administration, 309 Post Office Building, Cumberland, Md. As soon as the card is received, it should be shown to each employer worker for during July, August, and September.

PCA Seeks Abolition Of Maryland Sales Tax

The local chapter of the Progressive Citizens of America, at a meeting Tuesday night, outlined plans to seek abolition of the sales tax in Maryland and to campaign for rent control in this city, Mrs. Diana Fiske, secretary, said.

The group, she added, will circulate petitions asking legislators to repeal the tax during the coming legislative session.

"The State of Maryland," Rev. Richard H. Bready, vice chairman of PCA, said, "has passed the sales tax, hitting hardest at the small wage earner, on the grounds of insolvency of the state treasury. And yet our state levies corporate and inheritance taxes of only one per cent the lowest in the country. Our petition will point out to the legislature this disparity."

The meeting voted to protest to Governor Lane the composition of the area rent control advisory board on the grounds that of the board's five members, four are representatives of the interests of the landlords, and only one is a representative of consumers and labor.

PITCHING HORSESHOES by Billy Rose

"Did you ever take a guy down into the cellar and kick him around a little to make him talk?" I asked Mike Romano.

Billy Rose

My favorite detective winced. "Never kicked anybody in my life," he said. "Kicking guys is bad for the feet. And speaking of feet . . ."

"Never mind," I cut in hastily. "I'll take your word for it."

Mike's feet are an old joke around Broadway. The flatfoot is sensitive about being called a flatfoot and is always looking for an excuse to take his shoes off and show what perfect arches he has.

"Never used a rubber hose either," Mike continued. "I operate on the theory that the brain is mightier than the billy-club. Take, for instance, the recent case of the shoplifter who was robbing that Fifth Avenue store. I worked that one out without even saying 'hello' to the criminal."

"Give," I said, as I ordered up an extra large cut of the detective's favorite cherry cheesecake.

"Actually there wasn't much to it," said Mike. "Headquarters got a call for help from one of those ladies' shops which aren't interested in a customer unless he has a coat of arms or money. When I walked in and saw the prices they were charging, I felt like arresting the manager.

"The head of the store was a fancy-looking gent with striped pants and a monocle in his throat. You know the type—women love him, and the Department wishes it had his fingerprints. He told me that stuff was disappearing every day without a sales slip—sometimes without even being wrapped.

"I told him I'd drift around the store casual-like, and that it was only a question of time before I grabbed the culprit. Fancy-pants told me that wouldn't do. The shop didn't want any vulgar newspaper publicity."

"How did you solve it, Dr. Watson?" I asked. "Was it really the butler?"

Mike sniffed at his coffee as if it were eighteen-year-old Red Hackle. After wolfing down most of the cup, he went on. "The next day, I had them wrap up several attractive packages and plant them around on the counters. Late that afternoon, a distinguished-looking biddy walked into the store. She was carrying several small parcels. She set them down near one of the planted packages and asked to be shown some handbags. After inspecting several, she told the salesman none of them matched the shoes she had just bought. She picked up all of the packages, including the plant, and walked out of the store."

"Did you follow her?" I asked the detective.

"It wasn't necessary," said the man with the perfect arches. "I walked into his office and told the manager he could throw away his aspirin—the crime wave was over."

"I don't get it," I said. "You let the biddy walk out with the merchandise."

Sam's a Matrimony Expert

Sam Abernathy never intended to be a matrimony expert, but he hit the nail on the head the other day when he said:

"What marriage really needs is more open minds and a lot fewer open mouths."

Sam may not think much of his missus' choice of hats or her habit of serving watercress and cream cheese salad. But he keeps his mouth shut (I mean, he just uses it to eat the salad). And the missus never criticizes Sam's affection for that worn-out chair before the fire, and his mellow glass of beer and pipe at the end of a long day.

From where I sit, that prescription would apply to most human relationships. Criticism rarely rouses anything but resentment. But an open mind—whether it's applied to a woman's choice of hats, or a husband's preference for a pipe and a moderate glass of beer or two—leads to the conclusion that there's right on both sides.

BAGS 1,500 POUNDER—Harry J. Barton, well known dairyman and sportsman of Pinto, Md., is shown with the 1,500-pound bull moose which he bagged during a recent 10-day hunting trip for big game in Ontario, Canada. Barton was accompanied by his nephew, Charles Fesion of Lima, Ohio, and a guide. The broadly palmated antlers show nine points each, indicating that the bull is nine-years old, according to Barton. It was Barton's second moose in as many years in Canada. In 1946 he brought down a two-year-old weighing 880 pounds. The Savage 30-06 rifle that Barton used for the kill is shown resting on the moose's antlers. Two shots fired at approximately 200 yards killed the large mammal.

WANT A MOOSE? GET IT NOW, IS ADVICE OF HARRY BARTON

Sees Plane Hunters As Menace To Sport

Bagging moose will not continue to be the popular sport it is today if laws are not enacted to curb airplane hunters.

That's the frank opinion expressed by Harry J. Barton, Pinto, Md., dairyman and sportsman, who returned recently from a successful 10-day hunting trip in Ontario, Canada, where he and his nephew, Charles Fesion of Lima, Ohio, bagged two bull moose, a like number of black bears and other smaller game.

Barton's advice to his hunting friends is:

Better Get Moose Now

"If you want to get a moose you had better go to Canada and get it now."

Many of the big game hunters travel by plane and the animals don't have a chance, according to Barton. The aircraft are equipped with pontoons which make landing possible on lakes and then all the hunters do is step out of the planes and bag the large mammals of the deer family in the most remote parts of Canada.

Barton fears that this species of big game will eventually be wiped out if the law does not soon stop the slaughter. There is no law against this method of hunting at the present time.

The Pinto sportsman has bagged two moose in as many trips to Canada. On October 20 while hunting at Foleyet in Ontario, Canada, he bagged a bull which weighed approximately 1,500 pounds. The nine points on each beam of the broadly palmated antlers indicated that the mammal was nine-years old. The blades of the antlers had a spread of 52 inches. Barton said he used a Savage 30-06 rifle, the second shot behind the foreleg putting the animal down for a "full count".

Harry stated that his nephew killed a smaller moose which tipped the beam at about 800 pounds. And each of the hunters got a black bear and some pheasants, both of which are reported to be plentiful in Canada this year. Each bear weighed about 400 pounds.

Barton added that when he returned home he brought only the hind quarters of the moose and the bearskin with him. When asked what moose meat tasted like, he replied:

Likes Moose Steaks

"That's the best steak I ever ate and it's more like steer meat than anything else."

He didn't bring back any bear meat because he said he doesn't like it.

While in Canada, Barton, his nephew and German-Austrian guide, camped out-of-doors on Lake Rock Island.

The bag limit on moose in Canada is one to a person per season.

Army Dept. Employment Rise Explanation Asked

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29. (AP)—Sen. Byrd (D-Va) today asked Secretary of Defense Forrestal to explain an increase in civilian employment by the Army Department, which he said was counter to the trend in other government agencies.

Byrd said in a statement that 2,925 civilians were added to the Army Department in September to boost its total to 495,227, with most of the increases in Air Forces, technical services and civil functions. He noted that the Navy Department had continued its reduction in civilian personnel.

He also reported that civilian employes of the federal government totaled 2,010,781 in September as compared with 2,031,510 the previous month.

Swedes Import Frogs

STOCKHOLM—(AP)—A load of croaking frogs recently arrived at the Bromma airport in Stockholm from Hungary and consigned to Swedish scientists who are carrying on experiments with the transmission of impulses from nerves to muscles.

"On top of the dollar shortage there is a shortage of frogs in this country," one scientist complained. Swedish frogs disappeared during the summer drought.

SALISBURY TEACHERS DEFEAT FROSTBURG SOCCER TEAM, 5-1

FROSTBURG, Oct. 29—Salisbury (Md.) Teachers' College soccer team defeated Frostburg State Teachers College here today by the score of 5 to 1.

The Eastern Shore eleven tallied four times in the second period and once in the final quarter. Frostburg made its lone score in the final stanza, it having been registered by Jack Stowell.

The defeat was the fourth straight for Coach Babcock's team.

Frostburg will play the University of Virginia at Charlottesville, Saturday, November 8, and will conclude its season by playing Indiana State Teachers College in Indiana, Pa., Saturday, November 15.

New York Laws Would Prevent Boxing Alliance

Eagan Makes Reply To Jack Dempsey

NEW YORK, Oct. 29 (AP)—Chairman Eddie Eagan of the New York State Boxing Commission threw cold water today on a suggestion by former heavyweight champion Jack Dempsey that the local body join the National Boxing Association in an alliance to govern boxing throughout the country.

"Mr. Dempsey well knows," he said, "that the laws of New York State would prevent our joining with the N. B. A. or any other body. The attorney general has so ruled. We are answerable to our governor for what we do, and we think we have done a pretty good job.

"Our record speaks for itself. About half the boxing in the country is in our hands—that is, in the number of arenas and spectators — and many other states have adopted our boxing law with few changes."

Dempsey, in appealing for a union between the New York Commission and the N. B. A., had declared that "what boxing needs is national control. Let boxing have a national head such as baseball has in Happy Chandler."

"Eddie Eagan is as much to blame as Abe Greene, president of the N. B. A. for the present condition," Dempsey added. "If a boxer is suspended in New York he can make a living boxing in N. B. A. territory. If he is suspended in N. B. A. territory, he can work at his trade in New York."

Greene commented:

"Bully for Jack Dempsey. We have always been and even now are extremely eager to have with us New York and Massachusetts, the only major boxing states not now affiliated with the national body."

Potomac State May Accept Bid To Bowl Contest

That's If Catamounts Remain Undefeated

KEYSER, W. Va., Oct. 29—The present football season gives every indication of being the Potomac State Catamounts' more prominent one in the school's history. The Cats who are rolling along with five straight wins, since a opening tie with West Liberty, are pointing for a better season even than that enjoyed by last year's edition.

Coach Lough announced Tuesday that he had received a "feeler" in the form of information, regarding the local junior college's possible participation in the Little Rose Bowl game at Pasadena, California, December 13.

The game was inaugurated last year when the two top junior colleges in the country, Compton Junior College of California and Kilgore College of Texas, played before 51,000 fans at Pasadena.

The Cats have yet to play Glenville College, California, Pa., Teachers, and West Virginia Tech. However, indications are that if the Staters remain undefeated and the bid is proffered, it would be accepted.

When asked Tuesday evening whether he was satisfied with the Cats performance against Salem Friday, Lough said, "The blocking was terrible and the game was not a very good one. Also, I was dissatisfied with the play of our ends." Nevertheless, Lough asserted that he was well pleased with the work of his guards and tackles, Bill Stultz and Clifford Smith.

Lough ran his charges through light drill Monday and Tuesday in an all out effort to iron out mistakes. Scrimmage was held last evening and probably will be scheduled for this evening. The usual list of injuries were announced. Backs Bob Sauders, Tom Ritter, and Lou Bonato will not see action against Glenville, while Bill McProuty and Al State End Ed Burns are doubtful starters.

Lough stated that he was extremely gratified with the performance given by scat back Brooks Harris who was continually in the secondary of Salem Friday. Harris has been plagued by shoulder injuries all season but should be ready to take over full time duty in the next games. According to Lough, he intends to use him as much as possible in the remaining tilts because the timing and coordination of his backfield is much better with the fleet footed Harris back there.

Win In Extra Period

WESTMINSTER, Md., Oct. 29 (AP)—A goal scored by Left Halfback Walt Nawrocki in the last 15 seconds of a second overtime period brought Baltimore University a 3-2 victory over Western Maryland College in a soccer tilt today.

The home team was granted a short reprieve in the third quarter, when Baltimore's right half Jim Swisher deflected the ball into Western Maryland's goal. The blunder brought the score to two-all and sent the game into extra periods.

Barton Booters And Grantsville To Clash Nov. 6

Class "D" Soccer Tilt Is Set For Frostburg

Grantsville High School, of Garrett county, and Barton High School, of Allegany county, will meet in District No. 1's first Class "D" inter-county soccer tournament game on Thursday, November 6, at 2 p. m., on Frostburg State Teachers' College field.

Announcement to this effect was made last night by Arthur G. Ramey, District No. 1 chairman of the Maryland department of physical education.

Ray Middleton has been named to referee the game.

Other class "D" contestants in District No. 1 are Walkersville of Frederick county and Williamsport of Washington county. They will clash on November 6 at Boonsboro.

Winners of the Frostburg and Boonsboro contests will play on Wednesday, November 12, at Hancock.

Ramey also stated that Beall High of Frostburg and Frederick High School will meet Friday, November 7 in Hancock for the soccer championship of Class "A" schools in District No. 1.

The first game in the district's tournament for Class "C" schools is set for Friday, November 7 at Frederick, where Thurmont High of Frederick county will meet Boonsboro of Washington county. The winner of this game is scheduled to play the Central-Bruce victor at Hancock, Tuesday, November 11. The Central-Bruce playoff for Class "C" honors is set for Frostburg on Wednesday, November 5.

Oakland, of Garrett county, the only Class "B" school in the district has announced that it will not compete in inter-county games.

The district chairman added that inter-district dates and places will be arranged at a meeting in Baltimore this weekend. Since Ramey will be unable to attend the Baltimore session Warren Evans of Frederick will act as his proxy. The schedule will be arranged by Evans, Vincent Holochwost of Prince George's county (District No. 2) and Herbert Steiner of Baltimore county (District No. 3).

Earshot, Sun Bath Capture Handicap Events At Laurel

Four To Start Today In Pimlico Special

By JOHN CHANDLER

LAUREL, Md., Oct. 29 (AP)—William G. Helis' Earshot, second choice in the wagering, defeated the favored Snow Goose today by a nose in the Queen Isabella Handicap at Laurel, after Robert W. Grant's Sun Bath captured the Chevy Chase Handicap in record time for the Laurel infield course.

It was the final day of the meeting and the Maryland racing scene shifts to Pimlico tomorrow, where the famed Pimlico Special will be run on Friday.

Far back in the early stages of the mile and a furlong Queen Isabella, Snow Goose, Walter M. Jeffords grey three-year-old filly, was closing ground down the stretch with her customary burst of speed, but couldn't quite make the grade.

W. L. Brann's Legendra, an outsider in the field of seven fillies and mares, was third, five lengths back of Snow Goose. The winner earned $8,560, and paid $9.60, $3.20 and $3.00. Earshot's time was 1:52 4-5.

Sun Bath scored by 15 lengths in the Chevy Chase, with Kent Miller's Elkridge second and Mrs. Stephen C. Clark Jr.'s Trough Hill third in a field of seven. The winner was timed in 4:45 2-5.

Sun Bath, second in both the Butler and Governor Ogle steeplechases here recently, banked $12,475 for his victory compared with his previous earnings of only $9,470 this year.

Second choice in the wagering, he paid $9.60, $5.20 and $3 for $2. The old course record of 5.00 1-5 was set by Mercator in 1945.

The Pimlico Special will be a four-horse affair, with the decision by Trainer Hirsch Jacobs today not to run Mrs. Ethel D. Jacobs, Stymie in the mile and three sixteenths event.

That leaves it strictly up to Armed and Fervent, the entry from Warren Wright's Calumet Farm, and William Helis' Cosmic Bomb and Walter M. Jeffords' Loyal Legion. Armed is a six-year-old horse, the others are three-year-olds.

Will Revise Seasons

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29 (AP) — President Truman today acted to permit fire-damaged Maine and other states to revise their hunting season.

He signed a proclamation under which the states affected by emergency fire-hazard conditions may extend or reopen hunting seasons.

Under the proclamation the only restriction is that the number of days for hunting shall not total an amount greater than the regular season.

Landon Praises Taft

GARNETT, Kas., Oct. 29. (AP)—Alf M. Landon, Republican presidential candidate in 1936, said tonight Sen. Robert A. Taft (R-Ohio) with his recent "eat less" message to the American people was the sole political leader in the country who "had the courage to state the world food issue plainly."

Champs Of Pro Basketball Loops Will Not Meet At End Of Season

BAA And National May Tangle In 1948-49

NEW YORK, Oct. 29—(AP)—Conflicting schedules will prevent a playoff with the National Basketball League titleholders in the coming season but Basketball Association of America officials indicated today that the champions of the two pro league may play it out at the end of the 1948-49 campaign.

The two loops already have reached an agreement respecting territorial rights and contracts and Ned Irish, executive director of Madison Square Garden which sponsors the BAA's New York Knickerbockers, told Metropolitan basketball writers today that schedule commitments ruled out a playoff this season.

"We may get together the year after when schedules can be arranged. Right now the BAA has cut each team's league schedule from the 60 of last year to 48. An all-star game between the two leagues may be arranged."

Eight teams will battle it out in the league's two divisions this year instead of the 11 of last year. Toronto, Pittsburgh, Cleveland and Detroit have dropped out. Baltimore, top team of the American Basketball League, has joined the BAA. The Eastern division will be composed of Boston, New York, Providence and Philadelphia. The west is made up of Baltimore, Washington, Chicago and St. Louis.

Swiacki Is Named Lineman Of Week

Caught Nine Passes In Win Over Cadets

By TED MEIER

NEW YORK, Oct. 29. (AP)—Bill Swiacki's extraordinary forward pass catching that led to Columbia's upset 21-20 victory over Army on Saturday today brought him the honor of being voted the football lineman of the week in the Associated Press poll.

More votes were cast for the Columbia end from Southbridge, Mass. than for any other individual since the poll was started in 1944. He was mentioned on nearly half of the ballots.

Swiacki snared nine of the 20 aerials completed. Two of the nine came in the last quarter, one scoring Columbia's second touchdown and other paving the way for the goal that ended Army's unbeaten streak of 32 games.

Swiacki's catch for the second Columbia touchdown "will have to rank with the great catches of all time" in the opinion of Lou Effrat, sports writer for the New York Times.

Three other ends also received prominent mention, Morris Bailey, of Texas Christian, Max Bumgardner, of Texas, and Harry Grant, of Minnesota.

End—Robert Weir, Virginia.

Tackle — Edmund Kulakowski, West Virginia.

Guard—Gene Corum, West Virginia.

Center—Dick Scott, Navy.

Chicago's Bears Lead Pro League In Yards Gained

Steelers Are Second, 'Skins Lead Passing

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 29—(AP)—The Chicago Bears have rushed and passed into the offensive leadership of the National Football League, statistics showed today.

The Bears, defeated in their first two starts, thundered back into title contention with successive triumphs over Philadelphia, Detroit and Washington. In five games, the Bears rolled up a total yardage of 1,996—1,319 by passing and 676 by rushing.

Washington's Redskins lead the circuit in passing, completing 93 of 168 aerial heaves for 1,507 yards.

Steelers Are Second

The Pittsburgh Steelers have amassed a total of 1,927 yards for the second best offensive record, followed by Washington with 1,920 and the Chicago Cardinals with 1,874.

The race for punting honors has three contenders with the Cards leading the pack with an average of 44.9 yards per boot. Green Bay is second with 44.7 and Detroit third with 44.1.

Los Angeles' Rams have compiled the best defensive record on the ground yielding an average of 3.1 yards for each plunge through or around the forward wall. Philadelphia and New York are tied for second with 3.5.

Individually on the offensive side, the Steelers' Johnny Clement is statistically the best ground gainer in the circuit. The speedy halfback has gained 406 yards in 78 attempts, while the Philadelphia Eagles' Steve Van Buren is hot behind with 404 yards in 85 tries.

Slingin' Sammy Baugh still has no peer in the passing division. Leading from the season's start, the Redskin ace slingshot has completed 83 of 146 passes for 1,307 yards. The Bears' Sid Luckman has amassed 1,192 yards on 77 completions. Fifty-two of his heaves never found their mark.

Dudley and Lach Tied

Detroit's Bill Dudley and the Steelers' Steve Lach are tied for the scoring lead. Each has scored seven touchdowns for 42 points. Pat Harder of the Cardinals is third with 40 markers, followed by Washington's Dick Poillon with 31.

The pass-catching experts are headed by the Bears' Jim Keane who has glue-fingered 31 tosses for 430 yards and five touchdowns. Val Jansante of Pittsburgh has snared 21 passes for 377 yards.

Pass interception honors go to Frank Seno of the Boston Yanks who has stolen six heaves, returning them for 66 yards. Dudley is second in this department with four interceptions which he snakehipped back 76 yards.

Beaugay Is Winner Over With Pleasure

NEW YORK, Oct. 29—(AP)—Mrs. Elizabeth Graham's Beaugay won the $23,650 New Rochelle Handicap today as Empire City's fall race meeting opened at the Jamaica track.

The four-year-old filly defeated Oscar E. Breault's favored With Pleasure by three-quarters of a length, with Dan Chappell's Buzfuz four lengths back in third place.

Beaugay covered the six furlongs over a sloppy track in 1:11 2-5 and returned $15.80, $5.60 and $3.60 across the board. With Pleasure paid $3.20 and $2.40, while Buzfuz paid $2.70 to show.

Behind the front trio came Tavistock, Gestapo, Master Bid, King Dorsett, Pipette and Rytina in that order.

There were about 700,000 grass, brush and rubbish fires in the United United States in 1946.

Chisox General Manager Suspended From Baseball, Refused To Pay $500 Fine

O'Connor Charged With Signing Boy In School

By CHARLES DUNKLEY

CHICAGO, Oct. 29 (AP) — The Chicago White Sox of the American League and Leslie O'Connor, general manager of the club —himself a rigid enforcer of baseball rules for 24 years, today were suspended from baseball by Commissioner A. B. Chandler for refusing to pay a $500 fine for signing a player still in high school.

The student signed in violation of a rule interpreted by Chandler is George Zoeterman, a pitcher and senior at Chicago Christian High School, a Lutheran institution. Zoeterman is 17 and will be graduated next January.

In Cincinnati, Walter Mulbry, secretary to Chandler, explained that the suspension against the baseball club and O'Connor would be lifted when O'Connor paid the fine. However, the 59-year-old executive, who served as secretary to the late Kenesaw Mountain Landis whom Chandler succeeded as commissioner, indicated that he would fight the penalty since, he contended, no violation existed.

Rule Was Never Amended

The high school rule, as originally drafted by a major league committee on which O'Connor served, applied only to schools which were members of the National Federation of High School Associations. The rule never was amended, baseball sources said, but Chandler interpreted the rule to include all high schools in the United States and Canada.

O'Connor is expected to contend that the Chicago Christian High School is not a member of the National Federation and consequently the White Sox and O'Connor were not in violation. Officials of the Chicago Christian School verified the fact that the school is not a member of the national federation. The school is accredited by the state as a private school.

O'Connor, who served as special assistant to Chandler for short time while the former Kentucky senator was re-organizing the office preparatory to moving headquarters to Cincinnati, said he would issue a written statement later. When it could be issued, O'Connor said, "depends upon the circumstances."

Although O'Connor made the bare announcement that "I have been suspended from baseball," he declined to elaborate.

"I won't do any talking on the subject," he added crisply.

O'Connor now shares the dubious distinction of being the second major figure in baseball to be suspended by Chandler this year. The first was Leo "Lippy" Durocher, manager of the Brooklyn Dodgers, suspended for the 1947 season. His suspension now has been lifted.

Used In Batting Practice

Zoeterman, a promising left hander, was signed for the 1948 season after he had served as a batting practice pitcher for the White Sox in September. He took a leave of absence from school and made the last eastern trip of the season with the Sox presumably to gain pitching experience.

Officials Are Named For Fort Hill-Beall Game Tomorrow Night

Daniel R. Staley will referee the football game here tomorrow night between Beall High School and Fort Hill High School, Coach William P. Hahn, announced yesterday.

William "Huck" Miers will be the umpire and C. William Spangler, head linesman.

Hahn stated that the Sentinels will sport their red jerseys in tomorrow night's game. In previous games this season Fort Hill players have worn white jerseys.

Larry McKenzie is ailing with a charley horse and Edgar "Barney" Tucker is bothered with a bruised knee but they may appear in the locals' backfield Friday night. The rest of the squad is in tiptop condition, Hahn reported.

Terps Tie Loyola

COLLEGE PARK, Md., Oct. 29 (AP) — The University of Maryland and Loyola of Baltimore soccer teams battled to a 4-4 tie here today.

Neither could break the deadlock in two overtime periods.

The visitors were trailing, 2-3, going into the final period, but scored twice in that session while Maryland was making one goal.

Maryland Students Ask Better Distribution Of Grid Tickets

Origin Of Leaflets On Campus Unknown

COLLEGE PARK, Md., Oct. 29. — (AP) — Leaflets demanding "better distribution" of football tickets for students made their appearance on the University of Maryland campus today.

The dodgers were signed "the students," and said:

"Students want recognition from the athletic director. We demand better ticket distribution for students."

University authorities said they did not know the origin of the leaflets but acknowledged there has been some dissatisfaction.

Previously a student was issued a book of tickets to all athletic events with payment of his fees. He presented his book at the gate for football games and sat wherever he could find a seat.

This year, students have been required to exchange their tickets prior to the game for reserved seat slips. Most of the reserved seats are on bleachers behind the goal posts.

Lines more than two blocks long formed Monday when reserved seat slips were put up for exchange on the Maryland-West Virginia homecoming game Saturday.

Athletic officials explained the system had become necessary because of federal tax regulations and increased attendance. Tax regulations require a strict accounting of all paid and unpaid admissions.

Cifers And Zero Add Up To Winner For Pittsburgh

Mathematical Backs Star For Steelers

By DUKE MORAN

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 29. (AP)—The Pittsburgh Steelers have added Cifers to their "Zero" and found that it sums up to a winner in the National Football League.

This bit of mathemaical wizardy is accomplished by use of Bobby Cifers, former Tennessee star, in backfield tandem with Johnny Clement, known to wild-eyed fans here as "Johnny Zero" because his football jersey identification is a big goose-egg.

"Johnny Zero" leads the league in ground-gaining with 406 yards in 85 attempts but it wasn't until Cifers, the team's punting specialist, began to run a few weeks ago that the Steelers rocketed to leadership of the circuit's eastern division with four victories in six starts.

Cifers was pressed into service as a running back against the Boston Yanks after the regular right halfback, Bob Sullivan, suffered a back injury. The ex-Volunteer since has gained 184 yards and the Steelers have won three straight.

Neither Cifers nor "Zero" were any great shakes last year. Both owe their present standings to the deal which sent Bullet Bill Dudley from the Steelers to the Detroit Lions and brought Cifers from the Lions.

"Clement is putting more into it than he did last year," commented Steeler Coach Jock Sutherland. "He has a good chance to make a better ground-gaining record than Bill (Dudley) did last year in leading the league. And he's a fair passer."

Clement hails from Dallas, Tex., and Cifers from Kingsport, Tenn.

Notre Dame To Start Simmons At Fullback

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Oct. 29 (AP)—Notre Dame was cheered today to learn from Trainer Hugh Burns that Fullback Mike Swistowicz, injured in the Iowa game last week, probably will be ready for the game with Navy at Cleveland Saturday.

Floyd Simmons is expected to start at fullback, however, with Swistowicz being used sparingly. John Panelli, who suffered a dislocated elbow against Nebraska and whose place Swistowicz took, probably will not see action this week.

Mountaineers Will Use Five-Year Men Against Maryland

Romney Declares Five Meet Requirements

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29 — (AP) — The Washington Post said tonight "five first-string West Virginia football players are in their fifth year of collegiate competition and will definitely play against Maryland" Saturday.

Head Coach Jim Tatum of Maryland was quoted by the Post as saying that after learning of the situation he questioned the eligibility of the five and was told by West Virginia athletic officials that the school's athletic council arbitrarily extended their eligibility for a year.

Dean G. O. Romney, faculty athletic chairman at West Virginia, was quoted by the Post as telling it:

"The five players meet the eligibility requirements at West Virginia and will play against Maryland Saturday."

The Post continues: "West Virginia is a member of the Eastern Collegiate Athletic Conference, which permits only three years of varsity competition. Its athletic director, Roy Hawley, is a member of the conference's executive committee.

"Tatum said he planned no protest."

The paper listed the five as: Fullback Charles Schrader, End Chet Spelock, Guard Gene Corum, Center Leo Benjamin and Tackle Ed Kulakowski. It said they are all war veterans and played freshman football in 1940 and varsity ball in 1941, 1942 and 1946.

Suspension Is Lifted On Brooklyn Gridder

NEW YORK, Oct. 29 (AP)—O. O. Kessing, deputy commissioner of the All-America Football Conference, lifted the suspension of Caleb (Tex) Warrington today but placed the Brooklyn center on probation for the remainder of the season as the result of a violent argument with an official.

Kessing originally suspended Warrington for the rest of the 1947 season and fined him $500 for allegedly taking a swing at William H. Ohrenberger, the head linesman in a game between the Brooklyn Dodgers and Buffalo Bills at Buffalo last Sunday, which Kessing attended.

George Hott Leads PVC Grid Scorers

BAGS 1,500 POUNDER—Harry J. Barton, well known dairyman and sportsman of Pinto, Md., is shown with the 1,500-pound bull moose which he bagged during a recent 10-day hunting trip for big game in Ontario, Canada. Barton was accompanied by his nephew, Charles Fesion of Lima, Ohio, and a guide. The broadly palmated antlers show nine points each, indicating that the bull is nine-years old, according to Barton. It was Barton's second moose in as many years in Canada. In 1946 he brought down a two-year-old weighing 880 pounds. The Savage 30-06 rifle that Barton used for the kill is shown resting on the moose's antlers. Two shots fired at approximately 200 yards killed the large mammal.

WANT A MOOSE? GET IT NOW, IS ADVICE OF HARRY BARTON

Sees Plane Hunters As Menace To Sport

Bagging moose will not continue to be the popular sport it is today if laws are not enacted to curb airplane hunters.

That's the frank opinion expressed by Harry J. Barton, Pinto, Md., dairyman and sportsman, who returned recently from a successful 10-day hunting trip in Ontario, Canada, where he and his nephew, Charles Fesion of Lima, Ohio, bagged two bull moose, a like number of black bears and other smaller game.

Barton's advice to his hunting friends is:

Better Get Moose Now

"If you want to get a moose you had better go to Canada and get it now."

Many of the big game hunters travel by plane and the animals don't have a chance, according to Barton. The aircraft are equipped with pontoons which make landing possible on lakes and then all the hunters do is step out of the planes and bag the large mammals of the deer family in the most remote parts of Canada.

Barton fears that this species of big game will eventually be wiped out if the law does not soon stop the slaughter. There is no law against this method of hunting at the present time.

The Pinto sportsman has bagged two moose in as many trips to Canada. On October 20 while hunting at Poleyet in Ontario, Canada, he bagged a bull which weighed approximately 1,500 pounds. The nine points on each beam of the broadly palmated antlers indicated that the mammal was nine-years old. The blades of the antlers had a spread of 52 inches. Barton said he used a Savage 30-06 rifle, the second shot behind the foreleg putting the animal down for a "full count".

Harry stated that his nephew killed a smaller moose which tipped the beam at about 800 pounds. And each of the hunters got a black bear and some pheasants, both of which are reported to be plentiful in Canada this year. Each bear weighed about 400 pounds.

Barton added that when he returned home he brought only the hind quarters of the moose and the bearskin with him. When asked what moose meat tasted like, he replied:

Likes Moose Steaks

"That's the best steak I ever ate and it's more like steer meat than anything else."

He didn't bring back any bear meat because he said he doesn't like it.

While in Canada, Barton, his nephew and German-Austrian guide, camped out-of-doors on Lake Rock Island.

The bag limit on moose in Canada is one to a person per season.

Army Dept. Employment Rise Explanation Asked

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29. (AP)—Sen. Byrd (D-Va) today asked Secretary of Defense Forrestal to explain an increase in civilian employment by the Army Department, which he said was counter to the trend in other government agencies.

Byrd said in a statement that 2,925 civilians were added to the Army Department in September to boost its total to 495,227, with most of the increases in Air Forces, mechanical services and civil functions. He noted that the Navy Department had continued its reduction in civilian personnel.

He also reported that civilian employes of the federal government totaled 2,010,781 in September as compared with 2,031,510 the previous month.

Swedes Import Frogs

STOCKHOLM—(AP)—A load of croaking frogs recently arrived at the Bromma airport in Stockholm from Hungary and consigned to Swedish scientists who are carrying on experiments with the transmission of impulses from nerves to muscles.

"On top of the dollar shortage there is a shortage of frogs in this country," one scientist complained. Swedish frogs disappeared during the summer dought.

SALISBURY TEACHERS DEFEAT FROSTBURG SOCCER TEAM, 5-1

FROSTBURG, Oct. 29—Salisbury (Md.) Teachers' College soccer team defeated Frostburg State Teachers College here today by the score of 5 to 1.

The Eastern Shore eleven tallied four times in the second period and once in the final quarter. Frostburg made its lone score in the final stanza, it having been registered by Jack Stowell.

The defeat was the fourth straight for Coach Babcock's team.

Frostburg will play the University of Virginia at Charlottesville, Saturday, November 8, and will conclude its season by playing Indiana State Teachers College in Indiana, Pa., Saturday, November 15.

New York Laws Would Prevent Boxing Alliance

Eagan Makes Reply To Jack Dempsey

NEW YORK, Oct. 29 (AP)—Chairman Eddie Eagan of the New York State Boxing Commission threw cold water today on a suggestion by former heavyweight champion Jack Dempsey that the local body join the National Boxing Association in an alliance to govern boxing throughout the country.

"Mr. Dempsey well knows," he said, "that the laws of New York State would prevent our joining with the N. B. A. or any other body. The attorney general has so ruled. We are answerable to our governor for what we do, and we think we have done a pretty good job.

"Our record speaks for itself. About half the boxing in the country is in our hands—that is, in the number of arenas and spectators — and many other states have adopted our boxing law with few changes."

Dempsey, in appealing for a union between the New York Commission and the N. B. A., had declared that "what boxing needs is national control. Let boxing have a national head such as baseball has in Happy Chandler."

"Eddie Eagan is as much to blame as Abe Greene, president of the N. B. A. for the present condition," Dempsey added. "If a boxer is suspended in New York he can make a living boxing in N. B. A. territory. If he is suspended in N. B. A. territory, he can work at his trade in New York."

Greene commented:

"Bully for Jack Dempsey. We have always been and even now are extremely eager to have with us New York and Massachusetts, the only major boxing states not now affiliated with the national body."

Potomac State May Accept Bid To Bowl Contest

That's If Catamounts Remain Undefeated

KEYSER, W. Va., Oct. 29—The present football season gives every indication of being the Potomac State Catamounts' more prominent one in the school's history. The Cats who are rolling along with five straight wins, since a opening tie with West Liberty, are pointing for a better season even than that enjoyed by last year's edition.

Coach Lough announced Tuesday that he had received a "feeler" in the form of information, regarding the local junior college's possible participation in the Little Rose Bowl game at Pasadena, California, December 13.

The game was inaugurated last year when the two top junior colleges in the country, Compton Junior College of California and Kilgore College of Texas, played before 51,000 fans at Pasadena.

The Cats have yet to play Glenville College, California, Pa., Teachers, and West Virginia Tech. However, indications are that if the Staters remain undefeated and the bid is proffered, it would be accepted.

When asked Tuesday evening whether he was satisfied with the Cats performance against Salem Friday, Lough said, "The blocking was terrible and the game was not a very good one. Also, I was dissatisfied with the play of our ends." Nevertheless, Lough asserted that he was well pleased with the work of his guards and tackles, Bill Stultz and Clifford Smith.

Lough ran his charges through light drill Monday and Tuesday in an all out effort to iron out mistakes. Scrimmage was held last evening and probably will be scheduled for this evening. The usual list of injuries were announced. Backs Bob Sauders, Tom Ritter, and Lou Bonato will not see action against Glenville, while Bill McProuty and Al State End Ed Burns are doubtful starters.

Lough stated that he was extremely gratified with the performance given by scat back Brooks Harris who was continually in the secondary of Salem Friday. Harris has been plagued by shoulder injuries all season but should be ready to take over full time duty in the next games. According to Lough, he intends to use him as much as possible in the remaining tilts because the timing and coordination of his backfield is much better with the fleet footed Harris back there.

Win In Extra Period

WESTMINSTER, Md., Oct. 29 (AP)—A goal scored by Left Halfback Walt Nawrocki in the last 15 seconds of a second overtime period brought Baltimore University a 3-2 victory over Western Maryland College in a soccer tilt today.

The home team was granted a short reprieve in the third quarter, when Baltimore's right half Jim Swisher deflected the ball into Western Maryland's goal. The blunder brought the score to two-all and sent the game into extra periods.

Barton Booters And Grantsville To Clash Nov. 6

Class "D" Soccer Tilt Is Set For Frostburg

Grantsville High School, of Garrett county, and Barton High School, of Allegany county, will meet in District No. 1's first Class "D" inter-county soccer tournament game on Thursday, November 6, at 2 p. m., on Frostburg State Teachers' College field.

Announcement to this effect was made last night by Arthur G. Ramey, District No. 1 chairman of the Maryland department of physical education.

Ray Middleton has been named to referee the game.

Other class "D" contestants in District No. 1 are Walkersville of Frederick county and Williamsport of Washington county. They will clash on November 6 at Boonsboro.

Winners of the Frostburg and Boonsboro contests will play on Wednesday, November 12, at Hancock.

Ramey also stated that Beall High of Frostburg and Frederick High School will meet Friday, November 7 in Hancock for the soccer championship of Class "A" schools in District No. 1.

The first game in the district's tournament for Class "C" schools is set for Friday, November 7 at Frederick, where Thurmont High of Frederick county will meet Boonsboro of Washington county. The winner of this game is scheduled to play the Central-Bruce victor at Hancock, Tuesday, November 11. The Central-Bruce playoff for Class "C" honors is set for Frostburg on Wednesday, November 5.

Oakland, of Garrett county, the only Class "B" school in the district has announced that it will not compete in inter-county games.

The district chairman added that inter-district dates and places will be arranged at a meeting in Baltimore this weekend. Since Ramey will be unable to attend the Baltimore session Warren Evans of Frederick will act as his proxy. The schedule will be arranged by Evans, Vincent Holochwost of Prince George's county (District No. 2) and Herbert Steiner of Baltimore county (District No. 3).

Four To Start Today In Pimlico Special

By JOHN CHANDLER

LAUREL, Md., Oct. 29 (AP)—William G. Helis' Earshot, second choice in the wagering, defeated the favored Snow Goose today by a nose in the Queen Isabella Handicap at Laurel, after Robert W. Grant's Sun Bath captured the Chevy Chase Handicap in record time for the Laurel infield course.

It was the final day of the meeting and the Maryland racing scene shifts to Pimlico tomorrow, where the famed Pimlico Special will be run on Friday.

Far back in the early stages of the mile and a furlong Queen Isabella, Snow Goose, Walter M. Jefford's grey three-year-old filly, was closing ground down the stretch with her customary burst of speed, but couldn't quite make the grade.

W. L. Brann's Legendra, an outsider in the field of seven fillies and mares, was third, five lengths back of Snow Goose. The winner earned $8,560, and paid $9.60, $3.20 and $3.00. Earshot's time was 1:52 4-5.

Sun Bath scored by 15 lengths in the Chevy Chase, with Kent Miller's Elkridge second and Mrs. Stephen C. Clark Jr.'s Trough Hill third in a field of seven. The winner was timed in 4:45 2-5.

Sun Bath, second in both the Butler and Governor Ogle steeplechases here recently, banked $12,475 for his victory compared with his previous earnings of only $9,470 this year.

Second choice in the wagering, he paid $9.60, $5.20 and $3 for $2. The old course record of 5.00 1-5 was set by Mercator in 1945.

The Pimlico Special will be a four-horse affair, with the decision by Trainer Hirsch Jacobs today not to run Mrs. Ethel D. Jacobs, Stymie in the mile and three sixteenths event.

That leaves it strictly up to Armed and Fervent, the entry from Warren Wright's Calumet Farm, and William Helis' Cosmic Bomb and Walter M. Jeffords' Loyal Legion. Armed is a six-year-old horse, the others are three-year-olds.

Will Revise Seasons

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29 (AP) — President Truman today acted to permit fire-damaged Maine and other states to revise their hunting season.

He signed a proclamation under which the states affected by emergency fire-hazard conditions may extend or reopen hunting seasons.

Under the proclamation the only restriction is that the number of days for hunting shall not total an amount greater than the regular season.

Landon Praises Taft

GARNETT, Kas., Oct. 29. (AP)—Alf M. Landon, Republican presidential candidate in 1936, said tonight Sen. Robert A. Taft (R-Ohio) with his recent "eat less" message to the American people was the sole political leader in the country who "had the courage to state the world food issue plainly."

Champs Of Pro Basketball Loops Will Not Meet At End Of Season

BAA And National May Tangle In 1948-49

NEW YORK, Oct. 29—(AP)—Conflicting schedules will prevent a playoff with the National Basketball League titleholders in the coming season but Basketball Association of America officials indicated today that the champions of the two pro league may play it out at the end of the 1948-49 campaign.

The two loops already have reached an agreement respecting territorial rights and contracts and Ned Irish, executive director of Madison Square Garden which sponsors the BAA's New York Knickerbockers, told Metropolitan basketball writers today that schedule commitments ruled out a playoff this season.

"We may get together the year after when schedules can be arranged. Right now the BAA has cut each team's league schedule from the 60 of last year to 48. An all-star game between the two leagues may be arranged."

Eight teams will battle it out in the league's two divisions this year instead of the 11 of last year. Toronto, Pittsburgh, Cleveland and Detroit have dropped out. Baltimore, top team of the American Basketball League, has joined the BAA. The Eastern division will be composed of Boston, New York, Providence and Philadelphia. The west is made up of Baltimore, Washington, Chicago and St. Louis.

Swiacki Is Named Lineman Of Week

By TED MEIER

NEW YORK, Oct. 29. (AP)—Bill Swiacki's extraordinary forward pass catching that led to Columbia's upset 21-20 victory over Army on Saturday today brought him the honor of being voted the football lineman of the week in the Associated Press poll.

More votes were cast for the Columbia end from Southbridge, Mass. than for any other individual since the poll was started in 1944. He was mentioned on nearly half of the ballots.

Swiacki snared nine of the 20 aerials completed. Two of the nine came in the last quarter, one scoring Columbia's second touchdown and other paving the way for the goal that ended Army's unbeaten streak of 32 games.

Swiacki's catch for the second Columbia touchdown "will have to rank with the great catches of all time" in the opinion of Lou Effrat, sports writer for the New York Times.

Three other ends also received prominent mention, Morris Bailey, of Texas Christian, Max Bumgardner, of Texas, and Harry Grant, of Minnesota.

End—Robert Weir, Virginia.

Tackle — Edmund Kulakowski, West Virginia.

Guard—Gene Corum, West Virginia.

Center—Dick Scott, Navy.

Chicago's Bears Lead Pro League In Yards Gained

Steelers Are Second, 'Skins Lead Passing

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 29—(AP)—The Chicago Bears have rushed and passed into the offensive leadership of the National Football League, statistics showed today.

The Bears, defeated in their first two starts, thundered back into title contention with successive triumphs over Philadelphia, Detroit and Washington. In five games, the Bears rolled up a total yardage of 1,996—1,319 by passing and 676 by rushing.

Washington's Redskins lead the circuit in passing, completing 93 of 168 aerial heaves for 1,507 yards.

Steelers Are Second

The Pittsburgh Steelers have amassed a total of 1,927 yards for the second best offensive record, followed by Washington with 1,920 and the Chicago Cardinals with 1,874.

The race for punting honors has three contenders with the Cards leading the pack with an average of 44.9 yards per boot. Green Bay is second with 44.7 and Detroit third with 44.1.

Los Angeles' Rams have compiled the best defensive record on the ground yielding an average of 3.1 yards for each plunge through or around the forward wall. Philadelphia and New York are tied for second with 3.5.

Individually on the offensive side, the Steelers' Johnny Clement is statistically the best ground gainer in the circuit. The speedy halfback has gained 406 yards in 78 attempts, while the Philadelphia Eagles' Steve Van Buren is hot behind with 404 yards in 85 tries.

Slingin' Sammy Baugh still has no peer in the passing division. Leading from the season's start, the Redskin ace slingshot has completed 83 of 146 passes for 1,307 yards. The Bears' Sid Luckman has amassed 1,192 yards on 77 completions. Fifty-two of his heaves never found their mark.

Dudley and Lach Tied

Detroit's Bill Dudley and the Steelers' Steve Lach are tied for the scoring lead. Each has scored seven touchdowns for 42 points. Pat Harder of the Cardinals is third with 40 markers, followed by Washington's Dick Poillon with 31.

The pass-catching experts are headed by the Bears' Jim Keane who has glue-fingered 31 tosses for 430 yards and five touchdowns. Val Jansante of Pittsburgh has snared 21 passes for 377 yards.

Pass interception honors go to Frank Seno of the Boston Yanks who has stolen six heaves, returning them for 66 yards. Dudley is second in this department with four interceptions which he snakehipped back 76 yards.

Beaugay Is Winner Over With Pleasure

NEW YORK, Oct. 29—(AP)—Mrs. Elizabeth Graham's Beaugay won the $23,650 New Rochelle Handicap today as Empire City's fall race meeting opened at the Jamaica track.

The four-year-old filly defeated Oscar E. Breault's favored With Pleasure by three-quarters of a length, with Dan Chappell's Buzfuz four lengths back in third place.

Beaugay covered the six furlongs over a sloppy track in 1:11 2-5 and returned $15.80, $5.60 and $3.60 across the board. With Pleasure paid $3.20 and $2.40, while Buzfuz paid $2.70 to show.

Behind the front trio came Tavistock, Gestapo, Master Bid, King Dorsett, Pipette and Rytina in that order.

There were about 700,000 grass, brush and rubbish fires in the United States in 1946.

Chisox General Manager Suspended From Baseball, Refused To Pay $500 Fine

O'Connor Charged With Signing Boy In School

By CHARLES DUNKLEY

CHICAGO, Oct. 29 (AP) — The Chicago White Sox of the American League and Leslie O'Connor, general manager of the club —himself a rigid enforcer of baseball rules for 24 years, today were suspended from baseball by Commissioner A. B. Chandler for refusing to pay a $500 fine for signing a player still in high school.

The student signed in violation of a rule interpreted by Chandler is George Zoeterman, a pitcher and senior at Chicago Christian High School, a Lutheran institution. Zoeterman is 17 and will be graduated next January.

In Cincinnati, Walter Mulbry, secretary to Chandler, explained that the suspension against the baseball club and O'Connor would be lifted when O'Connor paid the fine. However, the 59-year-old executive, who served as secretary to the late Kenesaw Mountain Landis whom Chandler succeeded as commissioner, indicated that he would fight the penalty since, he contended, no violation existed.

Rule Was Never Amended

The high school rule, as originally drafted by a major league committee on which O'Connor served, applied only to schools which were members of the National Federation of High School Associations. The rule never was amended, baseball sources said, but Chandler interpreted the rule to include all high schools in the United States and Canada.

O'Connor is expected to contend that the Chicago Christian High School is not a member of the National Federation and consequently the White Sox and O'Connor were not in violation. Officials of the Chicago Christian School verified the fact that the school is not a member of the national federation. The school is accredited by the state as a private school.

O'Connor, who served as special assistant to Chandler for short time while the former Kentucky senator was re-organizing the office preparatory to moving headquarters to Cincinnati, said he would issue a written statement later. When it could be issued, O'Connor said, "depends upon the circumstances."

Although O'Connor made the bare announcement that "I have been suspended from baseball," he declined to elaborate.

"I won't do any talking on the subject," he added crisply.

O'Connor now shares the dubious distinction of being the second major figure in baseball to be suspended by Chandler this year. The first was Leo "Lippy" Durocher, manager of the Brooklyn Dodgers, suspended for the 1947 season. His suspension now has been lifted.

Used In Batting Practice

Zoeterman, a promising left hander, was signed for the 1948 season after he had served as a batting practice pitcher for the White Sox in September. He took a leave of absence from school and made the last eastern trip of the season with the Sox presumably to gain pitching experience.

EASY DOES IT—Big is the word for this cager, Ephraim Rocha, former Oregon State star now with the St. Louis Bombers of the Basketball Association of America. He's a mere 6 feet, 8½ inches.

Officials Are Named For Fort Hill-Beall Game Tomorrow Night

Daniel R. Staley will referee the football game here tomorrow night between Beall High School and Fort Hill High School, Coach William P. Hahn, announced yesterday.

William "Huck" Miers will be the umpire and C. William Spangler, head linesman.

Hahn stated that the Sentinels will sport their red jerseys in tomorrow night's game. In previous games this season Fort Hill players have worn white jerseys.

Larry McKenzie is ailing with a charley horse and Edgar "Barney" Tucker is bothered with a bruised knee but they may appear in the locals' backfield Friday night. The rest of the squad is in tiptop condition, Hahn reported.

Terps Tie Loyola

COLLEGE PARK, Md., Oct. 29 (AP) — The University of Maryland and Loyola of Baltimore soccer teams battled to a 4-4 tie here today.

Neither could break the deadlock in two overtime periods.

Moorefield Ace Gets 42 Points For Five Games

Moss And Long Tied For Runner-Up Spot

George Hott, flashy halfback of the Moorefield High School Yellow Jackets, is showing the way to scorers of the the Potomac Valley Conference with a total of 42 points to his credit and one conference game yet to be played with Keyser.

Hott has scored six touchdowns and a like number of points after touchdowns.

Joe Moss of Ridgeley and Connie Long of the Romney Pioneers, who will face each other this Friday at Romney, hold the runnerup position with 31 tallies each. Joe and Connie have scored five six-pointers and one conversion.

Welton and Johnny Vance of Moorefield and Brehany of Ridgeley are next in order with 24, 22 and 19 points.

Ridgeley leads the circuit with three wins and no losses while Moorefield, runner-up, with four wins and one defeat, has rolled up 124 points. Ridgeley and Keyser have yielded only 13 points in three contests while four opposing teams have registered 158 points against Thomas High School.

Cifers And Zero Add Up To Winner For Pittsburgh

Mathematical Backs Star For Steelers

By DUKE MORAN

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 29. (AP)—The Pittsburgh Steelers have added Cifers to their "Zero" and found that it sums up to a winner in the National Football League.

This bit of mathemaical wizardy is accomplished by use of Bobby Cifers, former Tennessee star, in backfield tandem with Johnny Clement, known to wild-eyed fans here as "Johnny Zero" because his football jersey identification is a big goose-egg.

"Johnny Zero" leads the league in ground-gaining with 406 yards in 85 attempts but it wasn't until Cifers, the team's punting specialist, began to run a few weeks ago that the Steelers rocketed to leadership of the circuit's eastern division with four victories in six starts.

Cifers was pressed into service as a running back against the Boston Yanks after the regular right halfback, Bob Sullivan, suffered a back injury. The ex-Volunteer since has gained 184 yards and the Steelers have won three straight.

Neither Cifers nor "Zero" were any great shakes last year. Both owe their present standings to the deal which sent Bullet Bill Dudley from the Steelers to the Detroit Lions and brought Cifers from the Lions.

"Clement is putting more into it than he did last year," commented Steeler Coach Jock Sutherland. "He has a good chance to make a better ground-gaining record than Bill (Dudley) did last year in leading the league. And he's a fair passer."

Clement hails from Dallas, Tex., and Cifers from Kingsport, Tenn.

Notre Dame To Start Simmons At Fullback

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Oct. 29 (AP)—Notre Dame was cheered today to learn from Trainer Hugh Burns that Fullback Mike Swistowicz, injured in the Iowa game last week, probably will be ready for the game with Navy at Cleveland Saturday.

Floyd Simmons is expected to start at fullback, however, with Swistowicz being used sparingly. John Panelli, who suffered a dislocated elbow against Nebraska and whose place Swistowicz took, probably will not see action this week.

Mountaineers Will Use Five-Year Men Against Maryland

Romney Declares Five Meet Requirements

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29 — (AP) — The Washington Post said tonight "five first-string West Virginia football players are in their fifth year of collegiate competition and will definitely play against Maryland" Saturday.

Head Coach Jim Tatum of Maryland was quoted by the Post as saying that after learning of the situation he questioned the eligibility of the five and was told by West Virginia athletic officials that the school's athletic council arbitrarily extended their eligibility for a year.

Dean G. O. Romney, faculty athletic chairman at West Virginia, was quoted by the Post as telling it:

"The five players meet the eligibility requirements at West Virginia and will play against Maryland Saturday."

The Post continues: "West Virginia is a member of the Eastern Collegiate Athletic Conference, which permits only three years of varsity competition. Its athletic director, Roy Hawley, is a member of the conference's executive committee.

"Tatum said he planned no protest."

The paper listed the five as: Fullback Charles Schrader, End Chet Spelock, Guard Gene Corum, Center Leo Benjamin and Tackle Ed Kulakowski. It said they are all war veterans and played freshman football in 1940 and varsity ball in 1941, 1942 and 1946.

Maryland Students Ask Better Distribution Of Grid Tickets

Origin Of Leaflets On Campus Unknown

COLLEGE PARK, Md., Oct. 29. — (AP) — Leaflets demanding "better distribution" of football tickets for students made their appearance on the University of Maryland campus today.

The dodgers were signed "the students," and said:

"Students want recognition from the athletic director. We demand better ticket distribution for students."

University authorities said they did not know the origin of the leaflets but acknowledged there has been some dissatisfaction.

Previously a student was issued a book of tickets to all athletic events with payment of his fees. He presented his book at the gate for football games and sat wherever he could find a seat.

This year, students have been required to exchange their tickets prior to the game for reserved seat slips. Most of the reserved seats are on bleachers behind the goal posts.

Lines more than two blocks long formed Monday when reserved seat slips were put up for exchange on the Maryland-West Virginia homecoming game Saturday.

Athletic officials explained the system had become necessary because of federal tax regulations and increased attendance. Tax regulations require a strict accounting of all paid and unpaid admissions.

Suspension Is Lifted On Brooklyn Gridder

NEW YORK, Oct. 29 (AP)—O. O. Kessing, deputy commissioner of the All-America Football Conference, lifted the suspension of Caleb (Tex) Warrington today but placed the Brooklyn center on probation for the remainder of the season as the result of a violent argument with an official.

Kessing originally suspended Warrington for the rest of the 1947 season and fined him $500 for allegedly taking a swing at William H. Ohrenberger, the head linesman in a game between the Brooklyn Dodgers and Buffalo Bills at Buffalo last Sunday, which Kessing attended.

Fairey Fulmar Wins, Seven New Yorkers Collect $400,000

NEWMARKET, Eng., Oct. 29. — (INS) — Three longshots — Fairey Fulmar, Joan Star and Admiral's Yarn—romped home one, two, three today in the Cambridgeshire Handicap.

The results showered lucky ticket holders in the United States and elsewhere with hundreds of thousands of dollars in Irish sweepstakes winnings.

Joan Star, the runner-up, was 100 to 1 in the betting, and Admiral's Yarn, in third spot, was rated at 33 to 1.

(Seven New York City ticket holders collected almost $400,000, including two who were in on $100,000 windfalls. These big winners in New York were Alfred Dunn, 50-year-old oiler, and Mrs. Meta Heil, a grandmother who hit the jackpot with her first sweeps ticket purchase.

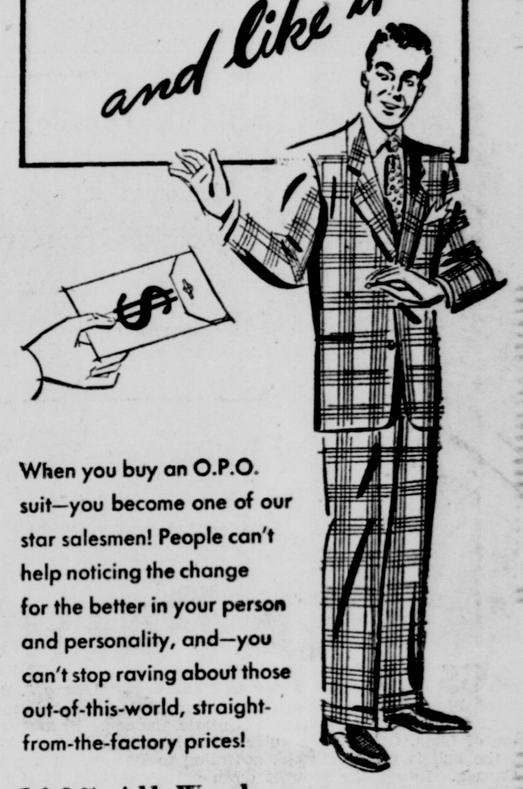

(A Canadian, F. A. Maheu, 31-year-old furnace worker in the Quebec village of Chateaugyat, won $100,000 with a ticket on Fairey Fulmar. He was believed to be the only Canadian to win a top-money prize.)

Fairey Fulmar Wins, Seven New Yorkers Collect $400,000

NEWMARKET, Eng., Oct. 29. — (INS) — Three longshots — Fairey Fulmar, Joan Star and Admiral's Yarn—romped home one, two, three today in the Cambridgeshire Handicap.

The results showered lucky ticket holders in the United States and elsewhere with hundreds of thousands of dollars in Irish sweepstakes winnings.

Joan Star, the runner-up, was 100 to 1 in the betting, and Admiral's Yarn, in third spot, was rated at 33 to 1.

(Seven New York City ticket holders collected almost $400,000, including two who were in on $100,000 windfalls. These big winners in New York were Alfred Dunn, 50-year-old oiler, and Mrs. Meta Heil, a grandmother who hit the jackpot with her first sweeps ticket purchase.

(A Canadian, F. A. Maheu, 31-year-old furnace worker in the Quebec village of Chateaugyat, won $100,000 with a ticket on Fairey Fulmar. He was believed to be the only Canadian to win a top-money prize.)

Pep Offered $30,000

HARTFORD, Conn., Oct. 29—(AP)—Lou Viscusi, manager of world's featherweight champion Willie Pep, said today he was considering an offer to have Pep meet Humberto Sierra of Havana in a title fight in Miami, Fla., the first week in February 9.

Viscusi said the offer, the only one he has currently under consideration for the champion, came from Promoter Joe Freeman and would give Willie $30,000 with an option of 40 per cent of the gate.

The compass plant that grows in the prairies of the Mississippi basin, has its leaves standing nearly upright, with the broad side facing east and west and its edges facing north and south.

The Sportlight by GRANTLAND RICE

Old Pete Has His Say

A few days ago we offered an indictment of modern pitching — of such strong-arm throwers as Ralph Branca, Rex Barney, Bill Bevens and others who had unlimited stuff, with no idea of where it was going.

Along this line, we've just received a letter from our all-time favorite pitcher—Grover Cleveland (Old Pete) Alexander, who isn't far from being the greatest all-around pitcher that ever threw a ball. And this includes Cy Young, Walter Johnson and Christy Mathewson. Also Carl Hubbell and Lefty Grove.

Here is Alexander's letter:

"Dear Grant, I just finished reading your article on what is wrong with present day pitchers, and thought I would drop a few lines. No, I am not looking or needing for anything. I am just trying to figure why they have never taken some old-timers on during spring training to work with these young throwers, as you aptly termed them. They teach hitting, and about everything else but not pitching.

"When I first came to Philly, Pat Moran was the coach, and about the first thing he said to me was this: 'Kid, you have a good arm, but a hell of a lot to learn.' He took me in hand and he sure did teach me. Pat was smart. Of course, it took work. Hard work.

"I have never been able to find out just what I did that put me on baseball's blacklist. I tried several times to get back, and even wrote Mr. Chandler for almost anything to do. I had a nice letter from him, and then another one saying that there was no opening and they did not expect any. I was just out.

"Pitching means control. By control I don't mean the plate—I mean one or two inches of the plate. A real pitcher ought to be able to get the ball one or two inches from where he wants it—not one or two feet. But pitchers need instruction, which few ever get. What good is stuff, the greatest stuff ever thrown, that can't cross the plate? This means hard work—hard work and instruction—learning how, maybe the hard way, which is generally the only way.

G. C. Alexander, Wood River, Ill.

Old Pete says he doesn't need a job—but he could use one. And he happened to be so smart a pitcher that he made Johnny Evers and many others want to throw their bats away. "You knew when you faced Alex," Greasy Neale told me the other day, "that you were going to get a ball you couldn't hit. He pitched 16 shutouts in Philly's bandbox park in one year. Let 'em think that one over. Also 96 victories in three successive years with a punk team."

They won't think it over, Greasy, for too few of them ever think — about anything. They just throw.

A Double Duel

The day's big game on Saturday will be a double duel at Dallas, Texas, the zenith city of the Southwest as long as Amon Carter of Ft. Worth isn't listening in or perhaps Eddie Dyer of Houston. The double duel is between unbeaten Texas and unbeaten S.M.U. plus the impending collision between Bobby Layne of Texas and Doak Walker of S.M.U., the two star backs of the Cottonwood Trail.

Layne is one of the finest passers of the year—on a par with Johnny Lujack or anyone else you might name. Walker, a sophomore, is rated as one of the finest all-around backs in Texas history, as far as Matty Bell of S.M.U. is concerned. Walker is just out of military service. "When he got out," Matty Bell says, "I knew I had a football team, no matter who else came along."

So Texas is all agog or all something about this double show—two unbeaten and untied teams with outstanding records — two brilliant backs.

So far as that general section is concerned, Texas overlooks a back on the University of Kansas team by the name of Ray Evans who has been a great back for several years, including service work.

When you are looking around for football stars, one of the best moves you can make is to look up pro scouts. Their job is to locate talent. They keep scouts planted all over the map. They know the fellows who can run, pass, block and tackle. That's why so many of them are looking over Layne, Evans, Swiacki, Lujack, etc.

What they want first is passers and catchers or pass receivers. Football today has largely turned into a passing attack. Luckman, Baugh, Isbell, these and many others, plus such receivers as Hutson and Benton. Every winning team needs a strong line. Also ball carriers. But above all it needs the air route.

Here's an example. Army had a line that outclassed Columbia's. Up to the last few minutes, Army had rushed the ball 302 yards to Columbia's 40 yards, along the ground. But Columbia's passing cracked Army's defense, finally breaking up its line play as Yablonski and Rossides struck for 50 vital yards.

The story here is that Army won't have an outside chance to beat Notre Dame unless Red Blaik can develop an air attack. Notre Dame has just as good a line. Just as good a running attack. And Lujack. Army has no chance to beat Notre Dame along the turf. Army couldn't do it last year with Davis, Blanchard and Tucker. Red Blaik must find some way to strike through the air, as Columbia did with an outclassed team, or take a beating.

Walker, a sophomore, is rated as one of the finest all-around backs in Texas history, as far as Matty Bell of S.M.U. is concerned. Walker is just out of military service. "When he got out," Matty Bell says, "I knew I had a football team, no matter who else came along."

So Texas is all agog or all something about this double show—two unbeaten and untied teams with outstanding records — two brilliant backs.

So far as that general section is concerned, Texas overlooks a back on the University of Kansas team by the name of Ray Evans who has been a great back for several years, including service work.

When you are looking around for football stars, one of the best moves you can make is to look up pro scouts. Their job is to locate talent. They keep scouts planted all over the map. They know the fellows who can run, pass, block and tackle. That's why so many of them are looking over Layne, Evans, Swiacki, Lujack, etc.

What they want first is passers and catchers or pass receivers. Football today has largely turned into a passing attack. Luckman, Baugh, Isbell, these and many others, plus such receivers as Hutson and Benton. Every winning team needs a strong line. Also ball carriers. But above all it needs the air route.

Here's an example. Army had a line that outclassed Columbia's. Up to the last few minutes, Army had rushed the ball 302 yards to Columbia's 40 yards, along the ground. But Columbia's passing cracked Army's defense, finally breaking up its line play as Yablonski and Rossides struck for 50 vital yards.

The story here is that Army won't have an outside chance to beat Notre Dame unless Red Blaik can develop an air attack. Notre Dame has just as good a line. Just as good a running attack. And Lujack. Army has no chance to beat Notre Dame along the turf. Army couldn't do it last year with Davis, Blanchard and Tucker. Red Blaik must find some way to strike through the air, as Columbia did with an outclassed team, or take a beating.

Boy Is Hurt.

David Elbon, 6, first grade student in Parsons graded school, was taken to the hospital Monday morning for injuries suffered while playing at recess. He also has a fracture of two vertebras of the neck.

Fibber And Molly To Appear In MBS Program Tonight

By C. E. BUTTERFIELD

NEW YORK, Oct. 29—Fibber and Molly are to do some MBS broadcasting Thursday night as an extra allotment to their NBC week. The program in which they are to appear is the Family Theater at 10 o'clock. The script has to deal with the solution of a secretary's romance problem, with Fibber and Molly helping out as sort of love advisors.

A couple of networks—the ABC and MBS chains—which specialize in program shifting to a greater extent than the other networks have some more items upcoming in that line. The ABC offering is the transfer of Treasury Agent to 7:30, a half-hour earlier, and movement of the Candid Microphone recorded series from Mondays to 8 o'clock.

What MBS is bringing forth is a shift of the Jan August trio from Saturday eves to 8 and the revival of the Vera Holly House song show, which had Friday nights in its previous series, at 8:15.

A radio week—yes this being observed as national radio week — program for CBS at 6:15 will be the announcement of the junior achievement annual radio award. One of the speakers is to be the network's boss, Frank Stanton.

The First Piano quartet of NBC, now 11:30, will fill its half-hour with listeners requests, or at least so an announcement says. . . Al Jolson is hosting to William Bendix of Life of Riley for the NBC Music Hall at 9. . . June Havoc is to ride "The Subway" for the CBS suspense bone chiller at 8.

RADIO IN REVIEW

By JOHN CROSBY

The Revolt of the Worms

"We, The People" (C.B.S. 9 p. m. E.S.T. Tuesdays), I've always felt, is a misleading title; "The Old Curiosity Shop" would be more appropriate. The odd personalities who appear on that show sometimes produce a fantastic, almos unconscious and, at the same time, deeply human comedy that can't be found anywhere outside Dickens. The program could be a fertile source of material for radio comedy writers, if any of them could be persuaded to stop listening exclusively to the work of other radio comedy writers.

The other night, Dwight Weist, the master of ceremonies, was querying one of those dubious and unlikely scientists they dredge up on that show and the dialogue as nearly as I could get it down, went like this:

"What are you working on?'
"Worms,"
"Worms? What are you doing with them?"
"Making them more attractive to fish."

Worms said this man whose name I didn't catch, had become as torpid as three-toed sloths in recent years. The new generation of worms, possibly presaging a revolt on the part of all nature, wouldn't wriggle. They wouldn't squirm. They just hung on the hook, looking as unappetizing as possible even to fish. The way I figure it, the worms had discovered a new and frighteningly sophisticated variant of protective coloration. If worms failed to attract fish, fishermen would cease impaling them on hooks. Worms, in other words, had caught up with civilized man and out-guessed him.

"How are you doing this, making them more attractive to fish," inquired Mr. Weist, breathless.

"First, I tried dipping them into very dry Martinis. It didn't work. Alcohol is not a stimulant; it's a depressant. It only stimulates extreme introverts and there aren't any extremely introverted worms."

"What did you try after that?"

"Benzedrine," said this man, glowing with an inner radiance like Madame Curie or Don Ameche. "The results were immediate. The worms wriggled. They squirmed in fact, they went berserk. If the fish didn't bite the worms, the worms bit the fish."

"Well, that's fine," said Mr. Weist, relieved. "I suppose fishing is much more fun now?"

"No, it's a bore. I catch my limit in no time," said the scientist morosely. "It's taken all the suspense out of fishing. You just throw in the line and up comes a fish. I've gone back to dipping them into Martinis."

"That's what happens when you fiddle with the balance of nature; the results are always surprising don't quite believe any of this story. As journalism goes, "We, The People" is a little too pat, a little too neat; but as fiction it has a quiet and authentic charm.

I have a rather unusual criticism against the "Ford Theater" which has replaced the N.B.C. Symphony from 5 to 6 p. m. on Sundays. There has been a conspiracy to prevent me from hearing this program. On opening night, I doubt if anyone heard it. That was the day, if you'll think back, on which the Yankees and the Dodgers played the slowest World Series game in history. In New York, according to Mr. Hooper, 91.5 per cent of the radios which were turned on at all were tuned to the ball game that day. The figure probably didn't vary much out of town. Since the game ran until 5:30, it thoroughly wrecked Ford's opening night.

I didn't hear the second performance the following week because some people dropped in and stayed until seven. As for the third performance, I missed that too. Somebody—a spy from Chevrolet probably—set my clocks back one hour. I got hold of the program just in time for the announcer to advise me to tune in again next week. Well, I'll do my best but I'm beginning to doubt that I'll ever hear that program, and I'll tell you just why.

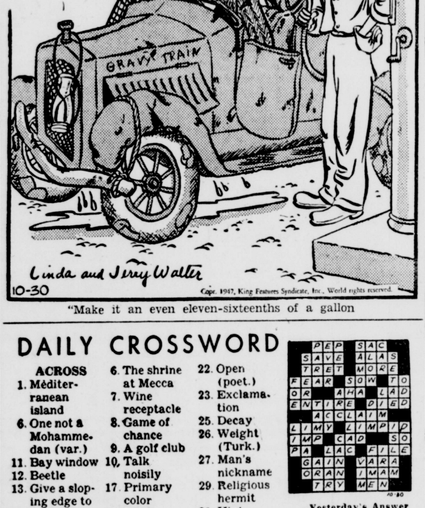

Five o'clock on Sunday afternoon is one of those periods when people get restless. They have finished the comic strips and the cross word puzzle and they are beginning to stir uneasily. Right here, the Ford people probably figured, they go over and turn on the radio, preferably the "Ford Theater." Well, they don't—at least the people I know don't. At just about five minutes to five, your wife says: "Let's go over and see the O'Reilly's." Or else the O'Reilly's come over and see you. Pretty soon you have a drink in your hand, either your own or one of Reilly's, and you are discussing Russia.

In the old days, the NBC Symphony provided a pleasant back ground for the drink and discussion. You could half-listen or, if the conversation veered out of your channels, you could surrender completely to the music. You can listen to five minutes of a symphony program or twenty minutes or an hour; you can enjoy the middle of the program whether or not you've heard the beginning.

You can't do that with a dramatic program, particularly an hour-long dramatic program. You have to listen to the beginning, the middle and the end and you can't half-listen either. Five to six is not the time, at least in my vicinity, for hour-long dramas.

Stock Market Beats Late Retreat In Face Of Buoyant Steel Section

Losses ranged from fractions to more than two points. Total transactions of 1,130,000 shares topped the million mark for the first time this week, and compared with 930,000 Tuesday.

United States Steel, after a climb of more than two points, closed up one at 77 3-8. Bethlehem topped 99 for a new 1947 high but reacted to finish at 98, up two. New tops for the year were reached by Skelly Oil, Deep Rock Oil, Anaconda Wire and Cable and National Supply, although the last-named closed off one-half at 21 1-2. Westinghouse Electric and Deere and Company scored fractional advances.

Principal losers included Chrysler, off 1 7-8 at 62 1-8; Douglas Aircraft, down 2 1-4 at 56; Cerro De Pasco, 2 5-8 at 26; White Motors, 1 1-2 at 25 3-8; Union Union, one at 23; Schenley 1 1-4 at 33 1-2 and U. S. Lines, 1 1-8 at 22 5-8. Others lower were Southern Pacific, New York Central, Jones and Laughlin, Graham-Paige, Oliver Corporation, Goodrich, Goodyear and Anaconda Copper.

Behind in the curb were Cities Service, Creole Petroleum, Kaiser-Frazer and Barium Steel. Climbers included Consolidated Steel, Utah-Idaho Sugar, Root Petroleum and Standard Cap and Seal. Turnover of 310,000 shares here compared with 330,000 yesterday.

Totals volume on the exchange amounted to $4,480,000, of which A. T. and T. issues accounted for a little more than $700,000. This compared with Tuesday's total of $5,180,000.

United States governments steadied in the over-the-counter market with the Victory Loan 2 1-2s of December 1967-72 up 2-32 at 101 23-32 bid.

Fibber And Molly To Appear In MBS Program Tonight

By C. E. BUTTERFIELD

NEW YORK, Oct. 29—Fibber and Molly are to do some MBS broadcasting Thursday night as an extra allotment to their NBC week. The program in which they are to appear is the Family Theater at 10 o'clock. The script is to deal with the solution of a secretary's romance problem, with Fibber and Molly helping out as sort of love advisors.

A couple of networks—the ABC and MBS chains—which specialize in program shifting to a greater extent than the other networks have some radio items upcoming in that line. The ABC offering is the transfer of Treasury Agent to 7:30, a half-hour earlier, and movement of the Candid Microphone recorded series from Mondays to 8 o'clock.

What MBS is bringing forth is a shift of the Jan August trio from Saturday eves to 8 and the revival of the Vera Holly House song show which had Friday nights in its previous series, at 8:15.

A radio week—yes this being observed as national radio week—program for CBS at 6:15 will be the announcement of the junior achievement annual radio award. One of the speakers is to be the network's boss, Frank Stanton.

The First Piano quartet of NBC, now 11:30, will fill its half-hour with listeners requests, or at least so an announcement says. . . . Al Jolson is hosting to William Bendix of Life of Riley for the NBC Music Hall at 9. . . June Havoc is to ride "The Subway" for the CBS suspense bone chiller at 8.

RADIO IN REVIEW

The Revolt of the Worms

"We, The People" (C.B.S. 9 p. m. E.S.T. Tuesdays), I've always felt, is a misleading title; "The Old Curiosity Shop" would be more appropriate. The odd personalities who appear on that show sometimes produce a fantastic, almos unconscious and, at the same time, deeply human comedy that can't be found anywhere outside Dickens. The program could be a fertile source of material for radio comedy writers, if any of them could be persuaded to stop listening exclusively to the work of other radio comedy writers.

The other night, Dwight Weist, the master of ceremonies, was querying one of those dubious and unlikely scientists they dredge up on that show and the dialogue as nearly as I could get it down, went like this:

"What are you working on?'
"Worms,"
"Worms? What are you doing with them?"

Worms said this man whose name I didn't catch, had become as torpid as three-toed sloths in recent years. The new generation of worms, possibly presaging a revolt on the part of all nature, wouldn't wriggle. They wouldn't squirm. They just hung on the hook, looking as unappetizing as possible even to fish. The way I figure it, the worms had discovered a new and frighteningly sophisticated variant of protective coloration. If worms failed to attract fish, fishermen would cease impaling them on hooks. Worms, in other words, had caught up with civilized man and out-guessed him.

"How are you doing this, making them more attractive to fish," inquired Mr. Weist, breathless.

"First, I tried dipping them into very dry Martinis. It didn't work. Alcohol is not a stimulant; it's a depressant. It only stimulates extreme introverts and there aren't any extremely introverted worms."

"What did you try after that?"

"Benzedrine," said this man, glowing with an inner radiance like Madame Curie or Don Ameche. "The results were immediate. The worms wriggled. They squirmed In fact, they went berserk. If the fish didn't bite the worms, the worms bit the fish."

"Well, that's fine," said Mr. Weist, relieved. "I suppose fishing is much more fun now?"

"No, it's a bore. I catch my limit in no time," said the scientist morosely. "It's taken all the suspense out of fishing. You just throw in the line and up comes a fish. I've gone back to dipping them into Martinis."

"That's what happens when you fiddle with the balance of nature; the results are always surprising don't quite believe any of this story. As journalism goes, "We, The People" is a little too pat, a little too neat, but as fiction it has a quiet and authentic charm.

I have a rather unusual criticism against the "Ford Theater" which has replaced the N.B.C. Symphony from 5 to 6 p. m. on Sundays. There has been a conspiracy to prevent me from hearing this program. On opening night, I doubt if anyone heard it. That was the day, if you'll think back, on which the Yankees and the Dodgers played the slowest World Series game in history. In New York, according to Mr. Hooper, 91.5 per cent of the radios which were turned on at all were tuned to the ball game that day. The figure probably didn't vary much out of town. Since the game ran until 5:30, it thoroughly wrecked Ford's opening night.

I didn't hear the second performance the following week because some people dropped in and stayed until seven. As for the third performance, I missed that too. Somebody—a spy from Chevrolet probably—set my clocks back one hour. I got hold of the program just in time for the announcer to advise me to tune in again next week. Well, I'll do my best but I'm beginning to doubt that I'll ever hear that program, and I'll tell you just why.

Five o'clock on Sunday afternoon is one of those periods when people get restless. They have finished the comic strips and the cross word puzzle and they are beginning to stir uneasily. Right here, the Ford people probably figured, they go over and turn on the radio, preferably the "Ford Theater." Well, they don't—at least the people I know don't. At just about five minutes to five, your wife says: "Let's go over and see the O'Reilly's." Or else the O'Reilly's come over and see you. Pretty soon you have a drink in your hand, either your own or one of Reilly's, and you are discussing Russia.

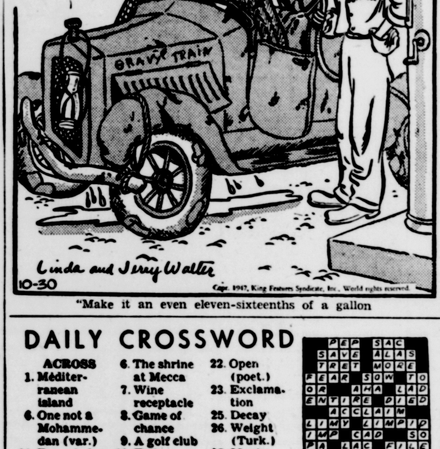

In the old days, the NBC Symphony provided a pleasant back ground for the drink and discussion. You could half-listen or, if the conversation veered out of your channels, you could surrender completely to the music. You can listen to five minutes of a symphony program or twenty minutes or an hour; you can enjoy the middle of the program whether or not you've heard the beginning.

You can't do that with a dramatic program, particularly an hour-long dramatic program. You have to listen to the beginning, the middle and the end and you can't half-listen either. Five to six is not the time, at least in my vicinity, for hour-long dramas.

Stock Market Beats Late Retreat In Face Of Buoyant Steel Section

Losses ranged from fractions to more than two points. Total transactions of 1,130,000 shares topped the million mark for the first time this week, and compared with 930,000 Tuesday.

United States Steel, after a climb of more than two points, closed up one at 77 3-8. Bethlehem topped 99 for a new 1947 high but reacted to finish at 98, up two. New tops for the year were reached by Skelly Oil, Deep Rock Oil, Anaconda Wire and Cable and National Supply, although the last-named closed off one-half at 71 1-2. Westinghouse Electric and Deere and Company scored fractional advances.

Principal losers included Chrysler, off 1 7-8 at 62 1-8; Douglas Aircraft, down 2 1-4 at 56; Cerro De Pasco, 2 5-8 at 26; White Motors, 1 1-2 at 25 3-8; Western Union, one at 23; Schenley 1 1-4 at 33 1-2 and U. S. Lines, 1 1-8 at 22 5-8. Others lower were Southern Pacific, New York Central, Jones and Laughlin, Graham-Paige, Oliver Corporation, Goodrich, Goodyear and Anaconda Copper.

Behind in the curb were Cities Service, Creole Petroleum, Kaiser-Frazer and Barium Steel. Climbers included Consolidated Steel, Utah-Idaho Sugar, Root Petroleum and Standard Cap and Seal. Turnover of 310,000 shares here compared with 330,000 yesterday.

Nearly three-quarters of a million dollars of American Telephone bonds changed hands on the market but prices barely budged from the previous close.

Totals volume on the exchange amounted to $4,480,000, of which A. T. and T. issues accounted for a little more than $700,000. This compared with Tuesday's total of $5,180,000.

United States governments steadied in the over-the-counter market with the Victory Loan 2 1-2s of December 1967-72 up 2-32 at 101 23-32 bid.

Honey creepers probe the corollas of flowers for the minute insects contained therein, possibly also eating the honey. They often hover before them like hummingbirds, which some of them hardly exceed in size and brilliance.

HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 29—(INS)—I love Joe Pasternak's idea for a musical. He's going to call it "The New Look," and he'd like to put Ricardo Montalban and Cyd Charisse in the leads.

Margaret Sullavan

"My idea is to have them do six different dances in six different countries," said Joe. "But of course," he added, "don't say a word about it until I have a chance to tell the studio."

That Pasternak! He's always seeing an idea in newspaper items, in a play, or in a book. "The New Look" came to him when he was reading the newspapers, and he's got a song in mind titled "The New Look."

Now all he has to do is to get M-G-M to think it's as good as he does, and I'll bet that won't be difficult.

The build-up Charlie Chaplin gave Marilyn Nash when he first signed her for "Monsieur Verdoux," sounded like he thought he had Duse under contract.

But after just that one movie—their deal is off!

The contract has been cancelled very politely—oh, very. Charlie says he has no role for Marilyn in his next two pictures and if Marilyn wants her freedom she can have it. Miss Nash, who is Mrs. Philip Yordan in private life, accepts.

Reading between these amenities, apparently she wasn't the wow he thought she was going to be in "Verdoux."

Bill Dozier let me see some scenes of "Letter From An Unknown Woman" and they look very good. Joan Fontaine and Louis Jourdan are so good together. I think Jourdan will be a new star.

He's very much like Charles Boyer was when he made "Algiers"—so good looking that the girls are sure to go for him.

Chatter in Hollywood: I met Margaret Sullavan in Saks, where I was doing some shopping for my trip to New York. On her way home, Margaret had an automobile accident. Fortunately she wasn't hurt, only her knee bruised, but she certainly had a fright.

She was well enough to go to dinner later with Fefe Ferri at Ciro's, but she was not able to dance. Maggie looks like a teen-age youngster—and certainly has solved the secret of keeping herself young.

There's talk about Philip Friend, English actor on the Paramount lot. Friend was brought here originally by David Selznick and after two years, when he hadn't made a picture, he was about to go back to his native land.

Then he was given a job in "My Own True Love," at Paramount and when it was previewed a week or so ago, the raves were loud and long.

I visited the set of "Another Part of the Forest" the day Florence Eldridge and Freddie March started the picture. The set was a grocery store and eggs were advertised for 17 cents a dozen, and potatoes two cents a pound. Those were the good old days!

We watched a scene where March played the mean father and Edmund O'Brien, the bitter son. They are not very pleasant people, these in Lillian Hellman's play. O'Brien fascinated me, he's become so skinny. He's lost 30 pounds.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:—The Guy Madison-Gail Russell romance is really dead. Gail surprised everyone by walking into Slapsy Maxie's with Johnny Meyer, the gent who takes the tabs for all the pretty girls in night clubs.

There the same evening were Lila Leeds and Walter Kane, who seem to be the town's newest twosome. Lila was once Steve Crane's girl friend.

Lew Ayres, who hasn't been in New York for seven years, goes there as soon as he finishes "Johnny Belinda."

Rita Hayworth's father, Eduardo Cansino, who's an expert on gypsy dancing, is coaching Rita for "Carmen." He was Rita's first teacher and she has always felt his teaching helped her a lot.

Donald Buka, who has been playing the lead in the long drawn out "Vendetta" for Howard Hughes, goes to New York to play the second lead with Charles Laughton in "Galileo."

George Raft leaves for Europe in 10 days for that movie he planned so long ago. He's taking Mack Gray with him.

Joe Drown and Martha Kemp Mature, a new twosome at Ciro's.

That's all today.

There the same evening were Lila Leeds and Walter Kane, who seem to be the town's newest twosome. Lila was once Steve Crane's girl friend.

Lew Ayres, who hasn't been in New York for seven years, goes there as soon as he finishes "Johnny Belinda."

Rita Hayworth's father, Eduardo Cansino, who's an expert on gypsy dancing, is coaching Rita for "Carmen." He was Rita's first teacher and she has always felt his teaching helped her a lot.

Donald Buka, who has been playing the lead in the long drawn out "Vendetta" for Howard Hughes, goes to New York to play the second lead with Charles Laughton in "Galileo."

George Raft leaves for Europe in 10 days for that movie he planned so long ago. He's taking Mack Gray with him.

Joe Drown and Martha Kemp Mature, a new twosome at Ciro's.

Relief At Last For Your Cough

Chronic bronchitis may develop if your cough, chest cold, or acute bronchitis is not treated and you cannot afford to take a chance with any medicine less potent than Creomulsion which goes right to the seat of the trouble to help loosen and expel germ laden phlegm and aid nature to soothe and heal raw, tender, inflamed bronchial mucous membranes.

Creomulsion blends beechwood creosote by special process with other time tested medicines for coughs. It contains no narcotics.

No matter how many medicines you have tried, tell your druggist to sell you a bottle of Creomulsion with the understanding you must like the way it quickly allays the cough, permitting rest and sleep, or you are to have your money back. (Adv.)

Never Leave 'til Tomorrow...

● "Never," the old copybook maxim counseled, "leave until tomorrow what you can do today." And in the matter of guarding your health, that advice should go double. For delay may mean disaster. At the first suggestion of illness, consult a Physician. Cooperate with him and be guided by his experience and specialized knowledge.

And, oh yes, remember to bring the Doctor's prescriptions here for careful compounding by our experts!

CARD OF THANKS

The family of the late Ronald W. Grimm wishes to thank their friends and neighbors for their kindness and sympathy during the sickness and following the death of our husband, son, and brother. We also wish to thank the American Legion, the Veterans of Foreigns Wars, and the Guard of Honor.

MRS. FRANCES GRIMM, MR. and MRS. ANDREW GRIMM, BROTHERS and SISTERS.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of my son, Allen Brown Fazenbaker who departed 9 years ago Oct. 30, 1938.

Your memory is as fresh today
As in the hour You passed away.

Sadly missed by mother, MRS. RUTH FAZENBAKER, Westernport.

In loving memory of our dear mother, wife, and daughter, Mrs. Anna J. Cessna, whom God called home four years ago today, Oct. 30, 1943.

Time speeds on; four years have passed;
Since death its gloom, its shadows cast.
Within our home, where all seemed bright,
And took from us a shining light.
We miss that light and ever will;
Her vacant place there is none to fill.
Down here we mourn, but not in vain,
For up in Heaven we will meet again.

Sadly missed by Husband, Children, and Mother.

CARD OF THANKS

The family of the late Ronald W. Grimm wishes to thank their friends and neighbors for their kindness and sympathy during the sickness and following the death of our husband, son, and brother. We also wish to thank the American Legion, the Veterans of Foreigns Wars, and the Guard of Honor.

MRS. FRANCES GRIMM, MR. and MRS. ANDREW GRIMM, BROTHERS and SISTERS.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of my son, Allen Brown Fazenbaker who departed 9 years ago Oct. 30, 1938.

Your memory is as fresh today
As in the hour You passed away.

Sadly missed by mother, MRS. RUTH FAZENBAKER, Westernport.

In loving memory of our dear mother, wife, and daughter, Mrs. Anna J. Cessna, whom God called home four years ago today, Oct. 30, 1943.

Time speeds on; four years have passed;
Since death its gloom, its shadows cast.
Within our home, where all seemed bright,
And took from us a shining light.
We miss that light and ever will;
Her vacant place there is none to fill.
Down here we mourn, but not in vain,
For up in Heaven we will meet again.

Sadly missed by Husband, Children, and Mother.

State Legislature May Act On Bond Bill For Flood Control Project

Depends On Accord Here, Kimble Says

State Sen. Robert B. Kimble (R-Allegany) said last night that at the request of City Attorney Charles Z. Heskett he has agreed to ask the Legislative Council on Monday to tentatively place on the agenda for the special session of the Legislature next week a measure providing for a bond issue for Cumberland's flood control project.

Placing the measure on the agenda is contingent, however, upon the Mayor and Council unanimously requesting a bond issue, that it not be a controversial matter, and that he and the Allegany County delegation can agree upon it, Kimble stated.

He added that he is "honor bound" not to introduce any controversial bills at the special session, called by Gov. Lane for November 5.

Heskett called him yesterday, Kimble said, and informed him of citizens' and various organizations' efforts toward some definite action on the flood control program, and explained that if the city does not act prior to January 1, a federal act of 1937 allowing federal financial assistance of 80 per cent will expire and the flood control project could then be undertaken only a 50-50 basis, the federal government and the city each supplying half of the necessary funds.

Kimble said he will present the facts to the Legislative Council on Monday and ask that the bond issue measure be tentatively placed on the agenda, but he was emphatic that it will not be introduced if it is of a controversial nature.

The Senator said he will not act until the Mayor and Council do so, declaring, "It is their responsibility to act first. It certainly cannot be blamed on the delegation or myself."

Kimble said he is "not in a position to give out figures" on the size of the bond issue because it has not determined yet. He added that it also has not been decided if Cumberland will bear Ridgeley's share of the cost and pointed out that newspaper accounts indicate that Ridgeley will not be able to pay its share for flood protection.

The Mayor and Council of Cumberland will not meet until Monday, Kimble stated, and he added that it is his understanding that the Mayor and Council themselves have not agreed upon the matter.

Meanwhile, a meeting of the Flood Control Committee of the Chamber of Commerce and the Mayor and Council scheduled for Friday afternoon has been changed to Monday, according to Harold W. Smith, secretary of the Chamber.

Arranged to consider ways of handling the proposed Cumberland-Ridgeley flood protection program, the meeting was postponed in order to give the Chamber committee the opportunity to assemble additional data and also to give holders of flood control petitions an opportunity to turn them in.

One of the principal matters to be considered at the meeting is financing the undertaking, and Smith said the committee hopes to be able to present certain suggestions which may make the program more attractive from a local viewpoint.

While only Commissioner William V. Keegan of the official city group has declared himself, it appears that all city leaders realize that flood control will be impossible unless Cumberland pays Ridgeley's share of the cost. This will probably make the total local bill in excess of $2,000,000 less whatever may be recovered by resale of property. Keegan has stated he favors paying the Ridgeley bill.

The city is already empowered to issue $800,000 in bonds for flood work, but this amount will not even

RECEIVES NAVY MEDAL—In one of the first ceremonies of its kind in Cumberland, Lt. (jg) Marcellus H. Barr, USNR, now a flight instructor at the University of West Virginia in Morgantown, received the Distinguished Flying Cross and three gold stars in lieu of the third, fourth and fifth awards of the Air Medal, last night at the regular meeting of the Cumberland Organized Naval Reserve Division at Fort Hill High School. Fey Says Early Chest Drive Work Is "Enthusiastic"

Sections To Give Report Tomorrow

Early reports from campaign leaders in the Community Chest drive, which opened yesterday in Cumberland, indicate excellent response from employes of larger firms, according to John T. Fey, campaign chairman.

While actual returns will not be tabulated until the first report luncheon, scheduled for tomorrow at 12:15 p. m. at Central YMCA, Fey said numerous calls made at campaign headquarters at City Hall indicate workers are "starting out enthusiastically."

The advance gifts section, headed by Adolf Blunk, will hold a luncheon meeting at noon today at the "Y", and that group will make its first report at tomorrow's meeting, along with the classified and women's sections.

Only division and regiment leaders in the advance gifts and classified sections, and captains and division leaders in the women's section, are expected to attend the report luncheon tomorrow, but workers are welcome to attend.

Fey, who will preside, said Leon Hook, chief auditor, has assembled a corps of 20 auditors who will prepare a report on the standing of section divisions and regiments, listing the number of cards brought in, amount of money reported and the percentage of the goal reached.

Approximately 125 audited reports will be mailed out to the various leaders tomorrow afternoon on the basis of returns reported at the luncheon meeting.

The campaign, which will continue until November 6, has a total goal of $75,393.51.

Split Dollar Bill Artist Here Over-Night

Attaches at the county jail including Sheriff Edward Muir and his deputies yesterday saw the first "split" dollar bill, now being passed in the latest "counterfeit ideas".

Sometime ago, newspapers carried stories warning that counterfeiters are splitting dollar bills in half and also splitting bills of larger denomination and by placing the two together and glueing them, create two bills of larger denomination.

Yesterday evening, U. S. Deputy Marshall Samuel E. Hensby, of Tampa, Fla., stopped at the jail en route with a prisoner, to Chilicothe, Ohio, to spend the night.

The prisoner, Julian W. Daly, 22, has been sentenced to a year and a day on a charge of forgery and using Army passes. The officers said he had been selling Army passes which he prepared, and had also been engaged in "splitting" bills, one of which they exhibited.

Centre Street Property Sold To Amusement Firm

A deed was filed in the clerk's office at Allegany County Court House yesterday, transferring a North Centre Street business property to the Enterprise Amusement Company, Inc., from Dr. Frank M. Wilson, his wife, Fannie R. Wilson, Mrs. Nellie Wilson Footer, and Mrs. Jeanne A. Wilson, for a consideration of approximately $14,500, according to attached tax stamps.

James F. Hupp, president of the company, said the property is located at 170 North Centre Street, next door to a property purchased recently by Burkey Brothers.

Hupp, who has been located at 126 North Centre Street, stated that property was rented by his firm, but his lease expired, so he purchased this building as permanent headquarters. He stated he plans to do considerable remodeling, and hopes to occupy it about January 1.

Optimists Hear Verner Outline Foreign Problem

Export Manager Discusses Aid Plan

"It is high time we put a little hard-headed thinking into our Foreign Aid Program," Arthur V. Verner, export division sales manager of the Kelly Springfield Tire Company, told Cumberland Optimists at their dinner meeting in Central YMCA last night.

Verner, speaking on the "International Dollar problem" proposed that this country "(1) Stop giving away grants in aid which we have become so accustomed to during the past decade and a half, except. . . and this is important . . .in exchange for the foreigners' goods and services.

"(2). Establish a forthright foreign policy that has backing of the majority of the people who will be willing to follow through regardless of the bluffs and rebuffs. We have got to show other governments weaker than our own we have a steadfast policy that is fair, equitable, and one we will maintain through the years, without vacillation regardless of political or vested interest in good times and in bad.

"We cannot expect to raise the morale or strengthen our friendships when our weaker associates find no solid anchorage to which they may tie themselves when political strains are thrown against them."

Verner declared that this country should not place itself in the role of a donar of charity, and should not place other countries in the role of recipients of charity. To do so breeds jealousy, distrust and hate, he averred.

Praising the Marshall plan of economical aid to other countries, Verner said it should be followed, but that the United States should insist that it get something more for dollars spent than promises that "they will be good boys."

The Marshall plan must be considered on a basis of sound investment, the speaker declared. Item by item it should be considered. Other nations should evaluate their ability to repay in goods and services, he said.

Verner described and outlined the inflation in China, France and other countries and showed how this differece in dollars and exchange rates of currency affect other nations' ability to export goods. He also expressed the opinion that foreign production is far below the level it should be, and that foreigners must realize they must help themselves if this nation is to continue to help them.

Verner was introduced by Hugh Funkhouser, president of the club, who said after the talk, "this was the best and most timely address this organization has heard for sometime."

Temperature Reading

With the temperature down to 52 degrees last night at 9:30 after hitting a maximum of 64 yesterday afternoon, cooler weather appeared to be in store for today. Yesterday's overnight low was 56. The weatherman expects partly cloudy weather today along with scattered showers. An additional .05 of an inch of rain was added to the total for the month yesterday, boosting that mark to .80 of an inch.

Jaycees To Greet President Of U. S. Group Tonight

J. Ben Shepperd On Fifth Freedom Tour

Visiting Cumberland as a part of the United States Junior Chamber of Commerce "Fifth Freedom Tour", J. Ben Shepperd, of Texas, national Jaycee president and other national officers will be guests of the local Jaycees tonight at a dinner at 7:15 o'clock at the Cumberland Country Club.

All local Jaycees have been urged to invite their "boss" employer, or partner as a guest, to give them an opportunity to meet and hear Shepperd.

Bertram Boone, secretary of state, will be an official guest representing Governor William Preston Lane, who is unable to attend due to a previous engagement. Boone will be presented a 10-gallon Texas hat by Shepperd, as a token of goodwill from Governor Beuford Jester of Texas.

Mayor Thomas S. Post has also been invited together with the board of directors of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce, to be guests of the Jaycees at the dinner and meet Shepperd.

The young visiting Jayoee national president will also speak at the noon-day luncheon of the Cumberland Kiwanis Club in Central YMCA at noon and is to be taken on a tour of local industrial plants and other points of interest this afternoon.

The "Fifth Freedom Tour" is a 10,000 mile tour of 24 states and the District of Columbia to dramatize the "Opportunity of Enterprise."

Jaycee officials and correspondents aboard the chartered executive bus have to date appeared in 28 major cities in 15 states. Before the completion of the tour on November 1, in Washington, D. C., over 76 addresses and 50 radio broadcasts will have been made by Shepperd and Frank G. Fister, executive vice president.

Also included in the party are L. B. Myers, staff writer of Future Magazine; Jack Morris, UP correspondent; and Jack Brown, Life photographer.

Originally billed as the "Fifth Freedom Flight", weather conditions forced the group to abandon their chartered plane, "The Sacred Calf", at Albany, New York, and the remainder of the trip will be in the executive bus.

Shepperd declares: "We believe that in addition to the Four Freedoms we have a Fifth Freedom—the Opportunity of Enterprise—by which America has grown great and through which we can insure her future greatness."

In answer to the question as to what the "Fifth Freedom" embodies, the young president further stated: "We believe this freedom requires the right of an unfettered start in the race of life with no artificial handicaps, the right to work as hard as we like and enjoy the fruits of that work as our own and the right to go as far as we can, developing according to our capacities as individual American men and women."

Cyclist Claims $1,000 From Car Owner-Driver

Suit has been filed in Circuit Court claiming $1,000 damages for injuries suffered when a car struck a bicycle on which a child was riding August 28, on U. S. Route 220 in Cresaptown.

The suit was entered against John C. Miller, owner of the car, and Ronald Cage, driver of the machine, by Phyllis Jean Blubaugh, infant, by her father and next friend Chester A. Blubaugh, through the latter's attorney, Horace P. Whitworth, Jr.

Negligence and carelessness is charged, and it is claimed the child suffered a fractured skull and other injuries.

15 More Tons Added To Paper Collection

Fifteen more tons of wastepaper were collected yesterday as the monthly campaign continued, boosting to a total of 31 tons the amount collected to date.

The collection today will cover all sections between Baltimore Street and Baltimore Avenue and Oldtown Road.

Promotion And Resignation Of Two Kelly Plant Officials Announced

R. O. FRANKUM

R. M. HUDAK

R. M. Hudak, who has been associated with the Kelly plant since 1929, has been appointed superintendent of the production service division of the three Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company plants at Akron, Ohio, and Robert O. Frankum has resigned as chief draftsman of the engineering department, effective November 7, to accept a position with the H. K. Ferguson Engineering Company, Cleveland, Ohio.

Hudak left yesterday to assume his new duties. He held the position of personnel manager at Kelly from 1929 until 1945 when he was appointed superintendent of a new plant at Houston, Tex., but that plant never went into operation.

Since July 1945 Hudak has been working out of the office of the president of Kelly-Springfield.

At Akron he succeeds H. R. Child, who has been named manager of a new Goodyear production plant at at Akron. The new production plant, built by the government during the war and operated by Goodyear, has now been purchased by Goodyear.

PRIZE WINNERS—Little Sally Powers, (front center), depicting "Raggedy Ann" at the Halloween party sponsored by the North End Playground Association last night at the playground, was awarded the prize for the most original costume. Sally's costume was complete, even to the orange yarn hair of the story book heroine. Nancy Frantz and Keith Stitcher, dressed as a tiny bride and bridegroom, were awarded prizes for being the most fancy dressed.

Over 1,000 Children In Costume Attend North End Halloween Event

"B. O. Plenty" Wins Prize But Vanishes

Over 1,000 children in Halloween costumes participated in the parade and party last night sponsored by the North End Playground Association. The parade, which was formed at Riehl Avenue, wound its way through the streets of North Cumberland, past the judges' stand at the corner of Holland Street and Maplewood Lane, to the North End Playground, where the party was held.

Comprised of six sections, the parade was led by the drum and bugle corps of Henry Hart Post No. 1411, Veterans of Foreign Wars, and Frederick Beck, resplendent in caricatured full dress, acted as major domo. Boys and girls participating in the parade depicted every comic strip character and child's book hero imaginable. The "Sad Sack" looked exceptionally sad in droopy olive drab underwear, and "Raggedy Ann" looked as real as if she had stepped from the pages of the story book.

"B. O. Plenty" became something of a mystery. The judges had unanimously decided to award him the prize for the funniest costume, but "B. O." disappeared before the judges announced their decision. Could be he had crept back to "Gravel Gertie" and "Sparkle" to be in time for this morning's comic strip.

Donald Paulman was grand marshal of the parade, assisted by Joseph Richards, Morris Goodman, Louis Dreyer, Charles Metzger, Michael Doyle and Samuel Drubeck. Frederick "Buck" Dreyer brought up the rear with his fescue crew and equipment, and all members of the crew were masked and in costume.

Prizes for the fanciest costumes went to little Nancy Frantz and Keith Stitcher, who appeared as a miniature bridal couple. The prize for the most original attire was awarded Sally Powers, who depicted "Raggedy Ann." Costumes chosen for additional prizes included "B. O. Plenty"; a princess; an ostrich and its keeper; a horse and an old fashioned "union suit."

Prize winning vehicles were a covered wagon; a bicycle built for two, and a scarlet baby buggy. The names of the persons exhibiting these costumes and vehicles were not available last night. The large crowd at the playground made it impossible to seek out the winners in order to secure names.

Robert Herboldsheimer was general chairman of arrangements for the affair and refreshments at the party were provided with donations from the North End residents. Judges were J. Suter Kegg, Mrs. Chester Collins, Harry Matthews and Walter F. Riehl.

The crowd witnessing the parade was much larger than the average crowd along Baltimore Street when a city-wide parade is in progress. In fact, several members of the North End Playground Association said last night the affair was a much bigger project than they had ever dreamed it would be.

However, the question still arises, "What happened to B. O. Plenty"?

War Dead Group Will Plan Ceremonial

A meeting will be held at the City Hall tonight at 8 o'clock by members of the Allegany County War Dead Reburial Committee and other interested individuals, to plan a public ceremony of memorium, as a trubute to returning war dead. Thomas F. Conlon, chairman, said yesterday.

Tentative plans are to hold a public meeting and memorial service at the City Hall Saturday afternoon, Conlon explained, with various fraternal, patriotic, civic and veteran organizations participating.

The meeting tonight is to work out details and decide definitely on the time and program, Conlon said.

Man Hit By Bottle Is Hospitalized

One man was in Miners Hospital with a cut on the forehead and two others were held in Frostburg Jail for trial following a "skirmish" at Bowery Street and American Avenue, Frostburg, about 8 o'clock last night.

Frostburg Officer George Tippen, who, with Officer John Kerr, made the arrests, said Albert Minnick, 26, Johnson's Church, Garrett County, was hit in the head with a wine bottle by Frank Michael, Midland.

Minnick, Michael and Carl Caton, Garrett County, were involved in the fracas and drinking party, Tippen said, along with Mrs. Michael and her infant son.

Michael is charged with assault and battery and drunk and disorderly conduct and Caton with drunk and disorderly conduct. They are held in the Frostburg Jail. A drunk and disorderly conduct charge also has been filed against Minnick, Mrs. Michael and the baby was sent home.

If Minnick is released from the hospital this morning the trio will be given hearings, before Magistrate Alexander Nicol, according to Tippen.

Carpenters-Teamsters Sign Loyalty Pledges

Two more American Federation of Labor locals of this city reported last night that they have taken steps to comply with requirements for certification by the National Labor Relations Board as required by the Taft-Hartley labor law.

All but one member of the executive board of Carpenters Local 1024, AFL, were present last night when the officials of the local signed affidavits asserting they were not Communists.

Officers said the other member would sign as soon as he can be contacted and that all steps required by the law will be complied with in a few days.

C. E. Bramble, president of Local 453, Teamsters and Chauffeurs Union, AFL, said last night at a meeting of the local's executive board, that Local 453 officers were also complying.

Similar action has already been taken by officers of the Retail Clerks and Meat Cutters Union here.

Equity Suits

Two bills of complaint were filed in Circuit Court yesterday as follows: Dorothy I. Crabtree vs Theodore A. Crabtree; and Anna M. Stallings by her mother and next friend Ellen Mock, vs Thomas F. Stallings.

RRIU To Compete With Brotherhoods On U. S. Railroads

National Charter Has Been Recorded

The railroad brotherhoods are due for competition as the dominating bargaining agent on American railroads, according to Elmer E. Davis, international president of the newly organized Railroad Industrial Union, which won a recent election of locomotive engineers and firemen on the Western Maryland Railway.

A new independent organization, the Railroad Industrial Union's charter, which is national in scope, was recorded with the National Railroad Mediation Board in Washington on September 2, said Davis and Harry Jeffries, Cumberland, international representative of the RRIU.

Originated in Cumberland, grand lodge headquarters have been set up here and Davis said the organization expects to organize all crafts and classes on all railroads throughout the United States into an industrial organization that desires representation through national mediation of an industrial union.

Will Furnish Competition

Until the Railroad Industrial Union was created, the Brotherhoods were the dominating power on American railroads, depriving employes of the right to select a bargaining agent of their choice, under the collective bargaining laws, Davis said.

By creating the RRIU, all railroad employes in all crafts and classes will be given a competitive organization on ballots when conducting elections through mediation, Davis explained.

He added that he can recall no other instance in history of railroads that a new organization such the the RRIU was formed, organized 550 engineers and firemen, petitioned the Mediation Board for an election and emerged victorious as bargaining agent in less than 60 days.

The Brotherhoods, Davis explained, are set up under various craft and class organizations while under the RRIU all crafts and classes will be included in one organization.

A report of the results of the Western Maryland election, held from October 6 to 24, was disclosed officially by the National Mediation Board after completion of counting of the ballots at 12:30 p. m. Monday, according to Davis, who, with William C. Lash, vice-president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, were party observers. C. E. Hurley, Mediation Board mediator, also signed the report.

539 Votes Cast

The report showed that out of 550 eligible voters 323 were in favor of the Railroad Industrial Union and 216 for the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen.

Two crafts voted in the election, Davis pointed out, as follows:

Locomotive engineers cast 126 ballots for the Railroad Industrial Union and 119 for the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen. One ballot was void.

Locomotive firemen, hostlers and hostler's helpers case 190 votes for the Railroad Industrial Union and 97 for the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen. One ballot was void.

While Cumberland and Pennsylvania Railroad engineers and firemen were permitted to vote in the election, the seven C. and P. ballots were not counted because of a ruling by the National Mediation Board, Davis stated. These ballots were impounded until this past Monday awaiting the Mediation Board Ruling as to whether they could be counted.

The Board ruled, however, that the ballots could not be counted because the C. and P. is a second class railroad and that all taxes paid to various government agencies were separate and distinct from those of the Western Maryland.

The ballots were left sealed and mailed to the Mediation Board.

C. Of C. Directors Meet This Afternoon

The meeting of the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce, originally scheduled for 7:30 o'clock tonight has been changed to 4 o'clock this afternoon, according to Harold W. Smith, Chamber secretary.

The meeting hour was changed, Smith said, to enable directors to accept the invitation of the Junior Association of Commerce and attend the dinner meeting at which John Ben Shepperd, president of the United States Junior Chamber of Commerce, will be the speaker. The Jaycee meeting is scheduled for 7 p. m. at Cumberland Country Club.

Junior Red Cross Membership Drive To Open In County Schools

Committee Prepares Campaign Supplies

Plans are being made for the opening of the annual Junior Red Cross campaign in county public and parochial schools next month, and supplies will be delivered to all schools Monday, according to Miss Jane Botsford, chairman of Junior Red Cross for Allegany County Chapter, American Red Cross.

A committee under the direction of Mrs. Lewis C. Millholland, Jr., spent yesterday preparing supplies in the Red Cross production room in the Postoffice Building.

The supplies include enrollment certificates, stickers, membership tabs and posters. Other members of the committee are Mrs. Glen Johnson, Mrs. Emory Showman and Mrs. J. Robert Parsons, all of Cumberland.

Gift boxes are also provided to be packed by school children and sent to children in Europe, Miss Botsford said. The boxes will contain crayons, pencils, games, soap and other items.

Sponsor teachers have been named in each county school to supervise the program and to handle enrollment, Miss Botsford said. Last November 295 rooms in elementary schools and 77 rooms in 15 high schools were enrolled.

Older students in the Junior Red Cross program make various articles in school shops for shipment to Army and Navy hospitals and installations, such as lamps, mobile book wagons, menus and other decorative items.

Elementary schools may enroll at 50 cents per room, while enrollment is $1 per room in high schools. Proceeds from enrollment are sent to the national children's fund, which supplies medicine, clothing and other articles for children all over the world.

Additional funds over and above the enrollment money remain in the county for use in buying materials for the Junior Red Cross production program.

State Legislature May Act On Bond Bill For Flood Control Project

Depends On Accord Here, Kimble Says

State Sen. Robert B. Kimble (R-Allegany) said last night that at the request of City Attorney Charles Z. Heskett he has agreed to ask the Legislative Council on Monday to tentatively place on the agenda for the special session of the Legislature next week a measure providing for a bond issue for Cumberland's flood control project.

Placing the measure on the agenda is contingent, however, upon the Mayor and Council unanimously requesting a bond issue, that it not be a controversial matter, and that he and the Allegany County delegation can agree upon it, Kimble stated.

He added that he is "honor bound" not to introduce any controversial bills at the special session, called by Gov. Lane for November 5.

Heskett called him yesterday, Kimble said, and informed him of citizens' and various organizations' efforts toward some definite action on the flood control program, and explained that if the city does not act prior to January 1, a federal act of 1937 allowing federal financial assistance of 80 per cent will expire and the flood control project could then be undertaken only a 50-50 basis, the federal government and the city each supplying half of the necessary funds.

Kimble said he will present the facts to the Legislative Council on Monday and ask that the bond issue measure be tentatively placed on the agenda, but he was emphatic that it will not be introduced if it is of a controversial nature.

The Senator said he will not act until the Mayor and Council do so, declaring, "It is their responsibility to act first. It certainly cannot be blamed on the delegation or myself."

Kimble said he is "not in a position to give out figures" on the size of the bond issue because it has not determined yet. The Mayor and Council of Cumberland will not meet until Monday, Kimble stated, and he added that it is his understanding that the Mayor and Council themselves have not agreed upon the matter.

Meanwhile, a meeting of the Flood Control Committee of the Chamber of Commerce and the Mayor and Council scheduled for Friday afternoon has been changed to Monday, according to Harold W. Smith, secretary of the Chamber.

Arranged to consider ways of handling the proposed Cumberland-Ridgeley flood protection program, the meeting was postponed in order to give the Chamber committee the opportunity to assemble additional data and also to give holders of flood control petitions an opportunity to turn them in.

One of the principal matters to be considered at the meeting is financing the undertaking, and Smith said the committee hopes to be able to present certain suggestions which may make the program more attractive from a local viewpoint.

While only Commissioner William V. Keegan of the official city group has declared himself, it appears that all city leaders realize that flood control will be impossible unless Cumberland pays Ridgeley's share of the cost. This will probably make the total local bill in excess of $2,000,000 less whatever may be recovered by resale of property. Keegan has stated he favors paying the Ridgeley bill.

The city is already empowered to issue $800,000 in bonds for flood work, but this amount will not even

Split Dollar Bill Artist Here Over-Night

Attaches at the county jail including Sheriff Edward Muir and his deputies yesterday saw the first "split" dollar bill, now being passed in the latest "counterfeit ideas".

Sometime ago, newspapers carried stories warning that counterfeiters are splitting dollar bills in half and also splitting bills of larger denomination and by placing the two together and glueing them, create two bills of larger denomination.

Yesterday evening, U. S. Deputy Marshall Samuel E. Hensby, of Tampa, Fla., stopped at the jail en route with a prisoner, to Chilicothe, Ohio, to spend the night.

The prisoner, Julian W. Daly, 22, has been sentenced to a year and a day on a charge of forgery and using Army passes. The officers said he had been selling Army passes which he prepared, and had also been engaged in "splitting" bills, one of which they exhibited.

Fey Says Early Chest Drive Work Is "Enthusiastic"

Sections To Give Report Tomorrow

Early reports from campaign leaders in the Community Chest drive, which opened yesterday in Cumberland, indicate excellent response from employes of larger firms, according to John T. Fey, campaign chairman.

While actual returns will not be tabulated until the first report luncheon, scheduled for tomorrow at 12:15 p. m. at Central YMCA, Fey said numerous calls made at campaign headquarters at City Hall indicate workers are "starting out enthusiastically."

Members of the women's section said that early canvassing of residential areas indicates a better response than in last year's campaign.

The advance gifts section, headed by Adolf Blunk, will hold a luncheon meeting at noon today at the "Y", and that group will make its first report at tomorrow's meeting, along with the classified and women's sections.

Only division and regiment leaders in the advance gifts and classified sections, and captains and division leaders in the women's section, are expected to attend the report luncheon tomorrow, but workers are welcome to attend.

Fey, who will preside, said Leon Hook, chief auditor, has assembled a corps of 20 auditors who will prepare a report on the standing of section divisions and regiments, listing the number of cards brought in, amount of money reported and the percentage of the goal reached.

Approximately 125 audited reports will be mailed out to the various leaders tomorrow afternoon on the basis of returns reported at the luncheon meeting.

The campaign, which will continue until November 6, has a total goal of $75,393.51.

A deed was filed in the clerk's office at Allegany County Court House yesterday, transferring a North Centre Street business property to the Enterprise Amusement Company, Inc., from Dr. Frank M. Wilson, his wife, Fannie R. Wilson, Mrs. Nellie Wilson Footer, and Mrs. Jeanne A. Wilson, for a consideration of approximately $14,500, according to attached tax stamps.

James F. Hupp, president of the company, said the property is located at 170 North Centre Street, next door to a property purchased recently by Burkey Brothers.

Hupp, who has been located at 126 North Centre Street, stated that property was rented by his firm, but his lease expired, so he purchased this building as permanent headquarters. He stated he plans to do considerable remodeling, and hopes to occupy it about January 1.

Optimists Hear Verner Outline Foreign Problem

Export Manager Discusses Aid Plan

"It is high time we put a little hard-headed thinking into our Foreign Aid Program," Arthur V. Verner, export division sales manager of the Kelly Springfield Tire Company, told Cumberland Optimists at their dinner meeting in Central YMCA last night.

Verner, speaking on the "International Dollar problem" proposed that this country "(1) Stop giving away grants in aid which we have become so accustomed to during the past decade and a half, except. . . and this is important . . . in exchange for the foreigners' goods and services.

"(2). Establish a forthright foreign policy that has backing of the majority of the people who will be willing to follow through regardless of the bluffs and rebuffs. We have got to show other governments weaker than our own we have a steadfast policy that is fair, equitable, and one we will maintain through the years, without vacillation regardless of political or vested interest in good times and in bad.

"We cannot expect to raise the morale or strengthen our friendships when our weaker associates find no solid anchorage to which they may tie themselves when political strains are thrown against them."

Verner declared that this country should not place itself in the role of a donar of charity, and should not place other countries in the role of recipients of charity. To do so breeds jealousy, distrust and hate, he averred.

Praising the Marshall plan of economical aid to other countries, Verner said it should be followed, but that the United States should insist that it get something more for dollars spent than promises that "they will be good boys."

The Marshall plan must be considered on a basis of sound investment, the speaker declared. Item by item it should be considered. Other nations should evaluate their ability to repay in goods and services, he said.

Verner described and outlined the inflation in China, France and other countries and showed how this differece in dollars and exchange rates of currency affect other nations' ability to export goods. He also expressed the opinion that foreign production is far below the level it should be, and that foreigners must realize they must help themselves if this nation is to continue to help them.

Verner was introduced by Hugh Funkhouser, president of the club, who said after the talk, "this was the best and most timely address this organization has heard for sometime."

An additional .05 of an inch of rain was added to the total for the month yesterday, boosting that mark to .80 of an inch.

Jaycees To Greet President Of U. S. Group Tonight

J. Ben Shepperd On Fifth Freedom Tour

Visiting Cumberland as a part of the United States Junior Chamber of Commerce "Fifth Freedom Tour", J. Ben Shepperd, of Texas, national Jaycee president and other national officers will be guests of the local Jaycees tonight at a dinner at 7:15 o'clock at the Cumberland Country Club.

All local Jaycees have been urged to invite their "boss" employer, or partner as a guest, to give them an opportunity to meet and hear Shepperd.

Bertram Boone, secretary of state, will be an official guest representing Governor William Preston Lane, who is unable to attend due to a previous engagement. Boone will be presented a 10-gallon Texas hat by Shepperd, as a token of goodwill from Governor Beuford Jester of Texas.

Mayor Thomas S. Post has also been invited together with the board of directors of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce, to be guests of the Jaycees at the dinner and meet Shepperd.

The young visiting Jayoee national president will also speak at the noon-day luncheon of the Cumberland Kiwanis Club in Central YMCA at noon and is to be taken on a tour of local industrial plants and other points of interest this afternoon.

The "Fifth Freedom Tour" is a 10,000 mile tour of 24 states and the District of Columbia to dramatize the "Opportunity of Enterprise."

Jaycee officials and correspondents aboard the chartered executive bus have to date appeared in 28 major cities in 15 states. Before the completion of the tour on November 1, in Washington, D. C., over 76 addresses and 50 radio broadcasts will have been made by Shepperd and Frank G. Fister, executive vice president.

Also included in the party are L. B. Myers, staff writer of Future Magazine; Jack Morris, UP correspondent; and Jack Brown, Life photographer.

Originally billed as the "Fifth Freedom Flight", weather conditions forced the group to abandon their chartered plane, "The Sacred Calf", at Albany, New York, and the remainder of the trip will be in the executive bus.

Shepperd declares: "We believe that in addition to the Four Freedoms we have a Fifth Freedom—the Opportunity of Enterprise—by which America has grown great and through which we can insure her future greatness."

In answer to the question as to what the "Fifth Freedom" embodies, the young president further stated: "We believe this freedom requires the right of an unfettered start in the race of life with no artificial handicaps, the right to work as hard as we like and enjoy the fruits of that work as our own and the right to go as far as we can, developing according to our capacities as individual American men and women."

Promotion And Resignation Of Two Kelly Plant Officials Announced

R. O. FRANKUM

R. M. HUDAK

Promotion of one Kelly-Springfield Tire Company official and the resignation of another were announced yesterday.

R. M. Hudak, who has been associated with the Kelly plant since 1929, has been appointed superintendent of the production service division of the three Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company plants at Akron, Ohio, and Robert O. Frankum has resigned as chief draftsman of the engineering department, effective November 7, to accept a position with the H. K. Ferguson Engineering Company, Cleveland, Ohio.

Since July 1945 Hudak has been working out of the office of the president of Kelly-Springfield.

At Akron he succeeds H. R. Child, who has been named manager of a new Goodyear production plant at at Akron. The new production plant, built by the government during the war and operated by Goodyear, has now been purchased by Goodyear.

PRIZE WINNERS—Little Sally Powers, (front center), depicting "Raggedy Ann" at the Halloween party sponsored by the North End Playground Association last night at the playground, was awarded the prize for the most original costume. Sally's costume was complete, even to the orange yarn hair of the story book heroine. Nancy Frantz and Keith Stitcher, dressed as a tiny bride and bridegroom, were awarded prizes for being the most fancy dressed.

Over 1,000 Children In Costume Attend North End Halloween Event

"B. O. Plenty" Wins Prize But Vanishes

Over 1,000 children in Halloween costumes participated in the parade and party last night sponsored by the North End Playground Association. The parade, which was formed at Riehl Avenue, wound its way through the streets of North Cumberland, past the judges' stand at the corner of Holland Street and Maplewood Lane, to the North End Playground, where the party was held.

Comprised of six sections, the parade was led by the drum and bugle corps of Henry Hart Post No. 1411, Veterans of Foreign Wars, and Frederick Beck, resplendent in caricatured full dress, acted as major domo. Boys and girls participating in the parade depicted every comic strip character and child's book hero imaginable. The "Sad Sack" looked exceptionally sad in droopy olive drab underwear, and "Raggedy Ann" looked as real as if she had stepped from the pages of the story book.

"B. O. Plenty" became something of a mystery. The judges had unanimously decided to award him the prize for the funniest costume, but "B. O." disappeared before the judges announced their decision. Could be he had crept back to "Gravel Gertie" and "Sparkle" to be in time for this morning's comic strip.

Donald Paulman was grand marshal of the parade, assisted by Joseph Richards, Morris Goodman, Louis Dreyer, Charles Metzger, Michael Doyle and Samuel Drubeck. Frederick "Buck" Dreyer brought up the rear with his fescue crew and equipment, and all members of the crew were masked and in costume.

Prizes for the fanciest costumes went to little Nancy Frantz and Keith Stitcher, who appeared as a miniature bridal couple. The prize for the most original attire was awarded Sally Powers, who depicted "Raggedy Ann." Costumes chosen for additional prizes included "B. O. Plenty"; a princess; an ostrich and its keeper; a horse and an old fashioned "union suit."

Prize winning vehicles were a covered wagon; a bicycle built for two, and a scarlet baby buggy. The names of the persons exhibiting these costumes and vehicles were not available last night. The large crowd at the playground made it impossible to seek out the winners in order to secure names.

Robert Herboldsheimer was general chairman of arrangements for the affair and refreshments at the party were provided with donations from the North End residents. Judges were J. Suter Kegg, Mrs. Chester Collins, Harry Matthews and Walter F. Riehl.

The crowd witnessing the parade was much larger than the average crowd along Baltimore Street when a city-wide parade is in progress. In fact, several members of the North End Playground Association said last night the affair was a much bigger project than they had ever dreamed it would be.

However, the question still arises, "What happened to B. O. Plenty"?

War Dead Group Will Plan Ceremonial

A meeting will be held at the City Hall tonight at 8 o'clock by members of the Allegany County War Dead Reburial Committee and other interested individuals, to plan a public ceremony of memorium, as a trubute to returning war dead, Thomas F. Conlon, chairman, said yesterday.

Tentative plans are to hold a public meeting and memorial service at the City Hall Saturday afternoon, Conlon explained, with various fraternal, patriotic, civic and veteran organizations participating.

The meeting tonight is to work out details and decide definitely on the time and program, Conlon said.

Man Hit By Bottle Is Hospitalized

One man was in Miners Hospital with a cut on the forehead and two others were held in Frostburg Jail for trial following a "skirmish" at Bowery Street and American Avenue, Frostburg, about 8 o'clock last night.

Frostburg Officer George Tippen, who, with Officer John Kerr, made the arrests, said Albert Minnick, 26, Johnson's Church, Garrett County, was hit in the head with a wine bottle by Frank Michael, Midland.

Minnick, Michael and Carl Caton, Garrett County, were involved in the fracas and drinking party, Tippen said, along with Mrs. Michael and her infant son.

Michael is charged with assault and battery and drunk and disorderly conduct and Caton with drunk and disorderly conduct. They are held in the Frostburg Jail. A drunk and disorderly conduct charge also has been filed against Minnick, Mrs. Michael and the baby was sent home.

If Minnick is released from the hospital this morning the trio will be given hearings, before Magistrate Alexander Nicol, according to Tippen.

Carpenters-Teamsters Sign Loyalty Pledges

Two more American Federation of Labor locals of this city reported last night that they have taken steps to comply with requirements for certification by the National Labor Relations Board as required by the Taft-Hartley labor law.

All but one member of the executive board of Carpenters Local 1024, AFL, were present last night when the officials of the local signed affidavits asserting they were not Communists.

Officers said the other member would sign as soon as he can be contacted and that all steps required by the law will be complied with in a few days.

C. E. Bramble, president of Local 453, Teamsters and Chauffeurs Union, AFL, said last night at a meeting of the local's executive board, that Local 453 officers were also complying.

Similar action has already been taken by officers of the Retail Clerks and Meat Cutters Union here.

Equity Suits

Two bills of complaint were filed in Circuit Court yesterday as follows: Dorothy I. Crabtree vs Theodore A. Crabtree; and Anna M. Stallings by her mother and next friend Ellen Mock, vs Thomas F. Stallings.

RRIU To Compete With Brotherhoods On U. S. Railroads

National Charter Has Been Recorded

The railroad brotherhoods are due for competition as the dominating bargaining agent on American railroads, according to Elmer E. Davis, international president of the newly organized Railroad Industrial Union, which won a recent election of locomotive engineers and firemen on the Western Maryland Railway.

A new independent organization, the Railroad Industrial Union's charter, which is national in scope, was recorded with the National Railroad Mediation Board in Washington on September 2, said Davis and Harry Jeffries, Cumberland, international representative of the RRIU.

Originated in Cumberland, grand lodge headquarters have been set up here and Davis said the organization expects to organize all crafts and classes on all railroads throughout the United States into an industrial organization that desires representation through national mediation of an industrial union.

Will Furnish Competition

Until the Railroad Industrial Union was created, the Brotherhoods were the dominating power on American railroads, depriving employes of the right to select a bargaining agent of their choice, under the collective bargaining laws, Davis said.

By creating the RRIU, all railroad employes in all crafts and classes will be given a competitive organization on ballots when conducting elections through mediation, Davis explained.

He added that he can recall no other instance in history of railroads that a new organization such the the RRIU was formed, organized 550 engineers and firemen, petitioned the Mediation Board for an election and emerged victorious as bargaining agent in less than 60 days.

The Brotherhoods, Davis explained, are set up under various craft and class organizations while under the RRIU all crafts and classes will be included in one organization.

A report of the results of the Western Maryland election, held from October 6 to 24, was disclosed officially by the National Mediation Board after completion of counting of the ballots at 12:30 p. m. Monday, according to Davis, who, with William C. Lash, vice-president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, were party observers. C. E. Hurley, Mediation Board mediator, also signed the report.

530 Votes Cast

The report showed that out of 550 eligible voters 323 were in favor of the Railroad Industrial Union and 216 for the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen.

Two crafts voted in the election, Davis pointed out, as follows:

Locomotive engineers cast 126 ballots for the Railroad Industrial Union and 119 for the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen. One ballot was void.

Locomotive firemen, hostlers and hostler's helpers case 190 votes for the Railroad Industrial Union and 97 for the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen. One ballot was void.

While Cumberland and Pennsylvania Railroad engineers and firemen were permitted to vote in the election, the seven C. and P. ballots were not counted because of a ruling by the National Mediation Board, Davis stated. These ballots were impounded until this past Monday awaiting the Mediation Board Ruling as to whether they could be counted.

The Board ruled, however, that the ballots could not be counted because the C. and P. is a second class railroad and that all taxes paid to various government agencies were separate and distinct from those of the Western Maryland.

C. Of C. Directors Meet This Afternoon

The meeting of the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce, originally scheduled for 7:30 o'clock tonight has been changed to 4 o'clock this afternoon, according to Harold W. Smith, Chamber secretary.

The meeting hour was changed, Smith said, to enable directors to accept the invitation of the Junior Association of Commerce and attend the dinner meeting at which John Ben Shepperd, president of the United States Junior Chamber of Commerce, will be the speaker. The Jaycee meeting is scheduled for 7 p. m. at Cumberland Country Club.

Junior Red Cross Membership Drive To Open In County Schools

Committee Prepares Campaign Supplies

Plans are being made for the opening of the annual Junior Red Cross campaign in county public and parochial schools next month, and supplies will be delivered to all schools Monday, according to Miss Jane Botsford, chairman of Junior Red Cross for Allegany County Chapter, American Red Cross.

A committee under the direction of Mrs. Lewis C. Millholland, Jr., spent yesterday preparing supplies in the Red Cross production room in the Postoffice Building.

The supplies include enrollment certificates, stickers, membership tabs and posters. Other members of the committee are Mrs. Glen Johnson, Mrs. Emory Showman and Mrs. J. Robert Parsons, all of Cumberland.

Gift boxes are also provided to be packed by school children and sent to children in Europe, Miss Botsford said. The boxes will contain crayons, pencils, games, soap and other items.

Sponsor teachers have been named in each county school to supervise the program and to handle enrollment, Miss Botsford said. Last November 295 rooms in elementary schools and 77 rooms in 15 high schools were enrolled.

Older students in the Junior Red Cross program make various articles in school shops for shipment to Army and Navy hospitals and installations, such as lamps, mobile book wagons, menus and other decorative items.

Elementary schools may enroll at 50 cents per room, while enrollment is $1 per room in high schools. Proceeds from enrollment are sent to the national children's fund, which supplies medicine, clothing and other articles for children all over the world.

Additional funds over and above the enrollment money remain in the county for use in buying materials for the Junior Red Cross production program.
